

From: Media AHRC
To: All Commission
Subject: AHRC Daily Media Report | Wed 5 Jul [SEC=OFFICIAL]
Date: Wednesday, 5 July 2023 9:02:50 AM

View this email online

AHRC Daily Media Report

Wednesday 5 July 2023

 Download Media Items in Plain Text

AHRC Daily Media Report | Wed 5 July 29 items

Good morning colleagues,

s22(1) is on call for enquiries this week, and s22(1) is your news editor.

Nominations for the Commission's annual Human Rights Awards are now open, providing an opportunity to honour and celebrate individuals and organisations striving to defend and protect the human rights of people in Australia. See the media release and visit the new awards webpage.

Commission mentions

- One in every 6 older Australians have experienced elder abuse. Commissioner Patterson featured in an ABC News article ensuing from a conversation she had with the radio program, Life Matters last month.
- Minister for Indigenous Australians, The Hon Linda Burney will address the National Press Club today. An excerpt of her speech was published in the Australian. It states: As my trailblazing sister, June Oscar puts it: "An Indigenous body gives us an opportunity to ... elevate our voices in a country where we occupy a space on the fringe of government policy. A voice gives us the ability to address parliament directly through our connections to our communities and regions."
- Alice Drury from the Human Rights Law Centre spoke with Sky News about disability discrimination, referring to the benefit of a Human Rights Charter. She said that the participation duty put forward by the Commission would place an obligation on government to ensure there is deep and meaningful consultation with people with disability.
- Australia is a global heritage leader, and will host over 1200 delegates from the International Council on Monuments and Sites later this year for the GA2023 event, which will cover the impact of climate emergencies, conflict, COVID-19, lockdowns, closed borders, virtual meetings and the Black Lives Matter movement, along with the role of heritage in these events. Commissioner Oscar is a keynote speaker at the event.
- A Victorian legal service has launched a campaign called Advocacy Against Sexual Harassment (AASH) to promote free legal assistance to those who have experienced sexual harassment at work. Off the back of Commission research findings that women from diverse cultural backgrounds report experiencing sexual harassment at twice the rate of the surveyed population, the campaign has been translated into several foreign languages.

Relevant news stories

- Jobseekers with non-English names face "pervasive hiring discrimination" when it comes to applying for leadership roles, according to a new study by the Monash Business School. Throughout the two-year study, researchers sent more than 12,000 job applications to over 4,000 job ads across Melbourne, Sydney and Brisbane, and found that ethnic minorities receive half as many calls back than applicants with English names for leadership positions despite identical resumes.
- One Nation leader Pauline Hanson will attempt to have Australia's racial discrimination laws restricted in her defence against Greens senator Mehreen Faruqi over an inflammatory tweet. Senator Faruqi brought the case brought to the Federal Court following an unsuccessful attempt at mediation through the Commission's complaint handling service.
- The use of facial recognition technology at major concerts and sporting events, often without attendees knowledge and consent, is an increasingly normal practice, prompting alarm amongst experts.
- On Friday, the Royal Commission into the Robodebt Scheme will submit its final report to the federal government, which is expected to release publicly shortly thereafter. An article in the Conversation analyses what we can expect from the report.
- Sexual violence and harassment experienced by Melbourne concert-goers and live-music industry employees is rife. A new survey of 126 women and non-binary people in the music industry in Melbourne has found groping and harassment is common, with 60% of respondents feeling unsafe in music venues and production studios.
- The Indigenous voice to parliament will be asked to give advice on four main policy areas - health, education, jobs and housing - if a referendum to be held later this year successful, the federal government has revealed. A range of analysis has been included in today's media report.
- Yesterday, the ABC published its "Diversity, Inclusion and Belonging Plan 2023-26" which included an announcement that the broadcaster will hire "cultural guidance advisers" in newly created roles to ensure "culturally informed decisions" are made when producing content and also focus on tackling racism and discrimination.

If you have any questions or would like us to follow up on any issues, please get in touch with media@humanrights.gov.au

Have a lovely day,

s22(1)

Elder abuse reports are rising. Age Discrimination

Commissioner says the government must do more

ABC News by Anna Kelsey-Sugg, Nat Tencic
Wednesday 5 July 2023, 5:00am AEST

With reports of elder abuse on the rise in Australia, these women in their 80s are sharing their stories in the hope that others seek the help they need.

VIEW ONLINE

'The voice will be tasked with taking the long view': Linda Burney

The Australian by Linda Burney
Wednesday 5 July 2023, 12:06am AEST

Much has been made of the proactive representations the voice will make to parliament and the government.

VIEW ONLINE

Sky News Extra Australia

Sky News Extra 21 times a week, 12:00am to 7:59am
Wednesday 5 July 2023, 6:50am AEST

...exactly what a charter of human rights would do, and in particular with the participation duty, which is something that the Australian Human Rights Commission has put forward in the disability rights space of nothing about us without us mantra and.

PLAY NOW

Did you know Australia is a global heritage leader?

ArtsHub by Gina Fairley
Tuesday 4 July 2023, 5:20pm AEST

Delegates to General Assembly of the International Council on Monuments and Sites (ICOMOS) to meet in Sydney at a critical moment for heritage

VIEW ONLINE

Free legal help for victims of sexual harassment at work

Berwick Gazette
Tuesday 4 July 2023, 2:53pm AEST

South-East Monash Legal Service (SMLS) has launched a campaign to promote free legal assistance to those who have experienced sexual [...]

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Berwick Gazette, Pakenham Berwick Gazette

ABC hires 'cultural guidance advisers'

The Australian by Sophie Elsworth

Wednesday 5 July 2023, 12:05am AEST - Page 3

The ABC will hire “cultural guidance advisers” in newly created roles to ensure “culturally informed decisions” are made when producing content and also focus on tackling racism and discrimination. The ABC on Tuesday published its “Diversity, Inclusion and Belonging Plan...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Gendered ageism the blind spot in STEM drive for greater diversity

The Australian by Rachel Nowak

Wednesday 5 July 2023, 12:05am AEST - Page 21

Older women risk being marginalised A 53-year-old engineer I know ignores jokes about age from her teammates. Arcing up would out her as an older worker and she figures that wouldn't be good for her career. For the same reason,...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

What's in a name? Possibly the key to landing your next leadership role

SBS News

Tuesday 4 July 2023, 8:52am AEST

Ethnic minorities receive half as many calls back when applying for jobs than those with English-sounding names, according to the results of a two-year study.

VIEW ONLINE

'Deeply offensive': Mehreen Faruqi hits out at Pauline Hanson's landmark defence

SBS News by Soofia Tariq

Tuesday 4 July 2023, 6:20pm AEST

One Nation leader Pauline Hanson will argue a section of the Racial Discrimination Act is unconstitutional in her legal defence against Mehreen Faruqi — a move the Greens senator says is "deeply offensive".

VIEW ONLINE

Hanson's legal dream team to fight 'racism' case

The Sydney Morning Herald by Paul Sakkal
Wednesday 5 July 2023, 12:03am AEST - Page 12

Two of Australia's top lawyers, senior counsels Bret Walker and Sue Chrysanthou, will argue a law banning racial comments that cause offence is unconstitutional, as they defend One Nation senator Pauline Hanson in a case that shapes as a landmark...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

'The culmination of years of suffering': what can we expect from the robodebt royal commission's final report?

The Conversation by Darren O'Donovan
Wednesday 5 July 2023, 6:08am AEST

Beware those who offer 'cultural' fixes and non-binding reassurances. The government shouldn't fall back on the very institutions that never fully acted until a royal commission.

VIEW ONLINE

It's a bad look: facial recognition rise alarms experts

The Canberra Times by Samantha Lock
Wednesday 5 July 2023, 3:31am AEST

Families turning up for Disney on Ice for a day out at one of Australia's largest entertainment venues...

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION
Australian Community Media [86 Syndications]

Groping and sexual harassment is rife in Melbourne's live music venues, report finds

The Guardian by Adeshola Ore
Wednesday 5 July 2023, 1:00am AEST

Monash university report says 60% of survey participants feel unsafe at gigs or in production studios

VIEW ONLINE

60% of women and non-binary punters and artists feel unsafe in Melbourne's music spaces

The Conversation by Andrea Jean Baker
Tuesday 4 July 2023, 12:59pm AEST

A new survey found sexual violence disempowers female music workers, deters non-binary communities from working in the industry, and discourages punters from going to gigs.

VIEW ONLINE

Voice to be asked for advice on four key policy areas

The Canberra Times by Rudi Maxwell
Wednesday 5 July 2023, 6:43am AEST

The Indigenous voice to parliament will be asked to give advice on four main policy areas if a...

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Australian Community Media [87 Syndications]

Divide and conquer: on the Voice, Dutton's stance may come back to bite him

Crikey by Crikey Readers
Tuesday 4 July 2023, 9:52am AEST

Neville McCloy writes: I can see the headlines in the international media if the Voice to Parliament fails: "Australia rejects reconciliation with its Indigenous people" ("There's nothing surprising about the No campaign's success"). What a racist lot we would...

VIEW ONLINE

'I never thought I would be a victim': How one woman is fighting against cyberbullying

SBS News
Wednesday 5 July 2023, 6:37am AEST

'I never thought I would be a victim': How one woman is fighting against cyberbullying

VIEW ONLINE

Voice is not perfect but it will be better than what we have

The Canberra Times by Letters to the Editor
Wednesday 5 July 2023, 5:30am AEST

Anthony Albanese is asking Australians to make history by voting "Yes" for an Indigenous Voice to Parliament and...

VIEW ONLINE

Christianity and the case for a Voice to Parliament: A rejoinder to Stephen Chavura

ABC News
Tuesday 4 July 2023, 12:44pm AEST

While he raises some important questions, my chief complaint with Stephen Chavura's article is that it is insufficiently theological. I do not doubt the sincerity of his faith, but I do not think he has applied it well enough to...

VIEW ONLINE

Cate Blanchett and Warwick Thornton call Voice referendum an 'extraordinary' moment for Australia

ABC News by Sarah Ferguson
Wednesday 5 July 2023, 6:54am AEST

Hollywood star Cate Blanchett says this year's referendum on constitutional recognition and a Voice to Parliament represents "an incredible opportunity" for Australia to embrace its history.

VIEW ONLINE

Linda Burney reveals first questions she'll ask of Voice to parliament

The West Australian by Ellen Ransley
Wednesday 5 July 2023, 4:26am AWST

Indigenous Affairs Minister Linda Burney has revealed the first thing she will ask for when the Voice to parliament is operational.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Albany Advertiser, Broome Advertiser, Bunbury Herald, Great Southern Herald, Kalgoorlie Miner, Midwest Times, Narrogin Observer, North West Telegraph, PerthNow, Pilbara News, Sound Telegraph, South Western Times, The Geraldton Guardian, The Kimberly Echo, The West Australian

The Voice referendum is too important to fail

The Canberra Times by The Canberra Times
Wednesday 5 July 2023, 5:30am AEST

It is time for the Albanese government to put some flesh on the bone.

VIEW ONLINE

Indigenous Australians Minister outlines key priorities for the proposed Voice to Parliament

ABC News by Isaac Nowroozi
Wednesday 5 July 2023, 3:56am AEST

Indigenous Australians Minister Linda Burney will name four priorities for the proposed Voice to Parliament in a speech to the National Press Club today, after growing pressure to detail how it would benefit First Nations people.

VIEW ONLINE

Voice will help complete unfinished business: Burney

The Canberra Times by Rudi Maxwell
Wednesday 5 July 2023, 3:31am AEST

Linda Burney wants Australians to remember that behind the stark statistics about Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health...

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Australian Community Media [87 Syndications]

Voting yes in voice to parliament referendum an 'act of patriotism', Linda Burney says

The Guardian by Josh Butler
Wednesday 5 July 2023, 1:00am AEST

Minister to tell National Press Club Indigenous people 'more likely to have experienced homelessness than to hold an undergraduate degree'

VIEW ONLINE

Minister reveals key policy goals for Voice

The Age by Lisa Visentin

Wednesday 5 July 2023, 12:08am AEST - Pages 1 and 12

Indigenous Australians Minister Linda Burney says she will give the Voice to parliament the task of coming up with fresh ideas in health, education, jobs and housing from day one, in her strongest comments to date aimed at defining its...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

No campaign is based on lies and twisted arguments

The Sydney Morning Herald

Wednesday 5 July 2023, 12:06am AEST - Page 16

Josh Bornstein's excellent article on the No campaign's adoption of the Trumpist blueprint of lies and twisted arguments ("Yes, we need this affirmative action", July 4) is perfectly encapsulated in his statement "there is not a single non-Indigenous Australian clamouring...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Burney's vision for Voice: Jobs, homes, health and education

The Sydney Morning Herald by Lisa Visentin

Wednesday 5 July 2023, 12:03am AEST - Page 7

Indigenous Australians Minister Linda Burney says she will task the Voice with generating fresh ideas in health, education, jobs and housing from day one, in her strongest comments to date aimed at defining its purpose and agenda. Burney will use...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Peter Dutton's remarks have exposed a rift with big business over the Indigenous voice to parliament | The Australian

The Australian by Paul Kelly

Wednesday 5 July 2023, 12:02am AEST

Liberal leader Peter Dutton's attack on Australian corporates for lacking a "significant backbone" and failing to respect community views, and implying they are guilty of hypocritical behaviour, confirms the entrenched split over values between the Liberals and business.

VIEW ONLINE

Download Plain Text

View copy-friendly version

Content/work(s) within this Media Report are licensed by Copyright Agency. You must not copy this work without permission. You may only copy or communicate this email and the work(s) within with an appropriate license.
Copyright Stroom Pty Ltd, 2023

stroom.com.au 1300 731 370

s22(1)

From: Glyn Davis & Gordon de Brouwer <APSCCommissioner@apsc.gov.au>
Sent: Monday, 10 July 2023 3:31 PM
To: s22(1)
Subject: A message to you from PM&C Secretary Davis and APS Commissioner de Brouwer

You don't often get email from apsccommissioner@apsc.gov.au. Learn why this is important

CAUTION: This email originated from outside of the organisation. Verify the sender before you click links or open attachments. Email purporting to be from staff may be an impersonation attempt.

Having trouble viewing this email? View Online

Message to All APS staff

Professor Glyn Davis AC
Secretary
Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet

Dr Gordon de Brouwer PSM
Australian Public Service Commissioner

Colleagues

We would like to talk with you about the release last Friday of the findings from the Royal Commission into the Robodebt Scheme.

We want you to know the Australian Public Service takes the Royal Commission's findings seriously.

We are committed to working through the findings in an open and constructive way with you—the APS—and with the Australian public.

We know the vast majority of public servants are committed to providing quality advice and dedicated service consistent with the APS values and code of conduct. Australians see the important and meaningful work that you and your agencies do every day, and the professional and diligent way you do it.

Following the release of the report on Friday, a taskforce led by the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet, the Attorney-General's Department, and the Australian Public Service Commission will be established to support Ministers in preparing the Government's response.

Separate to this, the APSC will oversee an independent process to determine if public servants with adverse findings have breached the APS Code of Conduct. This process will be established under the APS Commissioner's powers in the Public Service Act 1999. It is designed to be fair, independent, and consistent.

The APSC has engaged Mr Stephen Sedgwick AO to exercise these powers as an Independent Reviewer. Mr Sedgwick will make inquiries and determinations about whether an individual referred for inquiry has breached the APS Code of Conduct.

We will continue to talk with you about the Government's response and what it means for you. Integrity and stewardship are integral to the work of the APS, our responsibilities serving the community, and the trust the community places in us.

We echo the Prime Minister's thanks for the many public servants who assisted the Commission. We reiterate the continuing importance of an effective working relationship between the APS and the Government.

Thank you for your ongoing commitment to embodying the APS values in every aspect of your work.

We recognise this message and the Royal Commission's findings may have an impact. Support is available. We encourage you to contact your agency's Employee Assistance Program. Alternatively, the following services are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week:

- Beyond Blue Support Service – Provides immediate, short-term counselling, advice and referral services. Phone 1300 224 636, webchat, or search their forum for free.
- Lifeline Crisis Support – This is a confidential service providing you with support for when you feel overwhelmed, for when you have difficulty coping, or are thinking about suicide. Phone 13 11 14 or chat to a crisis supporter online.
- 13YARN – Provides crisis support for First Nations people. Phone 13 92 76 or view their services online at www.13yarn.org.au.

Professor Glyn Davis AC
Secretary
Department of the
Prime Minister and Cabinet

Dr Gordon de Brouwer
Australian Public Service Commissioner

Having trouble viewing this email? View Online

This email was sent by Australian Public Service Commission, B Block, Treasury Building, Parkes Place West, PARKES ACT 2600, GPO Box 3176 CANBERRA ACT 2601 to peter.allcott@humanrights.gov.au

s22(1)

From: Media AHRC
Sent: Monday, 10 July 2023 9:32 AM
To: All Commission
Subject: AHRC Daily Media Report | Mon 10 Jul 2023 [SEC=OFFICIAL]

Subject: AHRC Daily Media Report | Mon 10 Jul 2023 [SEC=OFFICIAL]

You don't often get email from noreply@strem.com.au. Learn why this is important

View this email online

AHRC Daily Media Report | Mon, Jul 10 2023 Monday 10 July 2023

 Download Media Items in Plain Text

Good morning colleagues,

s22(1) is on call for enquiries this week, and s22(1) is your news editor.

Commission Mentions:

- Human Rights Commissioner Lorraine Finlay penned an article in The Mandarin on the Federal Court's decision on the case of Mostafa Azimitabar v Commonwealth of Australia, and the legality of hotels being used as Alternative Places of Detention (APODs) for asylum seekers in Australia. She referred to the Commission's report on the use of hotels as APODs, and the finding that hotels are not suitable to use for lengthy periods of detention.
- Three-quarters of Australia's universities are not perceptibly reporting sexual violence on campus despite their promises to be transparent after the release of the Australian Human Rights Commission's Change the Course report in 2017. An open letter to the federal government calls for intervention to prevent and respond to sexual violence at campuses across the country.

Other News:

- The Voice debate continues across Australia, with campaigns for the 'Yes' and 'No' sides well underway.

- The Robodebt Royal Commission report was handed down by the Commissioner for the Royal Commission into the Robodebt Scheme, Catherine Holmes, on Friday July 7. The report condemned the scheme as “crude and cruel” and “neither fair nor legal” and made referrals to four different unnamed authorities for further investigation.
- NAIDOC Week celebrations continued over the weekend, with thousands attending rallies across the country. Darwin saw one of the largest turnouts in recent years as people marched the streets calling for respect for elders the desire for treaty, while in Melbourne speeches on land justice, child removals, the over-representation of Koorie men, women and children in custody, mental health care and the ongoing impacts of colonisation on First Peoples were delivered in front of Parliament House steps.
- Meta, the parent company of Facebook and Instagram, claim to be “contributing to democracy” and not exacerbating harms around the Indigenous voice referendum, and plans to increase protections on misinformation, abuse and mental health ahead of the national vote, including a new partnership with ReachOut for mental health support to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.

AHRC Daily Media Report | Mon, Jul 10 2023 47 items

Hotel detention may be lawful but it’s not humane

The Mandarin by Lorraine Finlay
Friday 7 July 2023, 12:40pm AEST

Although the federal government can continue using hotels for detention of asylum seekers, there are serious human rights consequences.

VIEW ONLINE

Three quarters of universities aren’t being transparent about sexual violence

WA Today by Nicole Precel
Sunday 9 July 2023, 3:00am AWST

Less than a quarter of Australia’s 39 universities are publishing information online about sexual violence reports and disclosures or disciplinary actions.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Brisbane Times, The Age, The Sydney Morning Herald, WA Today

Unis ‘fail sex assault reporting’

The Age by Nicole Precel

Three-quarters of Australia's universities are not perceptibly reporting sexual violence on campus despite their promises to be transparent, as advocates demand an end to universities self-regulating when it came to sexual harm. Of the 39 universities that promised to be...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

End Rape on Campus, Fair Agenda call for independent body to help prevent university sexual violence

ABC News by Chantelle Al-Khouri
Monday 10 July 2023, 6:53am AEST

End Rape on Campus says fewer than a third of Australia's 39 universities are clearly reporting sexual violence on campus. The university failures are leaving students to fall into a 'black hole'.

VIEW ONLINE

Robodebt royal commission report handed down – as it happened

The Guardian by Stephanie Convery
Friday 7 July 2023, 5:21pm AEST

This blog is now closed.

VIEW ONLINE

Let's be clear. Robodebt was ended by welfare recipients with their suffering | Darren O'Donovan

The Guardian by Darren O'Donovan
Sunday 9 July 2023, 6:00am AEST

After the shameful revelations from the royal commission, we have to change the way we talk about social security

VIEW ONLINE

Politics Now: Peter Dutton 'went straight for politics on Robodebt'

The Australian by Rhiannon Down
Sunday 9 July 2023, 7:28am AEST

Welcome to The Weekend Australian's rolling coverage of news from Canberra and around the country.

VIEW ONLINE

Meta vows to crack down on abuse and misinformation around voice to parliament referendum

The Guardian by Josh Butler

Monday 10 July 2023, 1:00am AEST

Exclusive: Parent company of Facebook, Instagram and Threads says it will ensure content on its platforms is 'contributing to democracy'

VIEW ONLINE

Here is what Facebook, Instagram and Threads are doing to counter Voice hate speech and disinformation

The Canberra Times by Karen Barlow

Monday 10 July 2023, 5:30am AEST

Meta is preparing for the upcoming Voice referendum.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Australian Community Media [31 Syndications]

Personal abuse has no place in debate over the Voice

The Sydney Morning Herald by The Herald's View

Sunday 9 July 2023, 3:30pm AEST

Personal abuse has brazenly stepped out of the shadows to join craven politics, opinion poll judgments and attempts to exploit divisions in the increasingly murky and polarised debate surrounding an Indigenous Voice to parliament.

VIEW ONLINE

Indigenous voice to parliament: Yes or No, there's only one thing that matters

The Australian by Steve Waterson

Saturday 8 July 2023, 12:02am AEST

In Australia we are justifiably proud of the egalitarian society we have built. We pat ourselves on the back that we've left the injustice of class distinctions in the lands we departed from: here, Jack is every bit as good...

VIEW ONLINE

Jack Waterford | Making the Voice a referendum on the Labor government

The Canberra Times by Jack Waterford
Friday 7 July 2023, 1:00pm AEST

Labor's 'yes' advocates have failed to cut through.

VIEW ONLINE

Dutton ramps up calls to reject Indigenous voice vote

WA Today by Rachael Ward
Saturday 8 July 2023, 1:59pm AWST

At the LNP convention in Brisbane, the opposition leader has doubled down on calls for Australians to reject what he says is the most important vote in Australian history.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Brisbane Times, Brisbane Times, The Age, The Age, The Sydney Morning Herald, The Sydney Morning Herald, WA Today, WA Today

Fury over paper's 'racist' cartoon

The NT News by Rebecca Borg
Saturday 8 July 2023, 12:00am ACST - Page 28

A string of MPs have slammed a major supporter of the Voice to Parliament's 'No' campaign for using an "insulting trope" in a controversial newspaper advertisement featuring an Indigenous pro-voice supporter. A full-page ad on page nine of Thursday's Australian...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Akerman: Voice won't fix any of the serious problems

The Daily Telegraph by Piers Akerman
Saturday 8 July 2023, 12:58pm AEST

Indigenous Affairs Minister Linda Burney hasn't ruled out legislating the government's Voice priorities as health, education, jobs and housing.

VIEW ONLINE

Why is it legal to tell lies during the Voice referendum campaign?

The Conversation by Luke Beck

Monday 10 July 2023, 6:05am AEST

Parliament missed an opportunity to ban misinformation and disinformation during the referendum campaign.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

China News, Sydney Sun, The Conversation, The New Daily

Voice will focus on closing gap, not changing Australia Day, says Linda Burney

The Canberra Times by Adrian Rollins

Sunday 9 July 2023, 12:30pm AEST

'We are about changing lives, not changing dates'.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Australian Community Media [78 Syndications]

Crucial changes to help Indigenous can happen now

The Australian

Saturday 8 July 2023, 12:37am AEST

With unerring skill, Anthony Dillon provides a sensible and achievable plan to effectively address the gap in health, education and wellbeing between non-Indigenous Australians and Indigenous Australians (“Yes camp must explain how voice will close the gap”, 7/7). Dillon’s solution...

VIEW ONLINE

Indigenous voice to parliament: Million calls in No-vote survey

The Australian by PAIGE TAYLOR

Friday 7 July 2023, 6:53pm AEST

The campaign against the Indigenous voice to parliament made 1.1 million phone calls to households and mobiles on Thursday night using a recorded message by its most high-profile activist Jacinta Nampijinpa Price.

VIEW ONLINE

We may pay for Voice

Herald Sun by Exclusive Angira Bharadwaj

Monday 10 July 2023, 12:04am AEST - Page 10

Daniel Andrews has not ruled out using taxpayer money to pay for the pitch for a National Indigenous Voice to Parliament - a position that puts Victoria at odds with other major Australian states. Mr Andrews' position contrasts with Labor's...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Yes vote 'hurt by media'

Herald Sun by Sophie Elsworth
Monday 10 July 2023, 12:04am AEST - Page 10

Voice to Parliament architect Thomas Mayo has condemned the media for publishing "negative headlines" on "positive stories" about the upcoming referendum and said such actions had harmed the yes campaign. Speaking at a University of Melbourne and Melbourne Press Club...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Voice priorities 'based on trust' rather than legislation

Australian Financial Review by Michael Read
Sunday 9 July 2023, 2:17pm AEST

Indigenous Australians Minister Linda Burney has signalled the four key priorities for the Voice to parliament she outlined will not be enshrined in legislation

VIEW ONLINE

ABC Wimmera Horsham

Sunday Afternoons with Lisa Pellegrino Once a week, 4:00pm to 6:30pm
9 July 2023, 5:58pm AEST

...to coast, This is David Riley on ABC Radio, June Oscar is a Boonable woman from Fitzroy Crossing in Western Australia's Kimberley region, And she's the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Social Justice Commissioner, I'm Dan Borscher, and I recently...

PLAY NOW
SYNDICATION
ABC [45 Syndications]

Indigenous leaders use NAIDOC for Voice appeal

ABC News by Jane Bardon
Friday 7 July 2023, 6:30pm AEST

Larrakia indigenous community leaders have used NAIDOC celebrations in Darwin to appeal to the Australian public to support the Voice to Parliament in the referendum later this year, but some remain strongly opposed to the plan for a constitutionally enshrined...

VIEW ONLINE

'No pride in genocide': Thousands march in NAIDOC Week rally

WA Today by Jack Latimore

Friday 7 July 2023, 5:04pm AWST

Yorta Yorta woman Sarai Roe said the peaceful march was a great way to showcase the achievements of Indigenous people.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Brisbane Times, The Age, The Sydney Morning Herald, WA Today

Thousands join NAIDOC Week rally

The Age by Jack Latimore Indigenous Affairs Reporter

Saturday 8 July 2023, 12:11am AEST - Page 11

A crowd of about 5000 marched through the streets of Melbourne's CBD yesterday for a NAIDOC Week rally celebrating the culture and history of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples. Rally attendees dressed in red, yellow and black chanted "No...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Thousands take to streets for 2023 NAIDOC parade in Darwin CBD

ABC News by Kyle Dowling

Friday 7 July 2023, 5:56pm AEST

Thousands take to the streets of Darwin CBD for a NAIDOC parade that sees renewed calls for a treaty between First Nations people and the federal government, and calls for a Yes vote for an Indigenous Voice to Parliament.

VIEW ONLINE

NSW teenagers launch Mob Pod during NAIDOC Week to have say on Voice referendum debate

ABC News by Keira Proust

Saturday 8 July 2023, 8:56am AEST

A youth podcast called Mob Pod aims to elevate the voices of young Indigenous people ahead of the Voice referendum.

VIEW ONLINE

Mourning another suspected DV victim

The NT News by Fia Walsh

Saturday 8 July 2023, 12:00am ACST - Page 7

A woman has died after allegedly being stabbed to death by her partner in a remote Northern Territory community 146km southeast of Katherine. Emergency services were called to a Jilkminggan home at 11.20pm on Thursday where they found a 45-year-old...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Halfway through a domestic violence inquest, the NT coroner is unravelling a system in crisis

ABC News by Melissa Mackay

Saturday 8 July 2023, 8:35am AEST

A landmark series of inquests examining the domestic violence deaths of four Aboriginal women at the hands of their partners has reached the halfway point. Here's what we've learned.

VIEW ONLINE

Professor Kyllie Cripps illustrates how systematic racism affects Indigenous women in the justice system

SBS News

Friday 7 July 2023, 2:07pm AEST

Professor Kyllie Cripps illustrates how systematic racism affects Indigenous women in the justice system

VIEW ONLINE

First Nations flags to be displayed at cup in historic move

The Age by Emma Kemp

Saturday 8 July 2023, 12:11am AEST - Page 40

First Nations flags will be flown at World Cup stadiums for the first time in history after FIFA permitted their display at the women's finals in Australia and New Zealand. In a major departure from the world governing body's notoriously...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Female veterans tell of abuse in the force

The Advertiser by Rebecca Whitfield Baker
Sunday 9 July 2023, 12:00am ACST - Page 20

New “deeply disturbing” figures highlighting the incidence of sexual harassment, assault and abuse of women in the Australian military have been released ahead of this month's royal commission in Adelaide. The Defence and Veterans Legal Service, a free national initiative...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Australia Gets New Sex Discrimination Commissioner – Professor Ana Cody

Star Observer by Shibu Thomas
Friday 7 July 2023, 7:26pm AEST

LGBTQI advocacy group welcomed Professor Ana Cody's appointment as the new Sex Discrimination Commissioner at the Australian Human Rights Commission, but renewed calls for a dedicated LGBTQI Commissioner.

VIEW ONLINE

ABOUT RESPECT PWORK

Company Director
Saturday 1 July 2023, 12:00am AEST - Pages 76, 77, and 78

Seven years as Australia's Sex Discrimination Commissioner was eye-opening for Kate Jenkins AO GAICD. The former employment law partner and Victorian Equal Opportunity and Human Rights Commissioner reflects on the evolution of the law and the board's role in driving...

VIEW MAGAZINE ITEM VIEW TEXT

‘Facts are facts’: Don’t fool us with Berejiklian revisionism

The Sydney Morning Herald
Saturday 8 July 2023, 6:00pm AEST

We are all accountable for our own actions, no matter the influences placed upon us, even our highest ranking politicians.

VIEW ONLINE

Delay in ‘hate speech’ case

The Mercury by Judy Augustine
Saturday 8 July 2023, 12:24am AEST - Page 19

A Hobart City councillor facing a complaint that alleges she incited hatred towards transgender women could have her matter go before the Tasmanian Civil and Administrative Tribunal, after conciliation with Tasmania's Anti-Discrimination Commissioner was cancelled. Louise Elliot was supposed to...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Now more than ever, cis female athletes must show solidarity with trans athletes

The Guardian by Johanna Mellis
Friday 7 July 2023, 9:00pm AEST

Anti-trans activists want us to believe that transgender female athletes pose the gravest danger to cis girls' and women's bodies, success and scholarships. They couldn't be more wrong

VIEW ONLINE

Queensland opposition leader calls for child protection overhaul

The Guardian by Benita Kolovos
Sunday 9 July 2023, 2:17pm AEST

David Crisafulli says there is a 'state sanctioned pipeline of youth criminals'

VIEW ONLINE

Remote school attendance scheme 'unethical and harmful'

The Canberra Times by Rudi Maxwell
Sunday 9 July 2023, 9:30am AEST

A program designed to improve attendance in remote schools achieved worse outcomes than elsewhere, was ethically problematic and...

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION
Australian Community Media [86 Syndications]

what kids do behind closed doors

The Mercury by Julie Cross
Sunday 9 July 2023, 12:14am AEST - Page 15

The eSafety Commissioner has revealed what cyberbullies are really saying as the tide of abuse rises. Real texts from cyberbullies have been released to show parents the types of shocking messages children are sending each other. It comes as the...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

SYNDICATION

The Daily Telegraph, The Mercury

Louise Elliot's anti-discrimination case could be escalated to TASCAT

The Daily Telegraph by Judy Augustine

Saturday 8 July 2023, 5:00am AEST

A Hobart City councillor who is facing a complaint which alleges she incited hatred toward transgender women could have her matter go before the Tasmanian Civil and Administrative tribunal, after conciliation with Tasmania's anti-discrimination commissioner was cancelled.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Cairns Post, Geelong Advertiser, Gold Coast Bulletin, Herald Sun, Mercury, NT News, The Advertiser, The Courier Mail, The Daily Telegraph, Townsville Bulletin

Legally blind woman refused 23 Uber rides in six weeks due to guide dog discrimination

ABC News by Matilda Marozzi

Monday 10 July 2023, 6:28am AEST

Victorian woman Kathryn Beaton says repeated, illegal denials of service from drivers refusing to allow her guide dog into their vehicles have left her effectively housebound.

VIEW ONLINE

Cost of living pressures hit four in five older Australians as some explore alternate survival means

ABC News by Daniel Miles

Sunday 9 July 2023, 7:23am AEST

A hearty garden and empty freezer have helped Jane Bari and her husband go from having just $100 to their names to a life free of debt, and something that could help other older Australians out of poverty.

VIEW ONLINE

ABC Great Southern Albany

Breakfast with Ellie Honeybone Once a week, 6:00am to 8:00am
8 July 2023, 6:22am AWST

...moan if you oh, God, Dad, 06:22 ABC going now to it's an important story from the Goldfields, Just last week at the national press Club age disc immination commissioner Kay Patterson said Australia must create a national power of attorney register,

PLAY NOW

Sky News Extra Australia

Sky News Extra 21 times a week, 8:00am to 6:05pm
Sunday 9 July 2023, 11:17am AEST

That kind of widespread gatekeeping in our Australian education systems. There might be the formal, informal denial of access to or discouragement of students with disability attending mainstream schools.

So, that's the biggest concern, I guess, is around the education. But we also believe that human rights protect actions for children and young people with disability are needed in many.

Areas across education, employment, the justice system, out of home care and the national disability insurance scheme. So, it's an issue, presumably the act just simply doesn't cover the scope of what people with disability are facing. Exactly.

PLAY NOW

'Contempt': WeChat warned over failure to front parliament

WA Today by Matthew Knott
Monday 10 July 2023, 3:00am AWST

A parliamentary inquiry is weighing up whether to recommend banning the popular Chinese-owned app because of foreign interference concerns.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Brisbane Times, The Age, The Sydney Morning Herald, WA Today

View copy-friendly version

Content/work(s) within this Media Report are licensed by Copyright Agency. You must not copy this work without permission. You may only copy or communicate this email and the work(s) within with an appropriate license.
Copyright Stroom Pty Ltd, 2023

Stroom
stroom.com.au 1300 731 370

s22(1)

From: Media AHRC
Sent: Tuesday, 11 July 2023 8:41 AM
To: All Commission
Subject: Fwd: AHRC Daily Media Report | Tue 11 Jul 2023 [SEC=OFFICIAL]

View this email online

AHRC Daily Media Report | Tue 11 Jul 2023

Tuesday 11 July 2023

 Download Media Items in Plain Text

Good morning colleagues,

s22(1) is on call for enquiries this week, and s22(1) is your news editor.

Today's news highlights:

- Almost a decade on from a horrific death in custody over unpaid fines, a class action levelled against the WA government over its discriminatory unpaid fines law is starting to move forwards.
- Independent senator Lidia Thorpe is set to quit politics when her seat comes up for election in five years' time, announcing her plan to not recontest for the upper house when her term expires in 2028.
- The Voice campaigns continue, with Indigenous Australians Minister Linda Burney delivering a speech at the University of Tasmania highlighting the practical benefits of the advisory body.
- Separate incidents in different locations in Western Australia have highlighted the difficult introduction of the state's new Aboriginal cultural heritage laws and further complicated the Yes campaign for the voice in the west.
- The residential care system housing Queensland's most vulnerable children will undergo a review as the government responds to reports of abuse and neglect.

- Corporate debt collectors are facing calls to return more than $11m in taxpayers' money they earned by chasing down welfare recipients for debts raised under the unlawful robodebt scheme.

AHRC Daily Media Report | Tue 11 Jul 2023 23 items

Horrific death in custody behind class action lawsuit over 'racist' WA fine law

WA Today by Jesinta Burton

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 2:00am AWST

In a case that made headlines across the nation, a young woman imprisoned for unpaid fines died after enduring inhumane treatment at the hands of police. Her family is now behind a lawsuit over the "discriminatory" law.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Brisbane Times, The Age, The Sydney Morning Herald, WA Today

Reckoning over horrific death in custody case

The Sydney Morning Herald by Jesinta Burton

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 12:09am AEST - Page 13

It was one of the nation's most horrifying cases of death in custody - a young woman imprisoned for unpaid fines dying after enduring inhumane treatment at the hands of police who ignored her repeated cries for help. Coroner Ros...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Heritage laws cast shadow over voice

The Australian by Paul Garvey Jenna Clarke

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 12:07am AEST - Page 5

Separate incidents in different corners of Western Australia have underscored the difficult introduction of the state's new Aboriginal cultural heritage laws and further complicated the Yes campaign for the voice in the west. Premier Roger Cook and Treasurer Rita Saffioti...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

'Ill thought out': WA's Aboriginal heritage laws compared to Voice

The Daily Telegraph

Monday 10 July 2023, 8:50pm AEST

Western Australia's "ill thought out" Aboriginal heritage laws have been compared to the upcoming Indigenous Voice to Parliament, according to IPA Executive Director Scott Hargreaves. "We're seeing the botched rollout of an ill-thought-out law that was devised without any sort..."

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Cairns Post, Geelong Advertiser, Gold Coast Bulletin, Herald Sun, Mercury, NT News, The Advertiser, The Chronicle \(Toowoomba\), The Courier Mail, The Daily Telegraph, Townsville Bulletin

Lidia Thorpe set to quit politics when her term expires

The Canberra Times by Andrew Brown
Monday 10 July 2023, 12:03pm AEST

Independent senator Lidia Thorpe is set to quit politics when her seat comes up for election in five...

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Australian Community Media [87 Syndications]

Indigenous voice to parliament: Linda Burney gives more detail on benefits

The Australian by Paige Taylor
Monday 10 July 2023, 6:02pm AEST

Indigenous Australians Minister Linda Burney has sought to explain how Indigenous communities would use the voice in order to be heard in Canberra, as she further shifts the focus of her public remarks to the practical benefits of the advisory...

VIEW ONLINE

MPs pressed on 'too late, too soft' Yes campaign conceded battle for the Voice to Parliament is far from won

The West Australian by Rebecca Le May and Bethany Hiatt
Monday 10 July 2023, 5:34pm AWST

The Federal Member for Perth has declared the proposed Indigenous Voice to Parliament 'bigger than the GST' for WA, saying he's confident voters will support it — but after a rollercoaster ride.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Broome Advertiser, Harvey-Waroona Reporter, Kalgoorlie Miner, Sound Telegraph, The West Australian

Indigenous leaders call for a 'harsher approach' than what Voice is putting forward

The Daily Telegraph

Monday 10 July 2023, 6:00pm AEST

Headline Advisory Director Andrew Carswell says the ordinary Australian is hearing "two messages", with the Voice to Parliament from Canberra saying one thing, while Indigenous leaders are calling for reparations and a "harsher approach".

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Cairns Post, Geelong Advertiser, Gold Coast Bulletin, Herald Sun, Mercury, NT News, The Advertiser, The Chronicle \(Toowoomba\), The Courier Mail, The Daily Telegraph, Townsville Bulletin

Setka's mob neither here nor there on Voice

The Sydney Morning Herald

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 12:11am AEST - Page 2

If the Yes campaign for this year's Voice referendum is to win the support of working-class Australians, it'll have to do it despite dissent within one of the biggest blue-collar trade unions. The Victorian-Tasmanian construction branch of the CFMEU, led...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Queensland not a lost cause in the Voice campaign, says Pearson

Australian Financial Review by Mark Ludlow And Tom Mc Ilroy

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 12:09am AEST - Page 4

Outspoken Cape York leader Noel Pearson says Queensland is not a "lost cause" in the Voice to parliament referendum despite polls showing most voters in the state oppose constitutional change on the issue. Meanwhile, Indigenous Australians Minister Linda Burney warned...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Elders on Palm Island reveal how they feel about the Indigenous Voice to parliament

The Courier Mail by Natasha Emeck

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 6:00am AEST

Respected elders whose families were forcibly taken to Palm Island, where they lived under tight government controls for years, have revealed how they feel about the Indigenous Voice to parliament.

VIEW ONLINE

Indigenous voice to parliament: ‘Last great chance for our communities’, says Noel Pearson

The Australian by Sarah Elks

Monday 10 July 2023, 6:22pm AEST

Noel Pearson has warned a voice to parliament is the “last great chance” for the nation’s remote Indigenous communities, as Cape York mayors ask how many more people have to die early before Australians do the right thing.

VIEW ONLINE

Michaelia Cash is wrong on Voice to Parliament rights claim, experts say

Crikey by Kate Atkinson

Monday 10 July 2023, 3:17pm AEST

What was claimed The Voice to Parliament will grant paramount rights favouring Indigenous peoples that would breach discrimination laws in normal circumstances. Our verdict False. The Voice would not grant any paramount rights. The representation it would provide for...

VIEW ONLINE

Guardian Essential poll: support drops for Indigenous voice but more Australians still in favour than against

The Guardian by Paul Karp

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 1:00am AEST

Victoria and South Australia are most in favour of constitutional change while Queenslanders and those older than 55 are more likely to oppose

VIEW ONLINE

Emma Garlett: How Michelle Sims is helping to remove barriers for First Nations people to access justice

The West Australian by Emma Garlett

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 2:00am AWST

Meet Michelle Sims, she is on a journey to make sure First Nations people can access legal advice instantly when they need it. Her work aims to remove barriers for First Nations people to access justice.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Seven West Media [19 Syndications]

‘Now we need you’: Cape York Indigenous dance festival reverberates with rich stories and a message of unity

The Guardian by James Norman

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 1:00am AEST

The Laura Quinkan Indigenous Dance festival passes ‘these skills, stories and culture down to the next generation’

VIEW ONLINE

Ombudsman-led inquiry into the Torres and Cape Hospital and Health Service would not satisfy community concerns

The Daily Telegraph by Kristina Puljak

Monday 10 July 2023, 3:00pm AEST

A Queensland Health Ombudsman-led inquiry into the under-fire Torres and Cape Hospital and Health Service would not satisfy community concerns, according to Torres Strait Regional Authority Chairman Napau Pedro Stephen.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Cairns Post, Geelong Advertiser, Gold Coast Bulletin, Herald Sun, Mercury, NT News, The Advertiser, The Chronicle \(Toowoomba\), The Courier Mail, The Daily Telegraph, Townsville Bulletin

Protest calls on Plibersek to save 400-year-old trees

The Canberra Times by Rudi Maxwell

Monday 10 July 2023, 1:49pm AEST

Protesters outside environment and water minister Tanya Plibersek's Sydney office are calling on her to intervene in the...

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Australian Community Media [71 Syndications]

Debt collectors face calls to return $11.6m retrieved under unlawful robodebt scheme

The Guardian by Christopher Knaus
Tuesday 11 July 2023, 1:00am AEST

Figure paid by federal government for private collection services described as 'shameful'

VIEW ONLINE

Queensland to review allegations of the neglect of children in residential care

The Guardian by Australian Associated Press
Monday 10 July 2023, 3:33pm AEST

Child safety minister Craig Crawford says frontline staff, experts and advocates will inform review

VIEW ONLINE

Why WA domestic violence victim cannot legally change surname from abusive ex-partner's

The West Australian by Shannon Hampton
Tuesday 11 July 2023, 2:00am AWST

The reason a domestic violence victim cannot legally change her surname from that of her abusive ex-partner has been revealed.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Seven West Media [19 Syndications]

WA launches Mining Industry Summit to drive cultural change in the industry

Safe to Work by Timothy Bond
Monday 10 July 2023, 9:12am AEST

The Mining Industry Summit: Driving Respect, will bring together leaders from across industries to drive cultural change in the mining sector.

VIEW ONLINE

Australia's football union announces plan to tackle abuse and harassment of players

The Guardian by Suzanne Wrack
Monday 10 July 2023, 1:37pm AEST

On the eve of the Women's World Cup, Professional Footballers Australia has taken steps to 'proactively prevent abuse, bullying and harassment'

VIEW ONLINE

View copy-friendly version

Content/work(s) within this Media Report are licensed by Copyright Agency. You must not copy this work without permission. You may only copy or communicate this email and the work(s) within with an appropriate license.
Copyright Stroom Pty Ltd, 2023

Stroom
stroom.com.au 1300 731 370

s22(1)

From: Media AHRC
Sent: Wednesday, 12 July 2023 9:24 AM
To: All Commission
Subject: Fwd: AHRC Daily Media Report | Wed Jul 12 2023 [SEC=OFFICIAL]

View this email online

AHRC Daily Media Report | Wed Jul 12 2023

Wednesday 12 July 2023

 Download Media Items in Plain Text

Good morning colleagues,

s22(1) is on call for enquiries this week, and s22(1) is your news editor.

Commission Mentions:

- Kay Patterson spoke to the Project on the increasing and concerning rates of elder abuse, highlighting the crucial need for funding for specialist support services.

Other News:

- The Supreme Court has found that the Western Australian government repeatedly broke the law by holding three young detainees for prolonged lockdowns inside the state's only juvenile detention centre.
- Chau Van Kham, an Australian citizen who was born in Vietnam, has been released from a Vietnamese jail and reunited with his family after four years in captivity after being arrested with 'terrorism' charges.
- The Productivity Commission's third annual snapshot of progress against Closing the Gap targets revealed just four out of 17 targets are on track, and while progress has been made on seven targets it will not close the gap within the targeted time frame.
- Meta, the parent company of Facebook and Instagram, says it is concerned new legislation designed to limit the spread of online misinformation could have a negative effect on free speech in Australia.

AHRC Daily Media Report | Wed Jul 12 2023 28 items

Ten Brisbane

The Project 11 times a week, 11:00pm to 12:00am
Monday 10 July 2023, 11:33pm AEST

...a growing number of elderly are being abused by their own children. Now a crucial Victorian Victorian elder abuse support service is losing funding, leaving thousands of our our most vulnerable with nowhere to right now, one in six elders are being...

PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

Southern Cross Austereo [48 Syndications], Ten [14 Syndications], WIN Network/Southern Cross Austereo [4 Syndications], Western Digital Television [2 Syndications]

Youths illegally held in solitary confinement in WA

The Canberra Times by Aaron Bunch

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 6:27pm AEST

Three youths were unlawfully locked in their cells at Western Australia's troubled youth detention centre and an adult...

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Australian Community Media [81 Syndications]

Seven Perth

Seven News 7 times a week, 6:00pm to 7:00pm

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 6:03pm AWST

the aboriginal legal service took up the cause of three banksia hill inmates, two boys and a girl, who had been subject to a long regime of lockdowns. The court heard they had been held in solitary confinement for a total of 167 days.

They need at least an hour every day. lawyers for the government sought to have the judge's findings suppressed until after this week on the grounds of sensitive evidence, and operational security.

PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

Seven (WA)

WA government illegally held three teenage detainees in prolonged lockdowns, court rules

The Guardian by Sarah Collard

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 7:17pm AEST

Lockdowns for total of 167 days for three juveniles were effectively 'solitary confinement', WA supreme court finds

VIEW ONLINE

WIN Hobart

National Nine Early Morning News 4 times a week, 5:00am to 5:30am
Wednesday 12 July 2023, 5:06am AEST

The wa government has been slammed by supreme court judge for unlawfully detaining three children many their cells for too long at the banksia Banksia hill detention centre. The judge found the state repeatedly broke the law by holding the children in...

PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

WIN Network [18 Syndications], Nine [14 Syndications], Southern Cross Austereo [2 Syndications]

Should we be tougher on youth crime?

Herald Sun by Meena Singh

Wednesday 12 July 2023, 12:01am AEST - Page 17

Last week, this newspaper reported data from the Crime Statistics Agency showing an increase in offences against the person committed by 10-to-13-yearolds. As Victoria prepares to raise the age of criminal responsibility to 12 late next year, and to 14...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

'Momentous day': Australian democracy activist freed from Vietnamese jail

WA Today by Matthew Knott

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 12:21pm AWST

A retired baker from south-western Sydney has been released from a Vietnamese jail and reunited with his family after four years in captivity.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Brisbane Times, The Age, The Sydney Morning Herald, WA Today

Who is Chau Van Kham, the Australian activist freed from Vietnam?

SBS News

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 4:32pm AEST

Australian citizen Chau Van Kham has been released from a Vietnamese jail. Who is he and why was arrested?

VIEW ONLINE

Closing the Gap targets trending backwards, with just four on track

The West Australian by Ellen Ransley
Tuesday 11 July 2023, 10:32pm AWST

A damning new report has laid bare just how far Australia is lagging on its target of trying to improve the lives of hundreds of thousands of citizens.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Albany Advertiser, Broome Advertiser, Countryman, Great Southern Herald, Harvey-Waroona Reporter, Kalgoorlie Miner, Midwest Times, Narrogin Observer, PerthNow, Pilbara News, Sound Telegraph, South Western Times, The Geraldton Guardian, The Kimberly Echo, The West Australian

Productivity Commission report: Australia making 'mixed' progress on closing the gap

The Canberra Times by Natalie Vikhrov
Wednesday 12 July 2023, 12:15am AEST

Only four of 19 targets are on track according to the report.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Australian Community Media [29 Syndications]

We're failing to close the gap

The Mercury by Ellen Ransley
Wednesday 12 July 2023, 12:26am AEST - Page 6

The gap between Indigenous and non-Indigenous Australians is failing to close, with the country tracking backwards in four key areas, a scathing new report has revealed. The Productivity Commission's third annual snapshot of progress against Closing the Gap targets reveal...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Closing the Gap: just four targets on track with four going backwards in latest report

The Guardian by Josh Butler
Wednesday 12 July 2023, 1:00am AEST

A voice to parliament is needed to help fix the problems, Indigenous Australians minister Linda Burney says

VIEW ONLINE

Community leader Henry Lockyer appointed Aboriginal justice adviser by the Department of Justice

The West Australian by Xander Sapsworth-Collis
Tuesday 11 July 2023, 1:49pm AWST

One of Port Hedland's most engaged community leaders has been appointed new Aboriginal justice adviser by the Department of Justice.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Broome Advertiser, North West Telegraph, The West Australian

Sky News to launch Voice channel

The Sydney Morning Herald by Calum Jaspan
Wednesday 12 July 2023, 12:04am AEST - Page 23

News Corp-owned Sky News Australia is launching a news channel dedicated to the Voice referendum, with chief executive Paul Whittaker pledging to air "every perspective of the debate". Sky News The Voice Debate will launch on July 25, and Sky...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

SYNDICATION

The Age, The Sydney Morning Herald

Sky News Australia to launch new channel dedicated to covering Indigenous voice

The Guardian by Amanda Meade
Tuesday 11 July 2023, 11:08am AEST

Murdoch-owned rolling news channel will show news, analysis, commentary and documentary programming about the impending referendum

VIEW ONLINE

FiveAA Adelaide Adelaide

Mornings with Matthew Pantelis 5 times a week, 9:00am to 12:00pm
11 July 2023, 9:40am ACST

...great Australians moving forward, Professor, You've put the submission for the AMA to the Australian Human Rights Commission, What now? What is the next step? We think a lot of these issues revolve around state and territory governments raising the age,...

PLAY NOW

Furious parents slam ‘political’ puffer jacket

The Daily Telegraph by Jasmine Kazlauskas

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 10:41am AEST

Backlash is mounting over a Melbourne public school’s decision to introduce a puffer jacket featuring the pride and Australian Aboriginal flags.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Herald Sun, Herald Sun, NT News, The Advertiser, The Chronicle \(Toowoomba\), The Courier Mail, The Courier Mail, The Daily Telegraph, The Weekly Times

Why is it so hard for Local Aboriginal Land Councils to develop land when the public needs are huge?

The Conversation by Naama Blatman

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 12:53pm AEST

Local Aboriginal Land Councils are some of the largest private landowners in NSW. Making it easier for them to develop their land will benefit Indigenous communities and the rest of the public.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

The Conversation, Western Sydney University

Burney's speech raises even more questions about voice

The Australian

Wednesday 12 July 2023, 12:04am AEST - Page 10

Indigenous affairs correspondent Paige Taylor has reported comments by Indigenous Australians Minister Linda Burney in a speech she has made in Tasmania concerning the perceived workings of the proposed voice (“Burney gives more detail on benefits”, 11/7). Can someone please...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

We’ve always had a voice — one to Parliament is not the answer

Crikey by Benjamin Abbatangelo

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 8:51am AEST

The grim afflictions plaguing Indigenous communities — whether it be the unacceptable rates of child mortality and removals, suicide, homelessness, incarceration or life expectancy — are the direct consequences of genocide and the unrelenting violence of settler colonialism. There...

VIEW ONLINE

Indigenous community's handling of COVID shows why Voice to Parliament needed, Fiona Stanley says

ABC News by Daryna Zadvirna

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 9:14am AEST

Former Australian of the Year Fiona Stanley declares Aboriginal people had the best response to COVID-19 "in the world", and that it proves an Indigenous Voice to Parliament will improve health outcomes for First Nations people.

VIEW ONLINE

ABC News Australia

ABC News Breakfast 5 times a week, 6:00am to 9:00am

Wednesday 12 July 2023, 6:47am AEST

And, of course, the other one is, and we talk about it all the time, the number of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children in out of home care continues to escalate at a rate that really is a national disgrace.

How practically should these measures be fast tracked to improve the life outcomes for particularly indigenous kids? And to your final point, indigenous babies?

PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

ABC (Adelaide), ABC (Brisbane), ABC (Canberra), ABC (Darwin), ABC (Hobart), ABC (Melbourne), ABC (Perth), ABC (Sydney)

Kate Emery: Space to talk about the Voice to Parliament is needed

The West Australian by Kate Emery

Wednesday 12 July 2023, 2:00am AWST

Comparing the same-sex marriage campaign to the Voice is like comparing Barbie and Oppenheimer: both Hollywood movies out next week but with as many differences as similarities.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Seven West Media [17 Syndications]

Home Affairs unlawfully held 115 people over five years

WA Today by Charlotte Grieve

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 5:30pm AWST

Australian citizens, migrants and refugees were illegally detained as the result of administrative and legal errors, internal documents reveal.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Brisbane Times, The Age, The Sydney Morning Herald, WA Today

Morrison was not alone: robodebt was aided and abetted by the AAT being gutted

Crikey by David Hardaker

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 10:54am AEST

The robodebt royal commission report has shown for the first time how two Coalition government scandals intersected to create an unrelenting attack on the welfare of Australia's most vulnerable. In so doing, it has revealed the true impact of...

VIEW ONLINE

Frank advice and fearless stewardship: the APS post-robodebt

The Mandarin by Anna Macdonald

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 5:46pm AEST

APS needs to rethink frank and fearless advice, genuine co-design, and minimum viable knowledge of technology in the wake of robodebt.

VIEW ONLINE

'Dangerous and Orwellian': Tech giants and lawyers warn on Labor misinformation bill

The Australian by RHIANNON DOWN, SARAH ISON

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 8:39pm AEST

Labor's proposed crackdown on misinformation and disinformation on the internet is "inherently wrong" and a "dangerous piece of legislation" that could chill freedom of speech in Australia, social media giants and senior lawyers warn.

VIEW ONLINE

Trial for ATO whistleblower Richard Boyle delayed until September 2024

The Canberra Times by Sarah Basford Canales
Tuesday 11 July 2023, 11:30am AEST

Mr Boyle's legal team is expected to appeal a ruling against his dismissed whistleblower immunity claim.

VIEW ONLINE

View copy-friendly version

Content/work(s) within this Media Report are licensed by Copyright Agency. You must not copy this work without permission. You may only copy or communicate this email and the work(s) within with an appropriate license.
Copyright Stroom Pty Ltd, 2023

Stroom
stroom.com.au 1300 731 370

s22(1)

From: Media AHRC
Sent: Tuesday, 25 July 2023 8:21 AM
To: All Commission
Subject: AHRC Daily Media Report | Tues 25 Jul 2023 [SEC=OFFICIAL]

View this email online

AHRC Daily Media Report | Tues 25 Jul 2023

Tuesday 25 July 2023

 Download Media Items in Plain Text

Good morning colleagues,

s22(1) is on call for media enquiries today. s22(1) is your news editor.

Commission mentions

#

- Age Discrimination Commissioner Kay Patterson has continued her busy media run in her final week. The latest is a wide-ranging chat with ABC NewsRadio, where ageism, elder abuse, and a broader reflection on the Commissioner's seven years in the role, which wraps up Friday, are discussed. Look out for more appearances for the Commissioner in the coming days.

Relevant news stories

• The use of solitary confinement in youth detention continues to be discussed in Western Australia, weeks after WA's supreme court found the state government illegally confined three young people at the Banksia Hill detention centre.

#

- Immigration Minister Andrew Giles has agreed with migrant advocates that the health-related visa rules for applicants with a disability or health conditions were problematic.
- Changes to the Northern Territory's age of criminal responsibility will take effect from August 1, eight months after legislation passed its parliament. Last November, the NT became the first Australian jurisdiction to raise the minimum age above 10-years-old.
- Senior public servant Kathryn Campbell has resigned from the Department of Defence, having come under heavy criticism over her role in the Robodebt scandal.
- Protesters have clashed with police in Perth outside Pauline Hanson's One Nation "vote no to the Voice" event.
- Protests have broken out in Israel after its parliament ratified the first bill of a judicial overhaul sought by Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu. The amendment, that enables Israel's Supreme Court to void some government decisions, was passed unopposed after opposition members abandoned the vote in protest.

AHRC Daily Media Report | Tues 25 Jul 2023 20 items

ABC NewsRadio Australia

NewsRadio Drive 5 times a week, 3:00pm to 6:00pm

24 July 2023, 4:21pm AEST

...laws, particularly to educate people about what their rights are with their power of attorney and what the responsibility of a power of attorney is, Australia's outgoing age discrimination, Mission Commissioner Kay Patterson speaking with Mandy Presland,

PLAY NOW

Kids still held illegally

The West Australian by Jesse Noakes

Tuesday 25 July 2023, 12:00am AWST - Page 5

Youth in Western Australia's Banksia Hill detention centre remained in lockdown after a Supreme Court ruling ordering the State Government to end the practice earlier this month. In a landmark ruling on July 11, the Supreme Court of WA ordered...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

As it happened: Labor touts new plan to help casual workers become permanent; inflation tipped to fall to lowest level since 2021

WA Today by Ashleigh McMillan

Monday 24 July 2023, 4:29pm AWST

Inflation is poised to fall to its lowest level since 2021, and thousands of casuals could choose to become permanent employees under a new Labor IR plan.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Brisbane Times, The Age, The Sydney Morning Herald, WA Today

Australia's migration health rules fail to 'meet community standards', minister says

SBS News by Biwa Kwan, Lucy Murray

Monday 24 July 2023, 10:21am AEST

Advocates have welcomed remarks from Immigration Minister Andrew Giles that the current migration health settings in the visa application process "does not meet community expectations".

VIEW ONLINE

Gary Johns faces calls to resign from no voice campaign over 'offensive' comments

The Guardian by Daniel Hurst
Monday 24 July 2023, 10:03am AEST

Johns, who is listed as a member of Recognise a Better Way's Voice No Case Committee, suggested blood tests for welfare payments

VIEW ONLINE

New age of criminal responsibility in the NT to come into affect on August 1, eight months after legislation passes

ABC News by Evelyn Manfield
Monday 24 July 2023, 5:34pm AEST

Changes to the criminal responsibility age in the Northern Territory will take effect on August 1, eight months after legislation passed the NT's parliament.

VIEW ONLINE

Pauline Hanson Perth: Protestors clash with police as One Nation supporters 'vote no' at Subiaco Football Club

The West Australian by Caleb Runciman
Monday 24 July 2023, 8:37pm AWST

A group of angry protestors have clashed with police outside Pauline Hanson's One Nation 'vote no' event in Perth.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION
Seven West Media [17 Syndications]

Dangers in 'deep fake' battle

The Australian by Sarah Ison
Tuesday 25 July 2023, 12:07am AEST - Page 4

The head of the Albanese government's global expert advisory panel on cyber security, Ciaran Martin, says there is a risk of measures to combat misinformation and disinformation becoming “authoritarian”, but a conversation over how to stamp out fake online content...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Women's safety advocates demand consistent consent laws

The West Australian by Maeve Bannister
Tuesday 25 July 2023, 1:33am AWST

Women's safety champions are calling for changes to existing sexual consent laws and improvements to sex education programs in schools.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Albany Advertiser, Great Southern Herald, Midwest Times, North West Telegraph, PerthNow, The West Australian

Historic Mabo native title case solicitor slams 'unworkable' Aboriginal Cultural Heritage Act

The West Australian by Rebecca Le May
Monday 24 July 2023, 5:27pm AWST

One of the top lawyers who won the historic Mabo case has criticised WA's controversial Aboriginal Cultural Heritage Act, labelling it 'unworkable' in its current form and needing major changes.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Seven West Media [19 Syndications]

Israeli politicians just passed a deeply controversial judicial reform bill. Here's why it could push the country to the brink

ABC News by Rebecca Armitage, Allyson Horn
Tuesday 25 July 2023, 5:02am AEST

Defying threats from protesters and a plea from the United States, Israel's Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has forged ahead with a bill that could push his nation towards a constitutional crisis. Here's how it all unfolded.

VIEW ONLINE

Stan Grant to step down as Q+A host permanently and move onto other ABC roles

The Guardian by Amanda Meade
Monday 24 July 2023, 12:30pm AEST

RN Breakfast host Patricia Karvelas will replace high profile Indigenous journalist, who quit after being the target of racist abuse

VIEW ONLINE

Refugee advocates call for federal government to ease family reunification process

ABC News by Rochelle Kirkham
Monday 24 July 2023, 8:56am AEST

This refugee mother has waited for more than a decade to be reunited with her older children. Learning she'll have to wait a few more years has been devastating.

VIEW ONLINE

Russia denied its soldiers killed civilians in Ukraine. These reporters proved otherwise

SBS News by Rhiona-Jade Armont, Bermet Talant
Tuesday 25 July 2023, 5:56am AEST

The work of two Pulitzer-winning war reporters has offered a rare glimpse into the struggles faced by Ukrainians on the frontline and exposed the brutality of Russian forces.

VIEW ONLINE

Housing stress is hitting majority

The NT News by Courtney Gould
Tuesday 25 July 2023, 12:00am ACST - Page 12

There is growing pressure on state and federal governments to urgently act after a new report revealed a majority of Australians are now experiencing housing stress. A survey of hundreds of people by national housing campaign Everybody's Home shows one...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

SYNDICATION

Cairns Post, Geelong Advertiser, Gold Coast Bulletin, The Chronicle, The Mercury, The NT News, Townsville Bulletin

Michael Joshua Patterson, 19, jailed for fatal Mutitjulu stabbing

The Daily Telegraph by Fia Walsh
Monday 24 July 2023, 1:18pm AEST

The teenage killer of a man remembered for his “beautiful smile, caring nature and funny sense of humour” has been sentenced to eight years and six months in prison.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Cairns Post, Geelong Advertiser, Gold Coast Bulletin, Herald Sun, Mercury, NT News, The Advertiser, The Courier Mail, The Daily Telegraph, Townsville Bulletin

New push for a 'seamless' border that would change trans-Tasman travel forever

SBS News by David Aidone
Monday 24 July 2023, 4:23pm AEST

Australians and New Zealanders wouldn't have to produce their passport at the border under a new proposal to create "seamless" travel between the two countries. Here's what else has been suggested.

VIEW ONLINE

Judyth Watson obituary: How an MP fearlessly helped the vulnerable

The West Australian by Dylan Caporn
Monday 24 July 2023, 12:02pm AWST

A voice for the vulnerable, Judyth Watson never felt at ease speaking in State Parliament.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Albany Advertiser, Broome Advertiser, Bunbury Herald, Kalgoorlie Miner, North West Telegraph, Pilbara News, Sound Telegraph, The West Australian

'I'm really stuck': how visa conditions prevent survivors of modern slavery from getting help

The Conversation by Kyla Raby, Nerida Chazal
Monday 24 July 2023, 2:52pm AEST

Our research found Australia's visa system continues to harm migrants once they've experienced exploitation. Survivors described being left destitute and desperate without access to services.

VIEW ONLINE

The name I once shunned is now reclaimed with pride

The Sydney Morning Herald by Rashell Habib
Tuesday 25 July 2023, 12:04am AEST - Page 19

The night my father, John Habib, was recently diagnosed with aggressive terminal lung cancer, he had a dream. His mother, Shafika Habib - who died when he was young, was making his bed. I haven't been able to stop thinking...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

View copy-friendly version

Content/work(s) within this Media Report are licensed by Copyright Agency. You must not copy this work without permission. You may only copy or communicate this email and the work(s) within with an appropriate license.
Copyright Stroom Pty Ltd, 2023

Stroom
stroom.com.au 1300 731 370

From: Media AHRC
To: All Commission
Subject: AHRC Daily Media Report | Wed Aug 23 [SEC=OFFICIAL]
Date: Wednesday, 23 August 2023 8:44:53 AM

View this email online

AHRC Daily Media Report | Wed Aug 23 Wednesday 23 August 2023

 Download Media Items in Plain Text

Good morning colleagues,

s 22(1) is on call for media enquiries this week, and s 22(1) is your news editor.

Commission Mentions:

- ABC has discussed positive duty in the Sex Discrimination Act and highlighted the Commission's resources as a key guide to understanding and complying.
- Koori Radio has referred to the Commission's Voice Referendum resource kit as a crucial tool to considering the Indigenous Voice to Parliament referendum through a human rights lens.

Relevant News:

- Anthony Albanese will announce the date of the Voice to parliament referendum in the crucial swing state of South Australia at the end of next week. The referendum date is expected to be October 14 and Albanese's launch will mark the start of the formal campaign period of about six weeks.
- Thousands of victims of youth crime in Queensland to march on state Parliament today, planning to present the state government with an action plan to reduce rates of youth crime in QLD.
- It has been revealed Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people are hiding their heritage in rental applications, amid fears their background could be putting them at a disadvantage. It comes as Census data reveals the number of Indigenous Victorians experiencing homelessness has surged past 1000 for the first time in decades.
- Ita Buttrose has revealed she will not seek reappointment as ABC chair, seven months before her current term ends in March.

- Doughnut franchise Krispy Kreme has been forced to apologise and retract a promotional campaign that has been labelled as racist, with social media calling for boycotts on the brand.

If you have any questions or would like us to follow up on any issues, please get in touch with media@humanrights.gov.au.

Have a wonderful day,
s 22(1)

AHRC Daily Media Report | Wed 23 Aug 16 items

ABC Perth Perth

Mornings with Nadia Mitsopoulos 5 times a week, 8:00am to 11:00am
22 August 2023, 9:43am AWST

...harassment in the workplace, And what's basically happened is there's been a twelve month grace period by the Australian Human Rights Commission who are basically the regulator that are responsible for enforcing these obligations, There's been a bit of...

PLAY NOW

ABC Perth Perth

Mornings with Nadia Mitsopoulos 5 times a week, 8:00am to 11:00am
22 August 2023, 9:42am AWST

...and she's happy to take your calls, Just before we go to calls, I know a few texts coming through as well, and thank you, I'm just interested in some enforcement powers of the Australian Human Rights Commission that are coming into force, And this is,

PLAY NOW

Koori Radio Australia

Blackchat 5 times a week, 9:00am to 12:00pm
22 August 2023, 9:48am AEST

...more, There are nine sections within the resource kit which is available to download in full of Understanding the Referendum from a Human Rights Perspective page on the commission's website, So that comes from the Australian Human Rights Commission, So,

PLAY NOW

Voice referendum date to be announced in SA next week

WA Today by James Massola

Tuesday 22 August 2023, 4:15pm AWST

The referendum date is expected to be October 14, as this masthead first revealed in February, and Albanese's launch will mark the start of the formal campaign period of about six weeks.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Brisbane Times, The Age, The Sydney Morning Herald, WA Today

Thousands of victims of youth crime in Queensland to march on state Parliament today

WA Today

Wednesday 23 August 2023, 4:10am AWST

Victims of youth crime in Queensland to present the state government with a plan to combat offenders.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Brisbane Times, The Age, The Sydney Morning Herald, WA Today

Six months on from Toowoomba man Robert Brown's death government quietly publishes promised youth crime data

The Courier Mail by Staff writers

Wednesday 23 August 2023, 6:00am AEST

Six months ago avid photographer Robert Brown was allegedly robbed and attacked in a callous broad daylight assault outside Grand Central Shopping Centre after he had just bought a Valentine's Day card.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

The Chronicle \(Toowoomba\), The Courier Mail

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people are hiding their background from landlords

The Daily Telegraph by Sarah Petty
Tuesday 22 August 2023, 8:00am AEST

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people are hiding their heritage in rental applications amid fears their background could be putting them at the “bottom of the pile”.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Cairns Post, Geelong Advertiser, Gold Coast Bulletin, Herald Sun, Mercury, NT News, The Advertiser, The Chronicle \(Toowoomba\), The Courier Mail, The Daily Telegraph, Townsville Bulletin

Ita Buttrose will not seek reappointment as ABC chair and will finish in the role in 2024

The Daily Telegraph by Sophie Elsworth, Nick Tabakoff
Tuesday 22 August 2023, 12:00pm AEST

Ita Buttrose has revealed she will not seek reappointment as ABC chair when her current term ends in March. News of her upcoming departure comes just four days after she hinted she could stay on in the role.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Cairns Post, Geelong Advertiser, Gold Coast Bulletin, Herald Sun, Mercury, NT News, The Advertiser, The Australian, The Courier Mail, The Daily Telegraph, The Weekly Times, Townsville Bulletin

Krispy Kreme apologises for ‘racist’ gaffe in new marketing campaign

The Daily Telegraph by Jonathon Moran
Tuesday 22 August 2023, 4:02pm AEST

Doughnut franchise Krispy Kreme has been forced to apologise and retract a promotional campaign deemed to have been racist.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Cairns Post, Geelong Advertiser, Gold Coast Bulletin, Herald Sun, Mercury, NT News, The Advertiser, The Chronicle \(Toowoomba\), The Courier Mail, The Daily Telegraph, The Weekly Times, Townsville Bulletin

Facebook owner Meta says harmful content targeting First Nations during Voice referendum getting through

The West Australian by Gerard Cockburn

Tuesday 22 August 2023, 12:51pm AWST

Meta has conceded its filtering tools are not fully capturing harmful content targeted at First Nations people during the Voice referendum.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Albany Advertiser, Broome Advertiser, Bunbury Herald, Countryman, Great Southern Herald, Harvey-Waroona Reporter, Kalgoorlie Miner, Midwest Times, Narrogin Observer, North West Telegraph, Pilbara News, Sound Telegraph, South Western Times, The Geraldton Guardian, The Kimberly Echo, The West Australian

PoliticsNow: Victoria refuses to sign up to new Murray Darling Basin plan

The Australian by Noah Yim

Tuesday 22 August 2023, 3:03pm AEST

Welcome to rolling coverage of news from Canberra and around the nation.

VIEW ONLINE

Thousands may be needlessly paying too much tax on super

The Sydney Morning Herald by John Collett

Wednesday 23 August 2023, 12:06am AEST - Page 1

Hundreds of thousands of older people are paying tax on their super despite there being a perfectly legal way to avoid it, with many who have reached age 65 not aware of a key change they can make to preserve...

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

SYNDICATION

The Age, The Sydney Morning Herald

CPAC conference: Liberal MPs condemn ‘revolting’ commentary about Indigenous people

The Guardian by Josh Butler

Tuesday 22 August 2023, 2:33pm AEST

Exclusive: Bridget Archer says ‘abhorrent’ comments ‘have no place in respectful society’, while Andrew Bragg warns language can be ‘dangerous’

VIEW ONLINE

AFP increases presence and investigations into child abuse in the Northern Territory

The Daily Telegraph by Zayda Dollie
Wednesday 23 August 2023, 5:30am AEST

The Australian Federal Police is boosting its efforts to protect children in the Northern Territory by calling on community volunteers to learn about online child exploitation.

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Cairns Post, Geelong Advertiser, Gold Coast Bulletin, Herald Sun, Mercury, NT News, The Advertiser, The Courier Mail, The Daily Telegraph, Townsville Bulletin

What the marriage equality vote can teach us about the Voice referendum

Crikey by Dennis Altman
Tuesday 22 August 2023, 10:45am AEST

While there has been considerable discussion of the 1967 referendum that allowed the Commonwealth to make laws for Indigenous peoples and include them in the census, far less attention has been given to the more recent postal vote on...

VIEW ONLINE

National Anti-Corruption Commission's real challenge is leadership. Will it learn the lessons of the Robodebt investigation?

ABC News by Linton Besser
Tuesday 22 August 2023, 7:11am AEST

Finally a reality, the National Anti-Corruption Commission must now prove its worth. And that will be a test not of its design, nor of its powers. It will be a test of leadership, writes Linton Besser.

VIEW ONLINE

Download Plain Text

View copy-friendly version

permission. You may only copy or communicate this email and the work(s) within with an appropriate license.
Copyright Stroom Pty Ltd, 2023

Stroom
stroom.com.au 1300 731 370

From: PM&C Secretary and APS Commissioner
To: s 22(1)
Subject: A message to all staff - APS Integrity Taskforce Report
Date: Friday, 17 November 2023 1:18:20 PM

You don't often get email from apscommissioner@apsc.gov.au. Learn why this is important

CAUTION: This email originated from outside of the organisation. Verify the sender before you click links or open attachments. Email purporting to be from staff may be an impersonation attempt.

Having trouble viewing this email? View Online

Message to All APS Staff

Colleagues,

Today the Secretaries Board published the APS Integrity Taskforce report 'Louder than Words: An APS Integrity Action Plan'.

Integrity is deeply important to our work in the public service. It underpins the trust of the Australian public, who rely on us to serve their interests and deliver the best outcomes for Australia.

The Secretaries Board is committed to promoting a pro-integrity culture where all staff feel confident to contribute ideas, provide frank and independent advice and report mistakes. In this spirit, Secretaries Board set up the APS Integrity Taskforce.

The Taskforce was asked to take a 'bird's-eye' view of the APS integrity landscape, to identify gaps and look for opportunities to learn from and build upon the important work already progressing across the service. The work of the Taskforce complements the Integrity pillar of the government's APS Reform agenda and the establishment of the National Anti-Corruption Commission. It is particularly pertinent in the context of the release of the Government's Response to the Robodebt Royal Commission this week.

We encourage all staff to reflect on how integrity shapes our work for the Australian public. The 'Integrity Good Practice Guide' includes a range of practical examples of how you can contribute to a pro-integrity culture.

Work to implement the Taskforce's recommendations is already underway and will ensure we have the right frameworks in place to recruit and to recognise people whose behaviour is consistent with the public service values. A revised SES Performance Leadership Framework gives equal weighting to leadership behaviours as well as outcomes. The APS Academy's Integrity Masterclass is running regularly for SES leaders. There are also measures to focus on ensuring legality across APS practices and government policies, programs and services, reinforcing the importance of good recordkeeping, and enhanced contract management and procurement practices.

Thank you for your ongoing commitment to embodying the APS Values in every aspect of your work.

Professor Glyn Davis AC
Secretary
Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet

Dr Gordon de Brouwer PSM
Australian Public Service Commissioner

Links not working? View Online

This email was sent by Australian Public Service Commission, B Block, Treasury Building, Parkes Place West, PARKES ACT 2600, GPO Box 3176 CANBERRA ACT 2601 to louisa.wong@humanrights.gov.au

Powered by Vision⁶

From: noreply@streem.com.au on behalf of Australian Human Rights Commission via Streem
To: Julie O'Brien
Subject: Commission President Daily Media Report - Sunday 9 July 2023
Date: Sunday, 9 July 2023 8:03:19 AM

View this email online

Commission President Daily Media Report

Sunday 9th July 2023

11 total items

 Download Media Items in PDF

Jump to: President + Chief Executive \(0\) | AHRC \(6\) | Human Rights Statutory \(3\) | Human Rights CPR \(2\)

President + Chief Executive

0 items

No media coverage found within the selected timeframe for this section.

Back to Top

AHRC

6 items

Gender equity and safe workplaces

Australian Nursing and Midwifery Journal by Laura Miller
Sunday 9 July 2023, 7:00am AEST

Loading

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission's (1), AHRC (3), Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Let's be clear. Robodebt was ended by welfare recipients with their suffering | Darren O'Donovan

The Guardian by Darren O'Donovan
Sunday 9 July 2023, 6:00am AEST

After the shameful revelations from the royal commission, we have to change the way we talk about social security

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Three quarters of universities aren't being transparent about sexual violence

The Age by Nicole Precel

Sunday 9 July 2023, 5:00am AEST

Less than a quarter of Australia's 39 universities are publishing information online about sexual violence reports and disclosures or disciplinary actions.

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission's (1)

VIEW ONLINE

<!--[endif]-->SYNDICATION

Brisbane Times, The Age, The Sydney Morning Herald, WA Today

Unis 'fail sex assault reporting'

The Age by Nicole Precel

Sunday 9 July 2023, 12:12am AEST - Page 5

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission's (1)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

ABC Brisbane Brisbane

Saturday Morning with Kate O'Toole Once a week, 10:00am to 12:00pm
8 July 2023, 11:35am AEST

...young indigenous people with mentors to encourage participation in Stem subjects, He was named a human rights hero by the Australian Human Rights Commission has presented at Harvard and Oxford universities as well as working as a zookeeper and an alpaca...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

ABC Alice Springs (Alice Springs), ABC Darwin (Darwin), ABC Sunshine Coast (Maroochydore)

ABC North West Queensland Mount Isa

Queensland Saturday Morning with Kate O'Toole Once a week, 10:00am to 12:00pm
8 July 2023, 11:35am AEST

...indigenous people with mentors to encourage participation in Stem subjects, He was named a human rights hero by the Australian Human Rights Commission, Has presented at Harvard and Oxford universities, as well as working as a zookeeper and an alpaca...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

ABC Capricornia (Rockhampton), ABC Far North Queensland (Cairns),

Human Rights Statutory

3 items

ABC Radio National Australia

God Forbid Once a week, 6:00am to 7:00am
9 July 2023, 6:42am AEST

Weird moment where we're having an important conversation like this about religion and discrimination, which is a good thing, We might not have had this kind of conversation on Radio National 20 years ago even, but at the same time, religious...

and ethnic tensions globally are on the rise, In Australia, we've seen fierce debate in recent years over the proposed introduction of the religious discrimination bill first promised by Scott Morrison, but shelved, after The Labor Party and cross bench...

Keywords: discrimination (1), Australia (1), religious discrimination bill (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Common(wealth) Knowledge #59: Daryl Maguire and the differences between ICAC and court

6 News by Stuart Jeffery
Saturday 8 July 2023, 5:00pm AEST

Much of ICAC's investigation into Daryl Maguire may not be admissible in his criminal trial.

Keywords: Australia (4), legislation (2), discrimination (1), Australia's (2)

VIEW ONLINE

Cherish your Elders and their stories

QLS Proctor
Saturday 8 July 2023, 12:29pm AEST

Every year NAIDOC committee announces a theme behind which we can unite, and link our celebrations. This year, rather appropriately the theme is For Our Elders.

Keywords: Australia (4), discrimination (1), legislation (1)

VIEW ONLINE

To the editor: Electricity prices, light rail costs, nuclear, animal welfare and more

Canberra Weekly by Newstime Media

Sunday 9 July 2023, 5:00am AEST

This week, letter writers discuss electricity prices, light rail costs, animal welfare, respond to Bill Stefaniak and plenty more.

Keywords: Australia (7), freedom of speech (1)

VIEW ONLINE

How an Egyptian boy taught never to criticise government ended up in Canberra holding politicians to account

ABC News by Nabil Al-Nashar

Saturday 8 July 2023, 8:29am AEST

Journalist Nabil Al-Nashar gets excited about things most of his Australian friends take for granted — fair and honest elections, free speech — due to where he came from.

Keywords: Australia (2), prisoners (1), civil liberties (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Back to Top

This scheduled report is owned and managed by s22(1) . If you would like to unsubscribe, please contact them directly.

Content/work(s) within this Media Report are licensed by Copyright Agency. You must not copy this work without permission. You may only copy or communicate this email and the work(s) within with an appropriate license. Copyright Stroom Pty Ltd, 2023

From: Rosalind Croucher
To: Senior Management
Subject: FW: Resources discussed at Secretaries Board de-brief - Tuesday 11 July [SEC=OFFICIAL:Sensitive]
Date: Sunday, 16 July 2023 12:20:44 PM
Attachments: s22(1)
Attachment 5 - Summary of the Robodebt Royal Commission report.DOCX
image001.png

Dear SMG,

The de-brief of Secretaries Board last week was full of information – mainly focused on the Robodebt Royal Commission. The AGD prepared a useful summary of the report and recommendations, which is attachment 5.

I am sharing the full set of information that Katherine provided in following up after the meeting. The SES Performance leadership framework paper is also very interesting.

There's a couple of speeches – Paul Brereton, NACC Commissioner, which mentions Ben (and another one linked in Katherine's message below). It was interesting to note Brereton's reference at the end as to his appointment – fixed term, no renewal, as an aspect of his independence.

There's also a new protocol for acknowledgment of Country in the ACT. I'll give this to Commissioners as well as the Robodebt summary. Darren, perhaps you could get this through to the policy staff please?

Regards

Ros

Emeritus Professor Rosalind Croucher AM FAAL FRSA FACLM(Hon)
President

Australian Human Rights Commission

GPO Box 5218, Sydney NSW 2001

T +61 2 9284 9881 | F +61 2 9284 9611

E rosalind.croucher@humanrights.gov.au | W humanrights.gov.au

Human rights: everyone, everywhere, everyday

We acknowledge the traditional custodians of this land, the Gadigal peoples of the Eora Nation, and pay our respects to their Elders, past, present and future.

From: Jones, Katherine <Katherine.Jones@ag.gov.au>

Sent: Friday, July 14, 2023 2:14 PM

To: [Portfolio Agency Heads] <PortfolioAgencyHeads.DL@ag.gov.au>

Subject: Resources discussed at Secretaries Board de-brief - Tuesday 11 July
[SEC=OFFICIAL:Sensitive]

CAUTION: This email originated from outside of the organisation. Verify the sender before you click links or open attachments. Email purporting to be from staff may be an impersonation attempt.

OFFICIAL: Sensitive

Colleagues

Further to our discussion at Secretaries Board de-brief on Tuesday 11 July, I have attached the following resources:

1. s22(1) [redacted]
2. s22(1) [redacted]
3. s22(1) [redacted]
4. [redacted] s22(1)
5. Robodebt Royal Commission report and recommendations summary (developed by AGD) (attached)

Regards

Katherine

OFFICIAL: Sensitive

If you have received this transmission in error please notify us immediately by return e-mail and delete all copies. If this e-mail or any attachments have been sent to you in error, that error does not constitute waiver of any confidentiality, privilege or copyright in respect of information in the e-mail or attachments.

The Attorney-General's Department has collated this summary of the report of the Royal Commission into the Robodebt Scheme to assist with navigating the report. Any content in this summary should be confirmed with the report.

Summary of the report

Introductory section

The covering letter of transmittal provides that the Commissioner will also submit relevant parts of the additional chapter of the report (the sealed chapter) to heads of various Commonwealth agencies, the Australian Public Service Commissioner, the National Anti-Corruption Commissioner, the President of the Law Society of the Australian Capital Territory, and the Australian Federal Police.

The Commissioner's preface (page iii) sets out a number of observations, including:

- The Robodebt scheme failed the public interest in a myriad of ways.
- It is remarkable how little interest there seems to have been in ensuring the Scheme's legality, how rushed its implementation was, how little thought was given to how it would affect welfare recipients and the lengths to which public servants were prepared to go to oblige ministers on a quest for savings.
- Truly dismaying was the revelation of dishonesty and collusion to prevent the Scheme's lack of legal foundation coming to light.
- Equally disheartening was the ineffectiveness of what one might consider institutional checks and balances – the Commonwealth Ombudsman's Office, the Office of Legal Services Coordination, the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner and the Administrative Appeals Tribunal – in presenting any hindrance to the Scheme's continuance.
- A sealed chapter, which contains referrals of information concerning some persons for further investigation by other bodies, is intended as a means of holding individuals to account, in order to reinforce the importance of public service officers' acting with integrity.
- As to how effective recommended change can be:
- Whether a public service can be developed with sufficient robustness to ensure that something of the like of the Robodebt scheme could not occur again will depend on the will of the government of the day, because culture is set from the top down.
- Politicians need to lead a change in social attitudes to people receiving welfare payments.
- The evidence before the Commission was that fraud in the welfare system was miniscule, but that is not the impression one would get from what ministers responsible for social security payments have said over the years. Those attitudes are set by politicians, who need to abandon for good (in every sense) the narrative of taxpayer versus welfare recipient.

The introduction (pages v–ix) provides:

- an overview of the workings of the Commission and why it was set up
- the procedural fairness and the standard of proof of the Commission
- the challenges of the Commission and Parliamentary privilege
- the structure of the report and use of language, for example the use of 'recipient' instead of 'customer' in the report.

The terms of reference are provided and all the recommendations (pages x–xxi).

Recommendations

Effects of Robodebt on individuals

Recommendation 10.1: Design policies and processes with emphasis on the people they are meant to serve Services Australia design its policies and processes with a primary emphasis on the recipients it is meant to serve. That should entail:

- avoiding language and conduct which reinforces feelings of stigma and shame associated with the receipt of government support when it is needed
- facilitating easy and efficient engagement with options of online, in person and telephone communication which is sensitive to the particular circumstances of the customer cohort, including itinerant lifestyles, lack of access to technology, lack of digital literacy and the particular difficulties rural and remote living
- explaining processes in clear terms and plain language in communication to customers, and acting with sensitivity to financial and other forms of stress experienced by the customer cohort and taking all practicable steps to avoid the possibility that interactions with the government might exacerbate those stresses or introduce new ones.

The concept of vulnerability

Recommendation 11.1: Clear documentation of exclusion criteria

Services Australia should ensure that for any cohort of recipients that is intended to be excluded from a compliance process or activity, there is clear documentation of the exclusion criteria, and, unless there is a technical reason it cannot be, the mechanism by which that is to occur should be reflected in the relevant technical specification documents.

Recommendation 11.2: Identification of circumstances affecting the capacity to engage with compliance activity

Services Australia should ensure that its processes and policies in relation to the identification of potential vulnerabilities extend to the identification of circumstances affecting a recipient's capacity to engage with any form of compliance activity. To this end, circumstances likely to affect a recipient's capacity to engage with compliance activities should be recorded on their file regardless of whether they are in receipt of a payment that gives rise to mutual obligations.

Recommendation 11.3: Engagement prior to removing a vulnerability indicator from a file

Services Australia should ensure that its processes and policies in relation to the identification of potential vulnerabilities require staff to engage with a recipient prior to the removal of an indicator on their file. For this purpose, Services Australia should remove any feature that would allow for the automatic expiry of a vulnerability indicator (or equivalent flagging tool). An indicator should only be removed where a recipient, or evidence provided to the Agency in relation to the recipient, confirms that they are no longer suffering from the vulnerability to which the indicator relates.

Recommendation 11.4: Consideration of vulnerabilities affected by each compliance program, including consultation with advocacy bodies

Services Australia should incorporate a process in the design of compliance programs to consider and document the categories of vulnerable recipients who may be affected by the program, and how those recipients will be dealt with. Services Australia should consult stakeholders (including peak advocacy bodies) as part of this process to ensure that adequate provision is made to accommodate vulnerable recipients who may encounter particular difficulties engaging with the program.

The roles of advocacy groups and legal services

Recommendation 12.1: Easier engagement with Centrelink

Options for easier engagement with Centrelink by advocacy groups – for example, through the creation of a national advocates line – should be considered.

Recommendation 12.2: Customer experience reference group

The government should consider establishing a customer experience reference group, which would provide streamlined insight to government regarding the experiences of people accessing income support.

Recommendation 12.3: Consultation

Peak advocacy bodies should be consulted prior to the implementation of projects involving the modification of the social security system.

Recommendation 12.4: Regard for funding for legal aid commissions and community legal centres

When it next conducts a review of the National Legal Assistance Partnership, the Commonwealth should have regard, in considering funding for legal aid commissions and community legal centres, to the importance of the public interest role played by those services as exemplified in their work during the Scheme.

Experiences of Human Services employees

Recommendation 13.1: Consultation process

Services Australia should put in place processes for genuine and receptive consultation with frontline staff when new programs are being designed and implemented.

Recommendation 13.2: Feedback processes

Better feedback processes should be put in place so that frontline staff can communicate their feedback in an open and consultative environment. Management should have constructive processes in place to review and respond to staff feedback.

Recommendation 13.3: 'Face-to-face' support

More 'face-to-face' customer service support options should be available for vulnerable recipients needing support.

Recommendation 13.4: Increased number of social workers

Increased social worker support (for both recipients and staff), and better referral processes to enable this support, should be implemented.

Failures in the Budget process

Recommendation 15.1: Legislative change better defined in New Policy Proposals

The Budget Process Operational Rules should include a requirement that all New Policy Proposals contain a statement as to whether the proposal requires legislative change in order to be lawfully implemented, as distinct from legislative change to authorise expenditure.

Recommendation 15.2: Include legal advices with New Policy Proposals

The Budget Process Operational Rules should include a requirement that any legal advice (either internal or external) relating to whether the proposal requires legislative change in order to be implemented be included with the New Policy Proposal in any versions of the Portfolio Budget Submission circulated to other agencies or Cabinet ministers.

Recommendation 15.3: Australian Government Solicitor statement in the NPP

The Budget Process Operational Rules should include a requirement that where legal advice has been given in relation to whether the proposal requires legislative change in order to be implemented, the New Policy Proposal includes a statement as to whether the Australian Government Solicitor has reviewed and agreed with the advice.

Recommendation 15.4: Standard, specific language on legal risks in the NPP

The standard language used in the NPP Checklist should be sufficiently specific to make it obvious on the face of the document what advice is being provided, in respect of what legal risks and by whom it is being provided.

Recommendation 15.5: Documented assumptions for compliance Budget measures

That in developing compliance Budget measures, Services Australia and DSS document the basis for the assumptions and inputs used, including the sources of the data relied on.

Recommendation 15.6: Documentation on the basis for assumptions provided to Finance

That in seeking agreement from Finance for costings of compliance Budget measures, Services Australia and DSS provide Finance with documentation setting out the basis for the assumptions and inputs used, including related data sources, to allow Finance to properly investigate and test those assumptions and inputs.

Data-matching and exchanges

Recommendation 16.1: Legal advice on end-to-end data exchanges

The Commonwealth should seek legal advice on the end-to-end data exchange processes which are currently operating between Services Australia and the ATO to ensure they are lawful.

Recommendation 16.2: Review and strengthen governance of data-matching programs

The ATO and DHS should take immediate steps to review and strengthen their operational governance practices as applied to jointly conducted data-matching programs. This should include:

- reviews to ensure that all steps and operations relating to existing or proposed data-matching programs are properly documented
- a review of all existing framework documents for existing or proposed data-matching programs
- a review of the operations of the ATO/DHS Consultative Forum and the ATO/DHS Data Management Forum

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

- a review of the existing Head Agreement/s, Memoranda of Understanding and Services Schedule
- a joint review of any existing or proposed data-matching program protocols to ensure they are legally compliant in respect of their provision for the data exchanges contemplated for the relevant data-matching program.

Automated decision making

Recommendation 17.1: Reform of legislation and implementation of regulation

The Commonwealth should consider legislative reform to introduce a consistent legal framework in which automation in government services can operate. Where automated decision-making is implemented:

- there should be a clear path for those affected by decisions to seek review
- departmental websites should contain information advising that automated decision-making is used and explaining in plain language how the process works
- business rules and algorithms should be made available, to enable independent expert scrutiny.

Recommendation 17.2: Establishment of a body to monitor and audit automated decision-making

The Commonwealth should consider establishing a body, or expanding an existing body, with the power to monitor and audit automate decision-making processes with regard to their technical aspects and their impact in respect of fairness, the avoiding of bias, and client usability.

Debt recovery and debt collectors

Recommendation 18.1: Comprehensive debt recovery policy for Services Australia

Services Australia should develop a comprehensive debt recovery management policy which among other things should incorporate the Guideline for Collectors and Creditors' issued by the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC) and the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC). Examples of such documents already exist at both federal and state levels. Any such policy should also prescribe how Services Australia undertakes to engage with debtors, including that staff must:

- ensure any debt recovery action is always ethical, proportionate, consistent and transparent
- treat all recipients fairly and with dignity, taking each person's circumstances into account before commencing recovery action
- subject to any express legal authority to do so, refrain from commencing or continuing recovery action while a debt is being reviewed or disputed, and
- in accordance with legal authority, consider and respond appropriately and proportionately to cases of hardship.

Services Australia should ensure that recipients are given ample and appropriate opportunities to challenge, review and seek guidance on any proposed debts before they are referred for debt recovery.

Recommendation 18.2: Reinstate the limitation of six years on debt recovery

The Commonwealth should repeal s 1234B of the Social Security Act and reinstate the effective limitation period of six years for the bringing of proceedings to recover debts under Part 5.2 of the Act formerly contained in s 1232 and s 1236 of that Act, before repeal of the relevant sub-sections by the Budget Savings (Omnibus) Act (No 55) 2016. There is no reason that current and former social security recipients should be on any different footing from other debtors.

Lawyers and legal services

Recommendation 19.1: Selection of chief counsel

The selection panel for the appointment of chief counsel of Services Australia or DSS (chief counsel being the head of the entity's legal practice) should include as a member of the panel, the Australian Government Solicitor.

Recommendation 19.2: Training for lawyers – Services Australia

Services Australia should provide regular training to its in-house lawyers on the core duties and responsibilities set out in the Legal Practice Standards, including:

- an emphasis on the duty to avoid any compromise to their integrity and professional independence and the challenges that may be presented to a government lawyer in fulfilling that obligation
- appropriate statutory and case authority references in advice writing.

Recommendation 19.3: Legal practice standards – Social Services

DSS should develop Legal Practice Standards which set out the core duties and responsibilities of all legal officers working at DSS.

Recommendation 19.4: Training for lawyers – Social Services

DSS should provide regular training on the core duties and responsibilities to be set out in the Legal Practice Standards which should include: an emphasis on the duty to avoid any compromise to their integrity and professional independence and the challenges that may be presented to a government lawyer in fulfilling that obligation appropriate statutory and case authority references in advice writing.

Recommendation 19.5: Draft advice – Social Services

DSS should issue a further direction providing that, if the administering agency decides that a draft advice need not be provided in final form, that decision and the reasons for it must be documented.

One of those steps – finalisation, or a documented decision against finalisation – should have been taken within three months of the receipt of the draft advice.

Recommendation 19.6: Draft advice – Services Australia

Services Australia should issue a direction that legal advice is to be left in draft form only to the extent that the administrative step of finalising it has not yet been undertaken by lawyers or there are remaining questions to be answered in relation to the issues under consideration and that, if the administering agency decides that a draft advice need not be provided in final form, that decision and the reasons for it must be documented. One of those steps – finalisation, or a documented decision against finalisation – should have been taken within three months of the receipt of the draft advice.

Recommendation 19.7: The Directions 1

The Legal Services Directions 2017 should be reviewed and simplified.

Recommendation 19.8: Office of Legal Services Coordination to assist agencies with significant issues reporting

The OLSC should provide more extensive information and feedback to assist agencies with the significant legal issues process.

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

Recommendation 19.9: Recording of reporting obligations

The OLSC should ensure a documentary record is made of substantive inquiries made with and responses given by agencies concerning their obligations to report significant issues pursuant to para 3.1 of the Directions.

Recommendation 19.10: The Directions 2

The OLSC should issue guidance material on the obligations to consult on and disclose advice in clause 10 of the Legal Services Directions 2017.

Recommendation 19.11: Resourcing the Office of Legal Services Coordination

The OLSC should be properly resourced to deliver these functions.

Recommendation 19.12: Chief counsel

The Australian Government Legal Service's General Counsel Charter be amended to place a positive obligation on chief counsel to ensure that the Legal Services Directions 2017 (Cth) are complied with and to document interactions with OLSC about inquiries made, and responses given, concerning reporting obligations under those Directions.

Recommendation 19.13: Review of the Bilateral Management Agreement

The revised Bilateral Management Agreement should set out the requirement to consult on and disclose legal advices between the two agencies where any intersection of work is identified.

Administrative Appeals Tribunal

Recommendation 20.1: AAT cases with significant legal and policy issues

Services Australia should put in place a system for identifying AAT1 cases which raise significant legal and policy issues and ensuring that they are brought to the attention of senior DSS and Services Australia officers.

Recommendation 20.2: Training for DHS legal officers

Services Australia legal officers whose duties involve the preparation of advices in relation to AAT1 decisions should receive training which emphasises the requirements of the Standing Operational Statements in relation to appeal recommendations and referral to DSS; Services Australia's obligations as a model litigant; and the obligation to pay due regard to AAT decisions and directions.

Recommendation 20.3: Identifying significant AAT decisions

DSS should establish, or if it is established, maintain, a system for identifying all significant AAT decisions and bringing them to the attention of its secretary.

Recommendation 20.4: Publication of first instance AAT decisions

The federal administrative review body which replaces the AAT should devise a system for publication on a readily accessible platform of first instance social security decisions which involve significant conclusions of law or have implications for social security policy.

Recommendation 20.5: Administrative Review Council

Re-instate the Administrative Review Council or a body with similar membership and similar functions, with consideration given to a particular role in review of Commonwealth administrative decision-making processes.

The Commonwealth Ombudsman

Recommendation 21.1: Statutory duty to assist

A statutory duty be imposed on departmental secretaries and agency chief executive officers to ensure that their department or agency use its best endeavours to assist the Ombudsman in any investigation concerning it, with a corresponding statutory duty on the part of Commonwealth public servants within a department or agency being investigated to use their best endeavours to assist the Ombudsman in the investigation.

Recommendation 21.2: Another power to obtain information

The Ombudsman Act be amended to confer on the Ombudsman a power in equivalent terms to that in s 33(3) of the Auditor-General Act.

Recommendation 21.3: Oversight of the legal services division

Departmental and agency responses to own motion investigations by the Ombudsman should be overseen by the legal services division of the relevant department or agency.

Recommendation 21.4: Log of communications

The Ombudsman maintain a log, recording communications with a department or agency for the purposes of an own motion investigation.

Recommendation 21.5: Powers of referral

The AAT is soon to be replaced by a new administrative review body. S 10A and s 11 of the Ombudsman Act should be amended so as to ensure the Ombudsman has the powers of referral and recommendation of referral in respect of that new administrative review body.

Improving the Australian Public Service

Recommendation 23.1: Structure of government departments

The Australian Government should undertake an immediate and full review to examine whether the existing structure of the social services portfolio, and the status of Services Australia as an entity, are optimal.

Recommendation 23.2: Obligations of public servants

The APSC should, as recommended by the Thodey Review, deliver whole-of-service induction on essential knowledge required for public servants.

Recommendation 23.3: Fresh focus on 'customer service'

Services Australia and DSS should introduce mechanisms to ensure that all new programs and schemes are developed with a customer centric focus, and that specific testing is done to ensure that recipients are at the forefront of each new initiative.

Recommendation 23.4: Administrative Review Council

The reinstated Administrative Review Council (or similar body) should provide training and develop resources to inform APS members about the Commonwealth administrative law system. (see Automated Decision-Making and the Administrative Appeals Tribunal chapters).

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

Recommendation 23.5: 'Knowledge College'

The Commonwealth should explore the feasibility of establishing an internal college within Services Australia to provide training and development to staff linked to the skills and knowledge required to undertake their duties.

Recommendation 23.6: Front-line Service

SES staff at Services Australia should spend some time in a front-line service delivery role and with other community partnerships.

Recommendation 23.7: Agency heads being held to account

The Public Service Act should be amended to make it clear that the Australian Public Service Commissioner can inquire into the conduct of former Agency Heads. Also, the Public Service Act should be amended to allow for a disciplinary declaration to be made against former APS employees and former Agency Heads.

Recommendation 23.8: Documenting decisions and discussions

The Australian Public Service Commission should develop standards for documenting important decisions and discussions, and the delivery of training on those standards.

Closing observations

Section 34 of the FOI Act should be repealed

The Commonwealth Cabinet Handbook should be amended so that the description of a document as a Cabinet document is no longer itself justification for maintaining the confidentiality of the document. The amendment should make clear that confidentiality should only be maintained over any Cabinet documents or parts of Cabinet documents where it is reasonably justified for an identifiable public interest reason.

Overview of Robodebt

This section examines how and why Robodebt came into being, how it operated and why it continued to operate, and what was wrong with it.

Key points include:

- The beginning of 2017 was the point at which Robodebt's unfairness, probable illegality and cruelty became apparent. It should then have been abandoned or revised drastically, and an enormous amount of hardship and misery (as well as the expense the government was so anxious to minimise) would have been averted. Instead the path taken was to double down, to go on the attack in the media against those who complained and to maintain the falsehood that in fact the system had not changed at all. The government was, the DHS and DSS ministers maintained, acting righteously to recoup taxpayers' money from the undeserving (page xxvii).
- DSS obtained cover in the form of what was called a 'legal' advice (page xxvii).
- Meanwhile, the Scheme trundled on, with the government engaging PricewaterhouseCoopers to assist with some of its clumsier components (although never taking receipt of a critical report prepared by the consultancy). It had to accept that the Scheme was not functional in many respects. One was that the online component was an abject failure, with the result that large numbers of employees had to be drafted on short-term contracts or by way of labour hire into DHS to cope with enquiries. And it became apparent, partly as a result of that factor, but also because of the overestimation in the first place of the numbers of debts and their average amount, that the touted savings would never be reached (page xxviii).

- Robodebt was a crude and cruel mechanism, neither fair nor legal, and it made many people feel like criminals. In essence, people were traumatised on the off-chance they might owe money. It was a costly failure of public administration, in both human and economic terms (page xxix).

Chapter 1: Legal and historical context of the Scheme (pages 1–17)

Chapter 1 gives some context for the Robodebt Scheme (the Scheme) with:

- a brief history of the departments and agencies which administered the social security law
- some relevant details of the social security law
- an account of how data matching, including the Data matching Program (Assistance and Tax) Act 1990 (page 11), and income averaging were used to identify and raise debts before the Scheme came into being.

It references the different incarnations of the Department of Social Services (DSS), the history of Centrelink and the beginnings of Human Services. It also outlines the relationship between DSS and the Department of Human Services (DHS). It provides an outline of the social security benefits and pension scheme, covering reporting requirements and debt recovery.

The chapter further outlines the history of data matching and income averaging in the social security context, including that income averaging is not, per se, unlawful as outlined by some provisions of the Social Security Act 1991 (the Social Security Act) in limited circumstances (page 14).

It states that before the Robodebt Scheme, income averaging was used relatively seldom, usually by agreement with the recipient, and in the context of other information which provided some assurance that it would give a reliable answer. The report provides that averaging was a legitimate course of action if there were other evidence to show that the amount arrived at through it was representative of actual income; which might be the case if the recipient were able to confirm that they had, indeed, received a regular income for the period in question (pages 16–17).

Section 2: Chronology of the Robodebt Scheme

Chapter 2: Overview of the origins of Robodebt (pages 23–31)

Chapter 2 provides an overview of the origins of Robodebt, from concept to Budget measure, referencing the roles of Mr Jason Ryman, Ms Tenille Collins and Mr Mark Withnell (page 26).

The report characterises the environment in which the scheme was developed as involving a powerful drive for savings, strongly expressed ministerial policy positions, cultural conflicts on an inter and intra-departmental level and intense pressure experienced by public servants, including those in positions of seniority. It was not an environment which was conducive to instances of careful consideration, well-reasoned decision making, and proper scrutiny and supervision (page 28).

The report states an enthusiasm for savings would seem an anathema to the underlying policy and rationale for social security spending, of supporting those in need; however, it appears that the social security portfolio was generally perceived as a reliable source for such savings (page 28). It references that there were misgivings at some levels of DHS about whether the PAYG proposal had been developed to a point where it could be progressed to the NPP stage (page 29). There was also a level of reluctance in DHS to share information about the proposal with DSS (page 30).

Chapter 2 ends with conclusions on why the issues around the origin and implementation of the Robodebt scheme happened. The conclusions include:

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

- The proposal was precisely responsive to the policy agenda that had been communicated to the social security portfolio departments, both in private meetings and in the public sphere, by the Minister for Social Services.
- It came into being against the backdrop of a drive for savings, in a pressured public service where officers were acutely aware of the importance of those savings to the government.
- The perceived need to ‘just get it done’ meant that concerns about the immature level of development of the proposal went either unexpressed or unheard.
- The relationship between DSS and DHS meant that the sharing of information about the proposal had been somewhat inhibited, and this was further complicated by the sometimes direct communications between DHS and the Social Services Minister.

Chapter 3: 2014 – Conceptual development (pages 35–50)

Chapter 3 provides Robodebt originated as an idea from within the Customer Compliance Branch of the Department of Human Services of which Mr Ryman and Mr Britton were part. By 2014, members of the Customer Compliance Branch, including Mr Britton and Mr Ryman, were under increasing pressure to increase the volume of the branch’s compliance activity.

The primary driver seems to have been a general perception that the social security portfolio, and particularly the compliance areas within that portfolio, were fertile ground for the generation of savings and ‘efficiencies’ for the government (page 37).

A June 2014 Minute by the Customer Compliance Branch proposed the use of averaging of PAYG income data to determine social security entitlement. The Minute identified some possible obstacles to the proposal, but said, ‘...legislation itself is not a barrier as we are able to average income as per section 1068-G8 of the Social Security Act 1991.’ That was a complete misunderstanding of that provision’s effect. Section 1068-G8 of the Social Security Act authorised a form of averaging to calculate entitlement in specific circumstances, which were expressly outlined in the terms of the section.

Both Mr Britton and Mr Ryman explained that they believed that there was no inconsistency with the requirement to use fortnightly amounts, because using averaging resulted in a notional fortnightly income amount, and had ‘always been used’ to calculate debts. The problem with this is that averaging, in the absence of other information, was liable to produce inaccurate fortnightly amounts, which were not representative of actual income. Neither Mr Britton nor Mr Ryman are lawyers, and there is no evidence that they knew then that the use of income averaging, as it was later used in the Scheme, was unlawful. That was part of the reason why close collaboration with DSS, whose officers had expertise in general social security policy and legislation, was critical to the development of the proposal. The Minute suggested that in order for the proposal to progress, income averaging would need to be used in a wider range of circumstances than DHS policy currently allowed, and the way to overcome that obstacle was to promote the proposed process’ potential to relieve the regulatory burden on third parties. DHS officers subsequently used the phrase ‘last resort’ with metronomic regularity when they sought to defend the use of income averaging in the face of sustained public criticism of the practice in late 2016 and 2017 (page 38).

Chapter 3 outlines a number of meetings between officers from the Department of Human Services and the Department of Social Services in October 2014 that were informal, were not conducted according to any agenda and where no minutes were taken. DSS’s reaction to the concept was negative and it was recognised that the proposal was inconsistent with the legislative requirement that social security entitlement be based on fortnightly income. A 2014 legal advice second counselled by Anne Pulford (a DSS lawyer) provided that: ‘a debt amount derived from annual smoothing [i.e. averaging] over a defined period of time may not be derived consistently with the legislative framework’ (pages 40–41).

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

While officers of DSS sought internal legal and policy advice that could have resulted in the end of the DHS proposal, momentum towards its development accelerated in DHS. Analysis by DHS in 2014 demonstrated that just over 95% of the debts calculated using income averaging differed from the manually calculated amount. The work to date had shown that using an income averaging methodology to calculate debts overwhelmingly resulted in an inaccurate result (page 42).

By December 2014, initial drafts of an NPP for what would become the Scheme were being circulated within DHS. Mr Britton referenced pressures to get the measure through (page 46).

The chapter also covers that Scott Morrison was appointed as Social Services Minister on 23 December 2014 and his responsibilities under the Administrative Arrangements Order (AAO) at the time. Kathryn Campbell (then Secretary of DHS) had a meeting with Mr Morrison on 30 December 2014. Ms Campbell recalled that, at the time of the meeting with Mr Morrison, significant media attention was focused on ‘the integrity of welfare outlays’ a phrase which she said meant ‘payments to [sic] which the recipient may not be eligible’ (page 49). Mr Morrison gave evidence that he considered the brief prepared by DHS following his meeting with Ms Campbell, Executive Minute B15/125 (the Executive Minute) (page 50).

Chapter 4: 2015 – Articulations of the Scheme (pages 55–107)

Chapter 4 provides an outline of the drafting of the Executive Minute in early 2015 when Ms Campbell met with Malisa Golightly (then Deputy Secretary at DHS) and asked for a brief to be prepared in response to a request from Mr Morrison. DHS communicated its intention to develop the Executive Minute to DSS at an early stage, and a meeting was held on 12 January 2015 between representatives of the two departments (pages 57–58).

DSS’s view that legislative change was required to implement the DHS proposal presented a significant problem for the viability of the proposal (page 59).

On 16 January 2015, Serena Wilson (former Deputy Secretary at DSS) received advice from Mr Whitecross. In his email to Ms Wilson, Mr Whitecross strongly advised against the DHS proposal. Mr Whitecross set out that proposal, as DSS understood it, which involved identifying and raising employment income related debts based upon data received from the ATO. He understood that the ATO data would be assumed to have been earned evenly, or ‘smoothed,’ across a financial year to calculate a debt (page 62).

On 19 January 2015, Ms Wilson replied to Mr Whitecross that she was concerned when Ms Golightly described it to her. Ms Wilson stated she would go back to Ms Golightly and let Finn Pratt (Secretary, DSS) know. In her evidence, Ms Wilson agreed that the legal advice described by Mr Whitecross ‘was unequivocal.’ Mr Pratt did not recall receiving Mr Whitecross’s advice at the time, but after having the opportunity to peruse it briefly in oral evidence, remarked that: ‘frankly, the advice is excellent advice.’ The Commission accepts that the conversation occurred as Ms Wilson described, probably at a high level of generality. However, it is more likely than not that it involved Ms Wilson conveying to Mr Pratt the fact of the proposal and DSS’s concerns with it, which would logically have included the information that DHS was seeking to advance the proposal in a way that did not require legislation (page 63).

On 20 January 2015, Ms Halbert sent a draft of the Executive Minute around DSS. Ms Wilson amended the document and it was sent to DHS with the comment that DSS feels strongly about the clean up PAYG measure with dot points outlining the comments (pages 64–65). Mr Withnell sought assistance from DHS officers in responding to the DSS Dot Points, and sent Ms Halbert’s email with the DSS Dot Points to Mr Britton and Mark Brown for their consideration. His email said, ‘DO NOT FORWARD.’ Mr Ryman drafted a response to the DSS Dot points and emailed it to Mr Britton (page 66).

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

Mr Britton emailed Mr Ryman's dot points to Mr Withnell, noting the email was 'in response to the points raised by DSS and added that there would be no requirement to seek and/or apply retrospective legislative change.' Mr Ryman, Mr Britton and Mr Withnell all accepted in oral evidence that Mr Ryman and Mr Britton's response to the DSS Dot Points did not provide any sensible response to the legal advice in the DSS Dot Points. Mr Withnell does not appear to have further communicated Mr Britton's (and Mr Ryman's) response to the DSS Dot Points. Instead, Mr Withnell emailed Ms Golightly a revised new draft brief to Minister Morrison (page 67).

On 23 January 2015, Mr Britton sent a further email to Mr Withnell quoting section 1068-G8 of the Administration Act, the same provision that Mr Ryman had relied on in the June 2014 Minute, and stating his (misconceived) view that: 'it supports our proposition of averaging earning over the period of employment.' Mr Withnell's oral evidence to the Commission was that he understood the message that had been communicated to him by Ms Halbert and the DSS advice at all times. Both Mr Britton and Mr Ryman gave evidence they had been unaware of the DSS legal and policy advice prior to giving evidence to the Commission (page 68). The Commission concludes Mr Ryman was aware of the DSS Dot Points, so it follows that he was aware that DSS had advised that the proposal was inconsistent with social security legislation and policy. There is no doubt that Mr Britton received and read the DSS Dot Points which Mr Withnell emailed to him (page 69).

The chapter refers to Scott Morrison's 'welfare cop' approach to the Social Services portfolio (page 70). It states that by 22 January 2015 Mr Morrison had clearly communicated to the public, the secretaries of DSS and DHS and deputy secretaries Wilson and Golightly his intention to achieve budget savings through his portfolio (page 70).

On 23 January 2015, Ms Wilson took leave until 9 February 2015. Ms Halbert acted in her role as deputy secretary. Ms Golightly sought a further response from DSS on the PAYG proposal that day. It included the draft of the Executive Minute in which Mr Withnell had changed the wording of the PAYG proposal to remove any reference to 'smoothing,' 'averaging,' 'apportioning' or the need for legislative change. The Commission states that it seems that, DSS having raised legal and policy issues with income averaging, DHS's solution was simply to remove reference to income averaging in the brief (page 72). DSS obtained advice and on 23 January 2015, Ms Halbert had collated the DSS advice which referred back to the 2014 legal advice. She further softened the language in the introduction to the brief.

The Commission concludes that the proposal in the Executive Minute contemplated the use of income averaging of PAYG data as the sole basis for determining social security entitlement, and it was for this reason that legislative change was required. However, on the face of the document itself, the use of income averaging in the proposed process, and the fact of its being the reason for the need for legislative change, was not immediately obvious. Those officers who had been involved in its drafting – Ms Campbell, Ms Golightly and Mr Withnell – knew that income averaging was intended (page 79). Mr Morrison signed the Executive Minute on Friday 20 February 2015 (page 80).

The chapter canvases meetings between DHS and DSS officials and the drafting of the NPP. It references changes made by Mr Ryman to the NPP which removed the reference to income averaging. It reports that Mr Ryman's evidence was that he made the amendments at the direction of either Mr Withnell or Mr Britton (page 85).

The description of the PAYG proposal in the NPP that was submitted to the ERC on 25 March 2015 omitted any explicit reference to the use of income averaging and contained the representation that: 'there would be no change to how income is assessed or overpayments calculated as part of this proposal.' The Commission finds that the language used in the NPP that was submitted to the ERC on 25 March 2015 had the effect of obscuring the fact that, in substance, the PAYG proposal contemplated a process involving the use of income averaging (page 88). Consequently, those members of Cabinet who had no knowledge of the proposal's development were likely to be misled as to the true nature of the proposed measure and the legal and policy impediments associated with it (page 89).

The Commission is unable to conclude that either Mr Ryman or Mr Britton intended to mislead Cabinet when they were involved in the removal of the reference to income averaging from the NPP and the insertion of the 'no change' statement (page 89).

In the Commission's view, based upon (a) Mr Withnell's knowledge that averaging was intended to be a feature of the proposal, (b) his awareness of the DSS advice and (c) his awareness of the language used in the NPP, Mr Withnell knew that the description of the measure in the NPP would be apt to mislead Cabinet as to the true nature of the Scheme. There is no evidence of Mr Withnell taking any steps to ensure that Cabinet was properly informed of the averaging component of the measure. To the contrary, Mr Withnell was a central figure in formulating the language used in the NPP ultimately considered by the ERC on 25 March 2015. The Commission's view is that Mr Withnell engaged in deliberate conduct designed to mislead Cabinet.

Ms Golightly was responsible for the development of the NPP, and was a senior public servant. She was heavily involved in clearing the draft NPP, and engaging with Mr Withnell in developing the NPP. The Commission concludes that she was aware that, as presented to Cabinet, it was misleading (page 91).

The NPP arrives at Social Services: On Wednesday 4 March 2015, Ms Wilson, Ms Halbert, Mr McBride and others at DSS received a copy of the NPP developed by DHS for the DSS portfolio budget submission. The NPP included a draft of the Strengthening the Integrity of Welfare Payments measure (page 93).

Social Services' knowledge of the continued proposal for the use of averaging: The Commission concludes that there is no basis to conclude that Mr McBride knew at the time the NPP went to Cabinet that, in fact, there had been no change to the substance of the proposed measure, and that it still contemplated income averaging (page 94). The Commission accepts Ms Wilson's evidence that she did not know that DHS would proceed using income averaging, and that she was not involved in any misleading of Cabinet. But the Commission also concludes that Ms Wilson refrained from enquiring too closely into how the measure was to be implemented without the use of income averaging, or returning to the question later, because DHS was resistant to DSS advice and the Minister wanted the proposal to proceed. Her later conduct points to that conclusion (page 95).

The Expenditure Review Committee meeting: Ms Campbell was copied in emails to Ms Payne's office attaching drafts of the NPP on 3 March 2015. It is more likely than not that Ms Campbell reviewed at least one of those drafts because she both had access to the Secretary's Office email address to which they were sent and was routinely provided printouts of documents emailed to her or her office (page 96).

In oral evidence, Ms Campbell accepted that the NPP was apt to mislead Cabinet. She contended that her failure to eliminate its misleading effect was an 'oversight.' That would be an extraordinary oversight for someone of Ms Campbell's seniority and experience. The weight of the evidence instead leads to the conclusion that Ms Campbell knew of the misleading effect of the NPP but chose to stay silent, knowing that Mr Morrison wanted to pursue the proposal and that the Government could not achieve the savings which the NPP promised without income averaging (page 98).

Knowledge of Ms Payne: Weighing up all the considerations, the Commission concludes that Ms Payne was entitled to regard the assurance she received in the NPP as sufficient. There was no reason for her to anticipate that DHS officers intended to implement the NPP by the use of income averaging contrary to the language of the NPP. There is, of course, the broader question of ministerial responsibility. Ms Payne was responsible for a department which instituted the flawed Scheme and officers of which misled Cabinet as to what it involved. Those are matters for Parliament and the electorate, not this Commission (page 100).

Knowledge of Mr Morrison: In relation to Mr Morrison the report states (pages 100–107):

- The Commission rejects as untrue Mr Morrison’s evidence that he was told that income averaging as contemplated in the Executive Minute was an established practice and a ‘foundational way’ in which DHS worked.
- The Executive Minute informed Mr Morrison that the use of income averaging in the DHS proposal required legislative change.
- The Commission accepts Mr Morrison’s evidence that the third answer in the checklist could extend beyond the issue of whether authorisation was needed for expenditure, and could involve the advice of the relevant department. However, Mr Morrison was not entitled without further question to rely upon the contradictory content of the NPP on the question of the DSS legal position when he proposed the NPP to the ERC. Mr Morrison allowed Cabinet to be misled because he did not make that obvious inquiry.
- The failure of DSS and DHS to give Mr Morrison frank and full advice before and after the development of the NPP is explained by the pressure to deliver the budget expectations of the government and by Mr Morrison, as the Minister for Social Services, communicating the direction to develop the NPP through the Executive Minute.

Chapter 5: 2015 to 2016 – Implementation of the Scheme (pages 119–144)

The lead up to the pilot: The chapter details steps taken following the ERC meeting of 25 March 2015, noting that given the proposed 1 July 2015 start date included in the NPP, it is perhaps not surprising that the focus of DHS officers was fixed on overcoming any remaining barriers to the launch of the Scheme on 1 July 2015, rather than on undertaking any critical analysis of its underpinnings that might reveal its fundamental flaws.

This chapter references that on 24 April 2015, policy advice was sought from Emma Kate McGuirk, who then held the position of Director of DHS’s Income Support Means Test Section, in relation to the income test for the program. Notwithstanding that the email clearly indicated a proposed departure from ‘last resort’ use of income averaging, Ms McGuirk gave her advice that as long as the customer is given the opportunity to correctly declare against each fortnight and apportionment is the last resort, there was support.

The initial pilot program: Between May and June 2015, a pilot program was conducted to test the effectiveness of the manual process that was being used while the online platform used for the Scheme was under development. The pilot was undertaken in two phases, the first involving 1000 recipients, and the second involving 1600. About 60% of income support recipients involved in the pilot did not respond to DHS’s attempts to contact them, a much higher proportion than had been assumed for the measure during the budget process (page 123).

Following the pilot, a draft brief to the Secretary of DHS was prepared. An email dated 25 November 2015 advised, ‘GM [Mr Withnell] advised this brief is not progressing to the Secretary...’ One possible explanation for this is that Ms Campbell was informed of the results orally, preferring not to receive them in writing. The other possibility is that the results were not given to her because of the same fear of delivering ‘bad news’ that Mr Britton described in his evidence. Neither reflects well on Ms Campbell’s management of the department (page 124).

The PAYG Manual Compliance Intervention program commenced on 1 July 2015. Its operation resulted in a dramatic increase in the scale of DHS's use of income averaging.

Staff concerns: In 2015, Colleen Taylor was a compliance officer at DHS. Ms Taylor became concerned about the process's inability to identify all of the information necessary to properly investigate a discrepancy and calculate any subsequent debt. In early 2016, Ms Taylor raised some of her concerns with departmental officers including her supervisor and the 'Compliance Help Desk' (page 126). She escalated her concern to her director and assistant director.

The Online Compliance Intervention (OCI) system: On 11 July 2016, the OCI system went live into a production environment. In March 2016, a new division was created in DHS to deal with the area of customer compliance.

The Commission concludes that the workplace environment was an intense one, in which departmental staff were under a high level of pressure. Given the circumstances in which the system commenced full operation, it is not at all surprising that there were multiple system issues. But the continued focus on savings and numbers, and fulfilling the promises made under the measures, meant that it was never an option to stop (page 136).

The Minister for Human Services: Alan Tudge commenced as the Minister for Human Services on 18 February 2016 (page 137). At that time the SIWP and EWPI measures were in place. In an approach that was entirely consistent with the policy direction and messaging of recent years in the social security portfolio, Mr Tudge adopted an approach to media that focused on 'cracking down' on non-compliance by income support recipients (page 138).

In December 2016, the NPPs that had been developed earlier in the year, and had formed the basis of part of the Coalition's election commitments, were approved by the government and announced in the 2016-17 MYEFO under the Better Management of the Social Welfare System measure. The savings made a significant contribution to the Coalition's plan for a balanced Budget (page 139).

Mr Tudge know that conflation of fraud and inadvertent overpayment occurred...He know that fraud represented a very small proportion of welfare compliance. Despite this, he took no action to issue a media release to clarify and emphasise the distinction (page 141).

Increasing concern and criticism: Throughout December 2016, public expressions of discontent with the OCI system began to gather momentum (page 142).

Chapter 6: 2017, part A – A crescendo of criticism (pages 153–192)

The opening to this chapter notes that in the beginning of 2017 the chorus of criticism was deafening and that one of the most remarkable aspects of the Scheme's saga is how it continued, albeit in a modified form, after the early months of 2017.

The chapter references the role of the Acting Minister for Human Services, Mr Porter in late 2016 and early 2017.

The report states Mr Porter may not completely have understood what the OCI process was, but he did know it involved income averaging. It did not take a genius to see that averaging a person's annual income to arrive at a fortnightly figure was likely to produce inaccurate results unless the person was on a consistent income (page 157). Mr Porter could not rationally have been satisfied of the legality of the Scheme on the basis of his general knowledge of the NPP process, when he did not have actual knowledge of the content of the NPP, and had no idea whether it had said anything about the practice of income averaging. As Minister for Social Services, Mr Porter should at least have directed his department to produce to him any legal advice it possessed in respect of the legislative basis of the Scheme (page 158).

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

The chapter outlines the steps Mr Tudge took on his return from leave in early January 2017. By the time of his return, the Budget Savings (Omnibus) Act 2016 had been passed. One of the effects of that Act was to remove the six-year limitation period on the recovery of social security debts. Another was that it enabled the department, in particular circumstances, to issue Departure Prohibition Orders, to prevent people with outstanding debts from going overseas.

During this time, Mr Tudge made numerous requests to DHS and his advisors for information about the Scheme and associated DHS processes, and he was provided with a steady stream of information in response. Not all of the information provided by DHS to their minister and his advisors during this time was accurate, or reflective of the actual state of affairs (page 159).

The report references that many of the process refinements Mr Tudge instituted reflected his drive to improve the system and its usability, but it is apparent from his communication with Mr Turnbull that a large part of Mr Tudge's motivation for focusing on those refinements was to allow him, as minister, and the government, to 'save face' and to minimise public embarrassment; not surprisingly, given his full-throated public endorsement of the system the previous year (page 160).

The report goes on to state that much of the focus within DHS was similar to that of the minister. It is obvious from the evidence before the Commission that the early months of 2017 were a frenetically busy and stressful period for many members of DHS staff.

In February 2017, the OCI program became the Employment Income Confirmation (EIC) program. From February until August 2017, the application of averaged ATO data was suspended for reviews in which a recipient had received an initial letter but had not commenced or finalised the review process (page 162).

The rebranding to EIC represented the symbolic end of the first automated, online iteration of the Scheme. During the operation of the OCI program, DHS consistently and staunchly denied accusations of an 'error rate' in the initial letters that were issued to recipients. The department had released information that, of the initial letters sent to recipients between July to December 2016, approximately 80% had ultimately resulted in a debt following finalisation of the review. This resulted in public criticism in which this figure was characterised as a '20% error rate' (page 163).

Mr Tudge instituted a number of process refinements, and the Commission accepts that he was, in part, motivated to improve the implementation of the system and its usability. One of those was the removal of some level of automation in the system, by requiring a manual step prior to the calculation of a debt using averaging. But it was also for the purpose of attempting to repair the public perception of the Scheme, and to avoid transparent and open scrutiny of those aspects of the Scheme that were fundamental to its operation. Mr Tudge was not open to considering any significant alteration, or cessation, of processes underlying those fundamental features. The Commission accepts he believed he was bound by the Cabinet decision to implement them, but that did not mean he could not have investigated the problems with them and raised any concerns with the appropriate senior minister (page 166).

Missed opportunities: The report covers the interactions with the Australian Council of Social Service (ACOSS). The Commission finds that Mr Tudge took some steps to address the problems that Dr Goldie, CEO of ACOSS had raised, and responded to those parts of her correspondence that dealt with those implementation issues but he did nothing about the fundamental concerns: reversal of the onus and income averaging (page 167).

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

On 25 January 2017, Ms Campbell sent an email to staff referring to misrepresentations in the media and assuring them that there had been no change to the way DHS assessed income or calculated and recovered debt. The use of that representation was both false and non-responsive to the substance of the concerns that were raised (page 171).

Ms Taylor emailed Ms Campbell on 25 January 2017 about concerns with the program. The Commission finds that Ms Campbell failed to engage with the concerns that both the whistle-blower and Ms Taylor had raised (page 174).

The use of the media: The report states that a particularly mean-spirited aspect of the government's defence of the Scheme in 2017 was the employment of the media in a form of counter-attack against criticism, which included singling out recipients who complained (page 177).

As a minister, Mr Tudge was invested with a significant amount of public power. Mr Tudge's use of information about social security recipients in the media to distract from and discourage commentary about the Scheme's problems represented an abuse of that power. It was all the more reprehensible in view of the power imbalance between the minister and the cohort of people upon whom it would reasonably be expected to have the most impact, many of whom were vulnerable and dependent on the department, and its minister, for their livelihood (page 179).

On 2 January 2017, Ms Golightly sought 'options and advice' on a proposed media strategy to deal with the media reporting on the OCI program. Bevan Hannan subsequently signed off on a 'Communication Plan' for the OCI program, and commenced development of a 'script...from the standard words' and talking points 'drawn from the ones sent to the minister.'

Part of DHS's engagement with the media involved its spokesperson, Hank Jongen. Mr Jongen's role included releasing 'official statements' to the media and participating in broadcast interviews to represent the department. DHS's approach to the media, particularly during the period of intense publicity in the early months of 2017, was to respond to criticism by systematically repeating the same narrative, underpinned by a set of talking points and standard lines. There was no critical evaluation of this messaging, or its accuracy, because the 'gatekeepers' of its content were more concerned with 'getting it [the media criticism] shut down as quickly as possible,' and 'correcting the record' with standard platitudes that failed to engage with the substance of any criticisms (page 180).

Suicides associated with the Scheme: The Commission is aware that a number of people who had alleged debts raised against them under the Scheme have died by suicide. While each of those deaths may have prompted an internal review of the particular case, they did not galvanise either DHS or DSS into a substantive or systemic review of the problem of illegal, inaccurate or unfair debt-raising. An exchange between Ms Campbell and Ms Golightly demonstrates that Ms Campbell and Ms Golightly were, first and foremost, preoccupied with distancing Mr Cauzzo's death from the OCI program and to 'work on a narrative' (page 181).

There was a DHS investigation into the circumstances of Mr Cauzzo's case, which was initiated at the request of Mr Tudge. The conclusions were drawn on the basis of a superficial examination of procedural and operational compliance by DHS. The investigation should have identified that a 'vulnerability indicator' ought to have been recorded on Mr Cauzzo's Centrelink record given that (as the investigation report attached to the brief recorded) in September 2015, DHS was made aware he suffered from anxiety and depression and had reported suicidal ideation (page 182).

By July 2017, Mr Tudge knew that at least two people had died by suicide, and that their family members had identified the impact of the Scheme as a factor in their deaths. Nonetheless, Mr Tudge failed to undertake a comprehensive review into the Scheme, including its fundamental features, or to consider whether its impacts were so harmful to vulnerable recipients that it should cease (page 182).

The issue of lawfulness: During the first week of January 2017, the Office of Legal Services Coordination (OLSC) raised with Mr Menzies-McVey whether the Scheme gave rise to a significant issue in the provision of legal services that was required to be reported to the OLSC or the Attorney-General.

In that context of media coverage and ministerial inquiries, Mr Jackson (acting DHS Secretary) had received repeated assurances from DHS officials, especially Ms Golightly, that income averaging was a longstanding practice. Despite this, Mr Jackson sought to satisfy himself that there was a proper legal basis for income averaging, by requesting legal advice about it. At the time of Mr Jackson's request, on 6 January 2017, DHS had not obtained internal or external advice about the lawfulness of income averaging as used in the Scheme (page 186).

On the basis of Mr Jackson's evidence, the Commission is satisfied that Ms Campbell was made aware of Mr Jackson's request for advice and its progress. The Commission finds that Ms Campbell instructed DHS officers to cease the process of responding to Mr Jackson's request for advice, motivated by a concern that the unlawfulness of the Scheme might be exposed to the Ombudsman in the course of its investigation (page 189).

On 21 January 2017, Ms Golightly sent Ms Musolino and Mr Hutson an email which in turn forwarded an email from the DHS media unit, detailing various media reporting about DHS, with a line in the email from Ms Golightly stating, 'not scare the horses.' There is no sensible reason why Ms Golightly would not want external legal advice if she genuinely wanted a definitive legal view on that question; instead it appears from her email that what she wanted was internal legal advice, from the Legal Division of DHS, confirming the lawfulness of income averaging. Ms Musolino provided a response. The report states that what Ms Musolino failed to acknowledge in her email was what must have been clear to her by that time; that the Legal Services Division had only managed to develop 'weak' and 'unconvincing' legal arguments in support of income averaging, that the legal position of DHS with respect to it was therefore uncertain and involved substantial legal risk, and that the only prudent and sensible course for it to adopt was to seek independent legal advice.

The Commission infers that she did not do so because she knew that DHS executives, particularly Ms Campbell and Ms Golightly, did not want to be told they should seek independent advice because of the likelihood of its confirming that income averaging was unlawful and the professional consequences that they would face in that event. If she did give written advice pointing out the weakness and legal risk of DHS's position on averaging and recommending independent advice be sought, they would have difficulty in explaining why they did not get it (page 190).

The Commission rejects Ms Musolino's evidence that she relied on Mr Stipnieks to collate the responses to her 23 January 2017 email, and therefore did not read the Fiveash advice. Mr Stipnieks has no recollection of being asked to collate, or collating, the advices in the manner described by Ms Musolino, and Ms Musolino does not point to any other documentary evidence to support her oral evidence. Having made the request, it is likely that Ms Musolino read the email from Mr Fiveash and the attached advice. This could only have reinforced in her mind the weakness and legal risk of the DHS position on averaging, and the need for her to clearly advise DHS executives in writing to that effect. However, at no stage did she do so (page 191).

Chapter 7: 2017, part B – Inquiries and Investigations (pages 205–243)

This chapter states that DHS received a significant number of complaints about the Scheme, particularly in late 2016 and early 2017. The volume of Robodebt-related complaints imposed stress on DHS's complaint management systems.

The Commonwealth Ombudsman's investigation into the Scheme in early 2017 was a significant event. The report states that this chapter is the chronology of how two government departments acted to deceive the Ombudsman's office, avoid effective scrutiny of the Scheme and, in doing so, thwart one of the best opportunities that existed to bring the scheme to an end (page 208).

This chapter references Ms Golightly, Mr Hurman, Ms McGuirk, Mr de Burgh, Mr Kimber, Mr McBride, Ms Halbert, Ms Wilson, Ms Harfield, Ms Musolino and Mr Britton.

The Commission does not accept the evidence of Ms McGuirk, Mr McBride and Ms Wilson that they were unaware that averaging was being used under the Scheme prior to January 2017.

In submissions made on behalf of Ms McGuirk, it was said that in providing her advice, she was 'focussed on the calculation of a rate for a social security payment, not the raising and calculation of a debt.' Her advice was said to have been 'directed at a limited issue' and did not disclose 'some broader understanding of how income averaging was being used to raise a debt nor the legitimacy of doing so' (page 211). The Commission does not accept these arguments.

On 9 March 2016, a DSS Payments Forum meeting was held. The Commission is satisfied that Mr McBride, Ms Wilson and Ms McGuirk attended the Forum and that they were present during Mr Britton's presentation, in which he used slides disclosing the use of averaging to determine social security entitlement under the Scheme. The Commission does not accept that the three individuals, Ms McGuirk, Ms Wilson and Mr McBride, had no awareness or suspicion that under the Scheme averaging was being used to determine social security entitlement prior to the 15 January 2017 meeting.

Following Mr McBride's participation in the meeting on 15 January 2017, he took no step to ensure that the behaviour of DHS and the unlawfulness of the Scheme was raised with either Mr Pratt or Mr Porter (page 213).

On 16 January 2017, the scheduled meeting occurred between officers of DSS, DHS and the Ombudsman's office. Attendees from DSS included Ms Wilson, Ms Halbert and Ms McGuirk. By the time of the 16 January 2017 meeting with the Ombudsman representatives, all DSS officers in attendance had knowledge that the Scheme involved the use of averaging to determine social security entitlement. Additionally, they had knowledge of the 2014 DSS legal advice that, in clear terms, said that the use of averaging in this way was unlawful.

At the 16 January 2017 meeting, DSS failed to disclose to the Ombudsman the 2014 DSS legal advice or that there were any doubts as to the legality of the Scheme. This was in circumstances where DSS had been made aware that the scope of the Ombudsman's investigation included, among other things, the Scheme's 'adherence to relevant legislative requirements.' This was, in and of itself, misleading behaviour by Ms Wilson, Ms Halbert and Ms McGuirk. DSS subsequently sought further advice from Ms Pulford (an author of the 2014 DSS legal advice) (page 214).

Fundamentally, the 2017 DSS legal advice was not only inconsistent with the 2014 DSS legal advice; it was wrong. Averaged ATO PAYG data did not, as Ms Pulford argued, 'justify the Secretary lawfully taking action' to raise a debt. This was so regardless of whether averaging was used 'as a last resort.'

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

The Commission is satisfied that Ms McGuirk sought this advice in circumstances where she was aware of the 2014 DSS legal advice and its conclusion that, in effect, the use of income averaging as the sole basis to determine social security entitlement was unlawful (whether it was done as a 'last resort' or otherwise). Submissions made on behalf of Ms McGuirk that she was genuinely uncertain as to the legal position expressed in the 2014 DSS legal advice are not accepted. The Commission makes no finding that Ms McGuirk, as it was framed in submissions made by her solicitors, 'dictated to Ms Pulford what the advice needed to say.' However, in the Commission's view, Ms McGuirk's request for advice from Ms Pulford was not motivated by any genuine interest to resolve the legal question framed in her 18 January 2017 instructions. It is more likely than not that the impetus for DSS's seeking the further advice from Ms Pulford was the Ombudsman's investigation and a perceived need to justify the continuation of the Scheme (page 215).

Given Ms Pulford's experience in social security law, it should have been, and most likely was, obvious to her that the 2017 DSS legal advice was incorrect. She was aware that the distinction drawn by Ms McGuirk (and others within DSS) between averaging as 'a last resort' and averaging in other circumstances was entirely artificial and had no bearing on the question of whether the practice was lawful. The Commission is satisfied that Ms Pulford's advice was influenced by pressure placed upon her by Ms McGuirk.

In an email on 19 February 2017, Louise MacLeod (acting senior assistant Ombudsman) sought information from DSS about the legal basis for the use of averaging to determine social security entitlement. Mr Hurman sought advice from Ms Pulford as to whether the 2017 DSS legal advice should be provided. Ms Pulford replied the 2014 DSS legal advice was also in scope of the Ombudsman's request. Mr Hurman asked Ms Pulford to provide an explanation that could be provided to the Ombudsman as to why the 2014 and 2017 DSS legal advices 'appear different but don't contradict each other.' The Commission finds that contrary to the representations made by Ms Pulford, the 2014 and 2017 DSS legal advices were inconsistent.

On 23 February 2017, Mr Hurman emailed Mr De Burgh a draft response to the Ombudsman. The draft response referred to, and attached, both the 2014 DSS legal advice and the 2017 DSS legal advice (page 216).

At 3:35 pm on 23 February 2017 an email was sent by Ms Halbert's executive assistant to Ms Wilson enclosing a version of the 2017 DSS legal advice. In evidence, both Mr Hurman and Mr de Burgh said they could not recall why the 2014 DSS advice was not initially provided to the Ombudsman. In evidence, Ms Wilson could not recall who decided to withhold the 2014 DSS legal advice from the Ombudsman. It was possible, Ms Wilson said, that either she or Ms Halbert made the decision. The Commission is satisfied that it was Ms Wilson who, on 23 February 2017, decided to withhold the 2014 DSS legal advice from the Ombudsman (page 217).

DSS's withholding of the 2014 DSS legal advice from the Ombudsman constituted a failure to comply with the Ombudsman's 19 February 2017 request for information (page 217).

In the Commission's view, Ms Wilson's conduct in instructing that the 2014 DSS legal advice be withheld from the Ombudsman was not motivated by doubt as to whether the opinion fell within the scope of the Ombudsman's request for information. Rather, it was motivated by a concern that the Ombudsman might be made aware that averaging was being used to determine social security entitlement under the Scheme Royal Commission into the Robodebt Scheme in circumstances where DSS had obtained advice that the practice was unlawful. Ms Wilson's behaviour in this regard was an attempt to conceal critical information from the Ombudsman (page 218).

By the time of DSS's response to the Ombudsman's 19 February 2019 request for information, DHS had independently provided the Ombudsman with an Executive Minute signed by the Hon Scott Morrison MP on 20 February 2015. On 24 February 2017, Ms MacLeod sent a further information request to DSS referring to the Executive Minute and the notion of legislative change. DSS emailed a response on 1 March 2017 with an explanation (page 219).

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

Attached to the 1 March 2017 correspondence was a document that combined the 2014 and 2017 DSS legal advices. The DSS explanation was dishonest. The assertion to the Ombudsman that, in developing the measure, 'DHS took DSS's concerns into account and made adjustments to the process' was plainly false (page 219).

DSS attempted to and did conceal critical information from the Ombudsman and represented that the Scheme was lawful (page 220). The Commission is satisfied that the behaviour of Mr de Burgh, Ms Wilson and Ms Halbert in making the false representations and concealing critical information was designed to, and did, mislead the Ombudsman in the exercise of his functions (page 221).

At 5:16 pm on 1 March 2017 Mr de Burgh sent a copy of the DSS response to the Ombudsman to Mr Stipnieks of DHS, copied to Ms Halbert and Mr Hurman, and said, 'Thanks for the conversation earlier today.' Mr Stipnieks replied and copied in Ms Musolino and Michael Robinson (National Manager, Ombudsman and Information Release Branch, DHS). Ms Musolino must also have suspected that the 2017 legal advice referred to in Mr De Burgh's email was sought and obtained by those involved in the development and implementation of the Scheme to gain legal cover as a result of the adverse media publicity about the Scheme and the Ombudsman inquiry (page 221).

As chief counsel of DHS, Ms Musolino was responsible for the accuracy and completeness of information provided to the Ombudsman on matters of a legal nature. The Ombudsman requested legal advices about income averaging for the 2017 investigation into the Scheme by his office. Ms Musolino was aware that the Ombudsman had done so. Ms Carmody's draft advice and the Fiveash advice were within the scope of the Ombudsman's request, as Ms Musolino knew. However, she took no steps to ensure that those advices were produced to the Ombudsman.

On 10 March 2017, Ms MacLeod sent a copy of the Ombudsman's draft report to Mr Pratt with a letter inviting comments from DSS by 27 March 2017. DSS officers prepared various drafts of a response to the Ombudsman on behalf of Mr Pratt (page 222). The letter became an appendix to the final report, Centrelink's automated debt raising and recovery system, which was published in April 2017. Mr Pratt said he did not take any steps to satisfy himself that the Scheme was 'operating in line with legislative requirements.'

It can be readily accepted that as Secretary of DSS Mr Pratt was entitled to rely on the expertise of DSS staff in developing draft correspondence for him to sign. However, that does not absolve Mr Pratt of any responsibility to make inquiry before making a public, positive assertion about the lawfulness of an entire Scheme. His department held legal advice about the Scheme which demonstrated it was unlawful. Mr Pratt was not aware of that advice, but he did not take any steps to inquire about that prior to asserting the legality of the Scheme. He failed to make inquiries to satisfy himself that the representation made with respect to the legality of the Scheme in the letter he signed was correct.

The effect of Mr Pratt's letter to the Ombudsman was significant. The Ombudsman placed substantial weight on Mr Pratt's assurance that DSS was satisfied that the Scheme was operating in line with legislative requirements. Both DHS and DSS continued to cite the Ombudsman's report, including Mr Pratt's statement as to the Scheme's meeting legislative requirements, to defend the Scheme (page 223).

The report states that while DSS was engaged in conduct designed to avoid providing the Ombudsman with the 2014 DSS legal advice, DHS was also avoiding giving responses to inconvenient requests for information from the Ombudsman and taking an approach designed to obtain validation of the DHS narrative about the Scheme (page 224).

The report states that despite being aware that the Ombudsman's report did not provide an answer to the concerns raised relating to the fundamental features of the Scheme, Mr Tudge took advantage of the language used in the report to deflect criticism of the Scheme and in doing so avoided engaging with the substance of those concerns (page 226).

Other inquiries: Two further inquiries indicative of heightened scrutiny of the Scheme took place in late 2016 and early 2017: a report conducted by the Australian National Audit Office and an inquiry by a Senate Committee. Parliamentary privilege limits the uses to which evidence of those matters may be put (page 227).

External consultants: On 31 January 2017, Ms Campbell contacted Mr Terry Weber, Partner at PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC). The Commission finds that, throughout PwC's engagement with DHS, from February 2017 until the first week of June 2017, PwC employees were of the understanding that the report that they prepared over the course of the engagement was the deliverable component of the engagement described as a 'report'.

The Commission concludes that Ms Campbell made the decision that a report that had been prepared by PwC should not be finalised and delivered to DHS. The rational inference is that although the report was contracted for and all but finalised, Ms Campbell formed the view that its detail as to the deficiencies of the Scheme was damaging and that it would be better for the department's reputation, and her own, if it were not produced (page 237).

Administrative Appeal Tribunal (AAT) Cases: The report references that there were a number of decisions of the AAT in 2016 and 2017 that set aside DHS decisions involving income averaging. It refers to the decision of 8 March 2017 as a significant decision relevant to Robodebts more generally. Relevantly, the 8 March 2017 decision concluded that income averaging was unlawful because it provided an insufficient evidentiary basis for the calculation. There was no appeal from the 8 March 2017 decision. As Elizabeth Bundy (National Manager of Appeals Branch, DHS) accepted, so much is an admission of the correctness of the decision.

It may be inferred that it was obvious to Ms Bundy that the 8 March 2017 AAT decision and the others identified in the AAT OCI Case Summaries document were significant. One might expect that, consistently with her role as National Manager of the Appeals Branch, she would have read the 8 March 2017 decision and taken steps to understand its implications, including, if necessary, obtaining legal advice about whether it had significance for the lawfulness of debt decisions made under the Scheme. Ms Bundy did not do those things. The Commission regards this as another instance of DHS officers failing to critically reflect on serious challenges to the fundamental underpinnings of the Scheme. This was a function of the culture within DHS which did not allow for those officers to undertake any such reflection (page 240).

Ms Bundy provided Ms Musolino with the AAT OCI Case Summaries on 19 April 2017 and an update on 18 May 2017. Accordingly, the Commission finds that Ms Musolino became aware of the 8 March 2017 decision by no later than 18 May 2017 when she received the further updated version of the AAT OCI Case Summaries document containing reference to it, which stated that there were no grounds for appeal of that decision.

It was Ms Musolino's responsibility to ensure that systems were put in place that would enable the Legal Services Division to monitor legal issues arising from AAT decisions so that DHS and DSS were properly advised about those issues. Ms Musolino accepts that she failed to do so (page 240).

2017 AIAL conference: At the AIAL conference on 20 July 2017, Peter Hanks KC presented a paper about the Scheme. At DHS, Mr Stipnieks provided Ms Musolino with a summary of what Mr Hanks said in his presentation in a series of emails sent in real time during the delivery of the paper at the conference. Ms Musolino provided Ms Campbell and Mr Hutson a summary of what Mr Hanks had said, based on Mr Stipnieks's summary, by email at 8:41 pm that evening.

In submissions made by her solicitors, it was said that Ms Campbell had not actively chosen not to take further action in light of Mr Hanks' criticisms; no such proposal was raised with her by the lawyers responsible for doing so. The Commission does not accept these submissions. It is the apparent lack of interest by Ms Campbell in the arguments expressed by Mr Hanks that is of concern (page 242).

Ms Musolino's duty as general counsel of DHS was to ensure that appropriate and documented legal advice was provided to DHS executives, including Ms Campbell and Ms Golightly. That advice would have been that the arguments articulated by Mr Hanks raised serious questions as to the legality of the Scheme and that external legal advice ought to be sought by DHS. The only rational explanation for Ms Musolino's failure to give that advice is that she knew DHS executives, including Ms Campbell, did not want advice of that nature.

Mr Porter gave evidence that in his view the matter 'ought to have been brought to at least Mr Tudge's Secretary [at the time of the presentation] or even to [his own] attention.' Mr Tudge's evidence was that consideration ought to have been given to raising the matter with him. It seems that both ministers accept that the matter was not properly dealt with. That is a symptom of DHS's lack of engagement with the arguments raised and DSS's apparent ignorance that they had even been made (page 242).

Transition to Secretary Leon at DHS: Ms Campbell was the Secretary of DHS from March 2011 to 17 September 2017 and the Secretary of DSS from 18 September 2017 to July 2021. Renee Leon was appointed Secretary in September 2017 and commenced in that role in October 2018. Ms Leon's appointment to the role as Secretary of DHS represented the end of Ms Campbell's tenure in that role. Ms Campbell had been responsible for a department that had established, implemented and maintained an unlawful program. When exposed to information that brought to light the illegality of income averaging, she did nothing of substance. When presented with opportunities to obtain advice on the lawfulness of that practice, she failed to act (page 243).

Chapter 8: 2018 – the Robodebt Scheme roles (pages 257–279)

This chapter outlines that Michael Keenan became Minister for Human Services on 21 December 2017. He was provided with the Executive Summary of the Commonwealth Ombudsman's 2017 Investigation Report in a briefing pack for January meetings with the secretary and deputy secretaries of his department. In evidence, Mr Keenan confirmed that he 'would have read the Ombudsman's report;' indeed, he said that he had placed reliance on it. If he had considered the Ombudsman's report closely, Mr Keenan would have seen that it did not at all say what was attributed to it in the Incoming Minister Brief (page 260). The report notes that ACOSS raised concerns with Mr Keenan (page 261).

Introduction of labour hire workers: During the Scheme, DHS increased its reliance on employing short-term contract ('non-ongoing') employees and in 2018 began using the services of labour hire companies to fill staffing shortfalls. Renée Leon, Secretary of DHS from September 2017, explained that the government was forced to abandon the idea that almost all the reviews in the Robodebt reviews would take place online, and had to instead put in place capacity for recipients to call and speak to a staff member. At the same time, the government did not want to increase APS numbers for this role, so the work of departmental staff was to be undertaken by labour hire, referred to in some documentation as the 'C1000'. Ms Leon gave evidence of the difficulties associated with the introduction of labour hire staff (page 262).

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

Another 2018 development in the Scheme was the expansion of the scope of interest charges on debts raised under the Scheme. It was something that had been decided on before Mr Keenan commenced as Minister for Human Services. In the 2015-16 MYEFO, the government had decided to apply interest charges (which had previously applied to some recipients of student payments) to social welfare recipients to encourage them to pay their debts or enter repayment arrangements. The report states it does not appear that the minister, or anyone in his department, turned their mind to whether the Commonwealth was doing the right thing (or even the legal thing) by demanding payment of the debts in the first place (page 264).

On 29 June 2018, Mr Keenan approved a proposal to enable the imposition of departure prohibition orders on individuals with debts raised under the Scheme, saying, in giving his approval, 'We can go harder with this measure' (page 266).

In October 2018, the Ombudsman commenced an implementation investigation into the extent to which DHS had implemented the recommendations contained in the 2017 Ombudsman's report, and the extent to which the intended outcomes had been achieved. As part of that investigation, the Ombudsman's office sought a detailed update from the department about the application of the 10% penalty fee.

Questions about legality – Professor Carney's decision: Throughout 2018, Professor Terry Carney continued in different ways to oblige DHS to consider (and dodge) the question of legality. Ms Musolino sent Ms Leon an email about the case on 26 February 2018, noting that it contained comments critical of the OCI process. Ms Leon responded by email dated 1 March 2018, asking 'Did we make an error?' and requested a copy of the decision. Ms Musolino answered Ms Leon by email dated 6 March 2018, attaching a copy of Professor Carney's decision. Her opinion was that DHS had not made any error; it had based its decision on the information that it had at the particular time. This was at a time when Ms Musolino was aware that DHS's own analysis in January 2017 had not identified any convincing argument in favour of income averaging and knew that DSS had conflicting advices about it in the form of the 2014 DSS legal advice and the 2017 DSS legal advice. Ms Leon relied upon Ms Musolino's opinion. This was early in her tenure as Secretary; it was reasonable to rely on her chief counsel's advice about the implications of AAT decisions (page 268).

On 4 April 2018, an article by Professor Carney, The New Digital Future for Welfare: Debts Without Legal Proofs or Moral Authority, was published (page 269).

At about the same time, during one of their regular monthly meetings, Ms Leon said, she sought reassurance from Ms Musolino, asking more than once whether '... [we] were confident that the program was lawful?' to which Ms Musolino replied in the affirmative. On Ms Leon's account, when pressed for a basis for that confidence, Ms Musolino informed her '... that it was a long-standing principle of administrative law that a decision-maker is entitled to rely on the best available evidence at the time.' People were given the opportunity to update their information.

The expression 'best evidence available', as has already been pointed out, has no particular legal status and illuminates nothing; what is necessary is the best evidence which can actually support the decision to be made. As an experienced lawyer, Ms Musolino should have known better.

Unlike Ms Campbell and Ms Golightly, Ms Leon had not been involved in the development and implementation of the Scheme. As a relatively new DHS secretary she needed, and may have welcomed, frank and candid advice about the weakness of the legal position regarding income averaging and the need to obtain independent legal advice. Ms Musolino, however, was in a difficult position. In 2017, she had represented to Sara Samios [acting Assistant Secretary, OLSC] that there was no 'significant legal issue' arising from the Robodebt Scheme; she had not put in place systems to ensure that legal issues arising from AAT decisions were monitored; and she had not advised DHS executives of the weakness of the DHS legal position and of the need to obtain independent legal advice. Appropriate advice to Ms Leon now would give rise to questions as to why it was not provided in 2017, with the prospect of criticism and possible discipline by her employer. Instead, Ms Musolino emphatically represented to Ms Leon that the DHS legal position in respect of income averaging was strong, when she had no reasonable basis to do so (page 270).

The Carney article also caught the attention of DSS employees, one of them Kristin Lumley (Assistant Director, Payment Integrity, Payment Conditionality, Design and Policy Branch, DSS). Ms Lumley had held concerns about the lawfulness of income averaging in the Robodebt Scheme since early 2017, and those concerns had strengthened in April 2018 when she became aware of Professor Carney's article. She had sought approval to seek external legal advice, which was declined.

However, by May 2018, Allyson Essex (Branch Manager, DSS) also had concerns that the process of income averaging as it was used in the Robodebt Scheme might not be lawful. Somewhere around 9 July 2018, while she was Acting Group Manager of DSS's Welfare and Housing Group, Ms Essex instructed that legal advice be obtained on the lawfulness of income averaging.

Ms Lumley gave the necessary instructions to two DSS lawyers, Anne Pulford and Anna Fredericks, on 11 July 2018. Clayton Utz provided its advice, in draft, by email to Ms Fredericks on 14 August 2018. According to Ms Essex, she discussed the Clayton Utz advice with Nathan Williamson (DSS) during one of their regular meetings, within a week of the meeting with her own team (page 272). Mr Williamson gave different evidence, denying that he had made the statements Ms Essex attributed to him. He did not become aware of the Clayton Utz advice until November 2019 (page 273).

On 11 September 2018, prompted by Ms Lumley, James Kemp, who was then Acting Branch Manager, raised the Clayton Utz advice with Ms Essex. Ms Essex agreed that a ministerial submission should be prepared outlining the advice and the issues that it raised (page 273). Ms Essex in turn handed over the Group Manager role to Brenton Philp, and claimed in evidence that she raised the Clayton Utz advice, and the fact that a ministerial submission was to be prepared, with him during the handover. Mr Philp said he did not recall ever being informed of, discussing, or reading the Clayton Utz advice, which he said he would have recalled, given its significance to the Robodebt Scheme. He pointed to an email Ms Essex sent him on 28 November 2018 with the subject matter 'robo debt – context', in which she recounted the government's enthusiasm for ensuring the integrity of the welfare system and described enhancements to the Scheme, without a word of the Clayton Utz advice.

At some time, possibly in November 2018, Ms Lumley provided Ms Essex with a hard copy folder containing a chronology she had prepared, listing various legal advices related to Robodebt, and all the advices, including the Clayton Utz advice. On 11 December 2018, Ms Lumley became more concerned about the fate of the Clayton Utz advice and she emailed Philip Moufarrige (Ms Lumley's Director) who forwarded her email to Ms Essex on 11 December 2018.

The evidence before the Commission suggests that by the time of the 11 December email, nothing was in fact being done with the Clayton Utz advice (page 274).

The Commission accepts the evidence of Mr Philp and Mr Williamson that they were not told about the Clayton Utz advice. There is a pattern of inconsistency and evasiveness which emerges from Ms Essex's evidence. She had done nothing to have the advice finalised and briefed to those who most needed to know about it: the Minister for Social Services, Mr Fletcher; the Secretary, Ms Campbell; and the Deputy Secretary, Mr Williamson. It may be that, having been responsible for procuring an advice she must have realised would be highly problematic for Ms Campbell, Ms Essex dithered about what to do with it for months until she left the department and it was no longer her problem.

The Clayton Utz advice was never finalised, despite DSS paying the firm's invoice. Consistent with what appears to be the usual practice within the Australian Public Service, the DSS legal unit left it to the officers within DSS who had requested that the advice be obtained to decide what to do with it. Ultimately, that was nothing. More than a year after DSS received the Clayton Utz advice in draft, the Scheme was continuing and debts were still being raised unlawfully against social security recipients on a massive scale (page 275).

The Check and Update Past Income (CUPI) program: Compliance reviews within the system, which had come to be known as the Check and Update Past Income platform, commenced on 2 October 2018. Under the EIC, the percentage of recipients that were issued with an initial letter, but did not have a debt raised against them, was approximately 48%. Over the EIC and CUPI iterations of the program, across the 2017–18, 2018–19 and 2019–20 financial years, the percentage rate at which averaging was used in the calculation of debts ranged between approximately 52% and 66% (page 276).

Mr Keenan's performance as minister: During his tenure as Minister for Human Services, Mr Keenan became aware that, under the Scheme, averaging was being used to determine social security entitlement, and he knew it could produce inaccurate debts. DHS did not properly brief him, however, on the controversies associated with the lawfulness of averaging. He was told, instead, that the legal basis for the Scheme was 'sound' and that the Ombudsman had endorsed the capacity of the Scheme to accurately determine debts (page 278). Given that there was reason to question the Scheme's legality, the implications of illegality were dire, and further hardship was being inflicted by his department on those affected, Mr Keenan failed in his responsibility as minister to satisfy himself that his department was acting lawfully (page 279).

Chapter 9: 2019 – The end of Robodebt (pages 285–317)

The Robodebt Scheme remained just as troubled in 2019. A number of events demonstrate that although some years had passed since the Scheme's inception, it continued to be plagued by problems (page 287). On 4 February 2019, Ms Masterton filed an originating application for judicial review in the Federal Court. Her application challenged a decision by the Secretary of DHS to raise and recover from her an alleged debt resulting from overpayment of social security benefit.

Shortly after the filing of Ms Masterton's application, on 9 February 2019, DHS conducted a recalculation of Ms Masterton's debt.

On 22 February 2019, Mr Manthorpe sent Ms Leon the Draft Implementation Report, which concerned the implementation of recommendations in the Ombudsman's April 2017 Report. Mr Manthorpe gave Ms Leon an 'opportunity to comment' on the Draft Implementation Report including on the legality. Ms Leon met Mr Manthorpe on 1 March 2019 to discuss the matters raised in his 21 February 2019 correspondence and DHS's attitude in respect of the Draft Implementation Report. Ms Leon's evidence was that she expressed views to Mr Manthorpe consistent with the recommendation in the brief she had been given – that is, that Part 4 should be removed from the Draft Implementation Report (page 290).

There is evidence that, in a meeting on 7 March 2019, Ms Leon agreed to the suggestion from Mr Ffrench, that comprehensive advice from AGS in relation to prospects in the Masterton litigation should be sought. On 8 March 2019, Ms Leon sent email correspondence, prepared by Mr Ffrench and others, to Mr Manthorpe. In it, Ms Leon made comments about the Draft Implementation Report and expressed concern about the inclusion of Part 4 including that, 'our position is and remains that the legal position in relation to the program is not uncertain.' Those representations were significant. Firstly, Ms Leon was placing pressure on Mr Manthorpe to refrain from commenting on the legality of the Scheme on the basis that doing so had the capacity to influence or prejudice the Court's decision-making process. Secondly, she had represented to

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

Mr Manthorpe that DHS was satisfied there was no doubt or uncertainty about the legal position of the Scheme: that is, that it was lawful.

The pressure that Ms Leon had placed upon the Ombudsman had the desired effect. By email to Ms Leon dated 13 March 2019, Mr Manthorpe indicated that he had decided to remove the 'section on the "legality" issue' from the report (page 291).

In the Commission's view, Ms Leon's request to Mr Manthorpe to remove comments concerning legality from the Draft Implementation Report was not borne of any genuine concern to preserve the integrity of the Court's decision-making processes in the Masterton litigation. Rather, it was designed to avoid public and political scrutiny of the Scheme. Ms Leon's representations to the Ombudsman about the possible effect of those comments on the Masterton litigation were misleading and made without any proper basis (page 292).

In the Commission's view, Ms Leon represented to Mr Manthorpe that the lawfulness of the Scheme was 'not uncertain' in circumstances where:

- there was no legal or factual basis for that position
- Ms Leon had been in receipt of information prior to her representations to Mr Manthorpe that would have been sufficient to raise doubts in the mind of any reasonable person that the lawfulness of the Scheme was certain
- Ms Leon had not made proper inquiries to satisfy herself that there was sufficient basis to make that assertion to Mr Manthorpe.

The representation made by Ms Leon to Mr Manthorpe in March 2019 that the lawfulness of the Scheme was 'not uncertain' was misleading.

On 27 March 2019, AGS provided the Draft AGS advice. It was sent to Ms Leon on the same date (page 294).

In accordance with the recommendation in the Draft AGS Advice, DHS set about briefing the Solicitor-General to provide advice on the lawfulness of averaging to determine social security entitlement.

On 29 March 2019, Mr Manthorpe provided Ms Leon with an embargoed version of the Implementation Report concerning 'Centrelink's Automated Debt Raising and Recovery System' (the Embargoed Implementation Report). What had appeared as Part 4 to the Draft Implementation Report had vanished from the final report. Ms Leon failed to advise Mr Manthorpe after she received the 27 March 2019 advice from AGS on 29 March 2019 that her description of the position in relation to the legality of the Scheme was wrong.

In the Commission's view, Ms Leon's failure to advise Mr Manthorpe that her previous representation to him in relation to the legality of the Scheme had no proper basis was, in its effect, misleading, and denied him any opportunity to reconsider his findings. It was not sufficient for Ms Leon to rely upon other DHS officers to bring to her attention the need to correct the record (page 295).

The Commonwealth's approach to the Masterton case revealed a good deal about its motives and designs. The fundamental question in the proceeding was whether averaging could be used to determine social security entitlement. Through the Draft AGS Advice, DHS had been given a strong indication of what the answer to that question was. Armed with this knowledge, it was for DHS to decide how it wished to proceed. To fall on its sword and concede was one option. To allow the Court to decide the issue upon a contested hearing was another. Both scenarios would likely have exposed the unlawfulness of the Scheme to the world, vindicating those who had been critical of the program since its inception.

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

But DHS's strategy was designed not only to avoid a judicial determination of the fundamental question, but also to ensure that the Commonwealth was not forced to show its hand.

The Commission does not ascribe any bad faith to Ms Leon in the making of this decision. She was acting upon advice from DHS officers. But in a broader sense, the Commonwealth's behaviour in using its powers in an attempt to frustrate Ms Masterton's objective was disingenuous. It was consistent with the Commonwealth's continuing desperation to paper over the fissures in the Scheme's foundations; fissures that were becoming more and more difficult to conceal (page 297).

On 6 June 2019, Deanna Amato filed an originating application for judicial review in the Federal Court. As in the Masterton case, the Commonwealth took steps in the Amato case to avoid a determination on the lawfulness of averaging (page 298).

On 11 June 2019, the Hon Stuart Robert MP, Minister for Human Services, was given a brief on the Masterton case.

Mr Robert was not, at any point, provided with a copy of the Draft AGS Advice. In evidence, Mr Robert emphasised that it would be extraordinary if an advice of such significance as the Draft AGS Advice were not presented to him as minister as part of a written brief. The Commission's view is that, remarkable though the failure to provide the Draft AGS Advice in written form to Mr Robert was, he was nonetheless informed of its existence and effect on 4 July 2019 (page 300).

Mr Robert explained his interview statements as being part of his duty to defend the government's programs, which Cabinet solidarity required ministers to do whether they agreed with the programs or not (page 301). It can be accepted that the principles of Cabinet solidarity required Mr Robert to publicly support Cabinet decisions, whether he agreed with them or not. But Mr Robert was not expounding any legal position, and he was going well beyond supporting government policy. He was making statements of fact as to the accuracy of debts, citing statistics which he knew could not be right. Nothing compels ministers to knowingly make false statements, or statements which they have good reason to suspect are untrue, in the course of publicly supporting any decision or program (page 302).

On 27 March 2019, Ms Leon had been provided with the Draft AGS Advice, which while expressing the view that Ms Masterton had good prospects of succeeding her claim based on averaging, recommended that, before any decision about the implications for and the steps to be taken in respect of the Scheme as a whole, senior counsel's advice, possibly from the Solicitor-General, be obtained. There was a five-month delay in preparing and delivering the brief (page 303).

Given her position as Secretary of DHS and then Services Australia, it was Ms Leon's responsibility to ensure that the Solicitor-General was briefed as a matter of urgency (page 303).

Services Australia received the advice of the Solicitor-General (the Solicitor-General's Opinion, or the Opinion) on 24 September 2019. Ms Musolino gave Ms Leon a copy of the advice the same day. Given the significance of the Solicitor-General's Opinion to the Scheme and to government more broadly, it was imperative that the Opinion be acted upon as soon as practicable. Instead, there was substantial delay before Services Australia acted on the Solicitor-General's Opinion in any meaningful way. Mr Robert was not made aware of the Opinion until 29 October 2019 and DSS received it on 7 November 2019 (page 305).

On receipt of the Solicitor-General's Opinion, according to Ms Leon, Mr Robert responded: 'Legal advice is just advice.' Mr Robert said he did not recall any conversation with Ms Leon on 29 October 2019. The evidence points to Mr Robert's recollection being flawed on this point. Nevertheless, the Commission does not consider that the evidence justifies attaching any significance to it (page 307).

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

What is more important is Ms Leon's delay in telling Mr Robert and Ms Campbell about the Solicitor-General's Opinion. Ms Campbell was not told it had been received until 7 November 2019. Having received the Solicitor-General's Opinion, Services Australia was obliged to do two things as a matter of urgency. The first was to provide Mr Robert with a copy of it. He was the minister responsible for Services Australia and had to deal with the significant implications that the advice posed for Services Australia's activities. The second was to provide the Solicitor-General's Opinion to DSS. It was the owner of the legislation under which the Scheme had been established. Services Australia's obligation to provide DSS with the Solicitor-General's Opinion was codified by paragraph 10.4 of the Legal Services Directions 2017 (page 208).

In relation to the delay of informing DSS and Mr Robert, the Commission stated that there is no suggestion that Ms Leon was acting in bad faith at any time. It is possible that her hesitance in passing on the Opinion to the minister and her colleague at DSS was, at least in part, symptomatic of a culture at Services Australia and DSS that discouraged the conveying of adverse information; a culture that existed long before Ms Leon's tenure as Secretary (page 311).

Mr Robert's diary note for 8 November 2019 records that on that day, Mr Robert met with Ms Leon, formally instructed her to cease the use of PAYG data 'for the sole or partial use of raising welfare debts' and informed her that he would be noting the instruction and putting it in writing.

Ms Leon gave a different account of the 8 November meeting. According to her, she said to Mr Robert words to the effect: '[T]he best course is to apologise to our customers, to admit the error, and to inform customers and staff of the steps we will take to correct the error.' She alleged that Mr Robert responded, 'We absolutely will not be doing that, we will double down' and expressed an intention to '...find other means or other sources of data that could enable decisions to continue to be taken to identify debts.'

Before the ERC meeting on 12 November 2019, Mr Robert, Ms Leon, Dr Baxter, Mr Ffrench and others met in the Cabinet anteroom. The evidence of all those present, including Mr Robert, was that he asked the Attorney-General whether he agreed with the Solicitor-General's Opinion and the latter answered that he did (page 312).

The expression 'double down' (which the Commission finds probably was used) should not be taken as Mr Robert's or the government's rejection of the Solicitor-General's Opinion in respect of income averaging. It is likely to have been used in the sense that the government would find other means of debt recovery and had no intention of admitting error, let alone apologising (page 315).

On 11 October 2019, DHS obtained advice from Counsel in relation to the Solicitor-General's Opinion and its impact on the Masterton proceeding. That advice said that:

- there was no 'material factual difference between the circumstances applicable to Ms Amato's case and those upon which the opinions in the SG Advice were expressed'
- the Commonwealth did not have 'a properly arguable defence to Ms Amato's claim' and that 'every endeavour should be made to resolve the matter' (page 316).

The cessation of averaging in November 2019 represented the beginning of the end for the Scheme. On 19 November 2019, the day on which Mr Robert announced that debts would no longer be raised solely on the basis of income averaging, a class action, Prygodicz v Commonwealth of Australia, was commenced, seeking various forms of relief in respect of debts raised unlawfully under the Scheme.

The Scheme was closed altogether on 30 June 2020. The government's decision to halt the Scheme signalled the end of a 'shameful chapter in the administration of the Commonwealth social security system' and 'a massive failure of public administration' (page 317).

Section 3: Effects of the Scheme

Chapter 10: Effects of Robodebt on individuals (pages 325–342)

This chapter outlines the effect of the Scheme on individuals. This includes the:

- barriers to engagement with the Scheme
- general stigma associated with the receipt of social security payments
- effect of unfair accusations
- financial effects of the Scheme
- effect of withholdings, garnishees and departure prohibition orders
- Scheme's emotional and psychological effects, including distress, trauma, anxiety, suicidal ideation and suicide
- loss of faith in government that the Scheme generated.

It states that at the heart of the massive failure of public administration that was the Robodebt Scheme were the social security recipients who were targeted by what the former Minister for Social Services, the Hon Alan Tudge, described as the 'new tool... making a major contribution to the Government's fraud and non-compliance savings goals,' a 'great example of the Government using technology to strengthen our compliance activities with faster and more effective review systems,' (page 326).

Social security recipients include some highly vulnerable groups: people who need access to the system at times of crisis because they are experiencing disadvantage, which might be due to physical or mental ill-health, financial distress, homelessness, family and domestic violence, or other forms of trauma (page 326).

While DHS made some attempt to exclude or deal differently with people classified as 'vulnerable' in the operation of the Scheme, using vulnerability indicators, it was a hopelessly inadequate means of protecting that cohort (page 326). Government agencies failed to consider the additional challenges for recipients who lived rurally or remotely when designing and implementing the Scheme.

In the context of the Scheme, stigma was exacerbated by the political narrative. Ministers did not distinguish between fraud cases and inadvertent overpayments, which were inevitable in a system where reporting was complicated by the fact that most recipients' income was irregular and employment periods did not align with social security reporting periods (page 330).

Many recipients experienced severe and long-lasting effects of being wrongly accused of owing a debt under the Scheme. They described feeling vilified and worn-down. That distress compounded the stigma generally experienced by recipients of social welfare (page 331).

Some witnesses reported that the stress of a debt demand actually led them to consider suicide (page 337).

The Commission heard evidence from the mothers of two young men caught up in the Scheme. They gave evidence on their sons' behalf, because their boys had died by suicide. The Commission is also aware of another tragic death that appears to have resulted from a discrepancy letter issued under the Scheme in 2017 (page 337).

The Commission is confident that these were not the only tragedies of the kind. Services Australia could not provide figures for the numbers of people who committed suicide as a result of the Scheme. To be fair, it is difficult to see how such information could be reliably gathered. In any case, it does little for the families of those who have died to speak of their loss in terms of numbers. What is certain is that the Scheme was responsible for heartbreak and harm to the family members of those who took their own lives because of the despair the Scheme caused them. It extends from those recipients who felt that their only option was to take their own life, to their family members who must live without them.

DHS had a responsibility to deal sensitively with those people relying on its services, and to provide support rather than inflicting distress (page 337).

The harmful effects of the Scheme were not confined to the raising of inaccurate or non-existent debts. The blunt instrument of automation used to identify and communicate the possibility of overpayment was inept at determining vulnerability. Empathy could not be programmed into the Scheme (page 340).

Chapter 11 – the concept of vulnerability (pages 347–356)

This chapter considers the approach of DHS in identifying and dealing with vulnerability in the context of the Scheme and the effect that this had on current and former income support recipients. It also addresses changes that should be made to Services Australia's practices in order to ensure that vulnerabilities are properly identified and managed (page 349).

The evidence before the Commission suggested that there were deficiencies in the identification of vulnerable recipients and in the assistance offered to those recipients who were identified as having vulnerabilities (page 352).

Although DHS used vulnerability indicators as a method of identifying recipients who might require additional support under the Scheme, not all vulnerability indicators were considered to be relevant for this purpose. For instance, it was decided within DHS that vulnerability indicators for released prisoners and people with significant caring responsibilities were not relevant in the context of compliance reviews (page 353).

Although a recipient's record displayed historical vulnerability indicators, the evidence suggests that at least during some periods of the Scheme's operation, recipients were only offered a staff-assisted review where they had a current vulnerability indicator (page 354).

During the OCI phase of the Scheme, vulnerable recipients who were offered a staff-assisted review received an initial letter that was different from the standard version issued under the Scheme (page 354).

It is an unfortunate reality that Services Australia must be selective in providing additional assistance to only those recipients who are most in need of it. That makes it all the more important to give careful consideration to determining who will require that additional assistance and what it must entail so that it provides real, practical support (page 355).

Chapter 12: the role of advocacy groups and legal services (pages 361–378)

Once the Scheme was operational, and problems with the Scheme were becoming increasingly apparent, advocacy groups began to direct feedback and complaints about the Scheme to ministers and senior officers at DHS. Those complaints fell on deaf ears (page 363).

The Commission heard from a number of advocacy organisations and groups about how they had tried to be heard and were ignored or dismissed. They included:

- Australian Council of Social Service (ACOSS)
- #NotMyDebt
- Economic Justice Australia (EJA)
- Council of Single Mothers and their Children (CSMC)

- Victoria Legal Aid (VLA).

The lack of consultation with relevant advocacy groups, before and during the Scheme, exemplifies one of many instances in which a possible safeguard against the catastrophic results of the Scheme was rendered ineffective. It evidently suited the government's agenda in pursuing the Scheme to not engage with advocacy groups who might – and did – raise the fundamental failings of the Scheme (page 373).

Current state of engagement with advocacy bodies – accounts from DSS and Services Australia

The Commission received a statement from Raymond Griggs AO CSC, the current Secretary of DSS. According to Mr Griggs, DSS regularly engages with key stakeholders, including ACOSS, EJA and the Federation of Ethnic Communities' Councils of Australia (FECCA).

The Commission also received a statement from the Chief Operating Officer of Services Australia, Rebecca Skinner. Ms Skinner assured the Commission that: "Services Australia has continued to mature its approach to the research and design of our services, embedding the customer voice in the earliest stages of our decision making, working in partnership with our Policy partners and listening to feedback to improve our services." (page 374).

Though the Commission acknowledges that regular engagement between Services Australia and peak advocacy bodies, such as EJA and ACOSS, does exist, there is room for improvement in how such consultation is managed. For example, both EJA and ACOSS highlight challenges in dealing with Centrelink directly, with enquiries only able to be filtered through the Civil Society Advisory Group, and then only by email. The government should consider establishing a customer experience reference group, with membership nominated by national peak bodies representing people in vulnerable cohorts who have had the experience of claiming and receiving social security income support payments (page 377).

Chapter 13: Experiences of Human Services Employees (pages 383–394)

This chapter lists those who gave evidence and were frontline staff.

It discusses the impacts of the Scheme on DHS employees, including its effects in:

- increasing staff work load
- imposing a cultural shift that placed pressure on staff
- elevating the level of welfare recipient distress
- requiring specific training, which some staff considered was not provided adequately
- involving an increase in labour hire arrangements
- resulting in a deterioration in staff morale.

The chapter also considers the criticisms of the Scheme that staff raised and the department's reaction to those criticisms.

The Commission does not assume that the evidence it received from staff is indicative of the universal experience of staff during the Scheme, and the findings in this chapter should be viewed through the lens of this qualification. However, the Commission must base its findings on the evidence before it. The theme of submissions received by, and evidence given to, the Commission is that staff were impacted by the introduction and sustained implementation of the unlawful Scheme (page 386).

A number of DHS staff gave evidence to the Commission of particularly disturbing or upsetting recipient interactions in relation to the Scheme: '[I] experienced listening to multiple suicide attempts over the phone and I have been diagnosed with PTSD since I finalised my work with Centrelink,' (page 388).

The evidence indicated that these staff members felt they were at risk of making incorrect decisions and providing incorrect advice to clients about their rights and obligations (page 389).

The experience of some staff was that they felt ill-prepared to support vulnerable, disadvantaged and at-risk recipients, and ill-equipped to deal with recipients who presented with mental health concerns, including the intention to self-harm or suicide (page 389).

Following the implementation of the Scheme, and in response to increased demand for compliance services as a result, labour hire staff were brought in by DHS. The Commonwealth has told the Commission that the government has committed to reducing reliance on contractors, consultants and labour hire staff as part of its APS Reform agenda (page 390).

There was a lack of consultation with DHS frontline employees and stakeholder groups prior to the implementation of the Scheme (page 392).

From early 2017 onwards, the CPSU were informed by their members of their serious concerns about the Scheme and the treatment of employees in DHS. The CPSU's advocacy involved media releases, open letters, and formal correspondence with ministers and DHS executives, with little meaningful response received (page 393).

The evidence before the Commission suggests that the Scheme had a deleterious impact on the well-being and morale of some of the employees who were involved in its implementation and operation (page 394).

The Commonwealth has told the Commission that since the conclusion of the Scheme, Services Australia has made some improvements, including by looking to focus on customer-centred design; reducing the use of labour hire staff; improving Agency culture and leadership, including by the implementation of leadership sessions and training on escalating issues; and introducing internal mechanisms for making and resolving complaints (page 394).

The Commission notes this response from the Commonwealth. These improvements may go some way to avoiding a repetition of the difficulties and distress that employees experienced under the Scheme (page 394).

Chapter 14: Economic costs (pages 399–416)

This chapter reviews the economic costs of the Scheme, as required by the Commission's terms of reference. This encompasses the intended and actual outcomes of the Scheme, including the approximate costs of implementing, administering, suspending and winding back the Scheme, as well as costs incidental to those matters, such as obtaining external advice and legal costs.

Over the period of 2014–15 to 2021–22 the Scheme was budgeted to generate savings of $4.772 billion, but is estimated to have delivered a saving of $406.196 million. The Commonwealth incurred estimated total costs of $971.391 million in implementing, administering, suspending and winding back the Scheme (including incidental costs) (page 401).

The net cost of the Scheme is approximately $565.195 million, which represents the net impact of its estimated total costs of $971.391 million offset by the estimated savings of $406.196 million. The Commonwealth accepts that figure as correct, based upon the information and evidence before the Commission (page 401).

Chapter 15: Failures in the Budget process (pages 420–437)

The chapter begins with an overview of the Budget process, including how the assessment of legal risk in the Budget process occurs.

In the context of the 2015–16 Budget timetable, the development of the Strengthening the Integrity of Welfare Payments (SIWP) measure took place within an accelerated timeframe. A number of people involved in the creation of the SIWP measure accepted that the measure was developed within tight timeframes, and email exchanges in the period in which the measure was developed confirm as much. However, the evidence before the Commission also indicates that this was not unusual in the development of new government policies (page 427).

The Commission accepts that constrained timeframes may not be unusual in the Budget process. However, it is clear that the interval during which the SIWP measure was developed and approved was too compressed, given its scale and complexity (page 427).

Some DHS employees sought to minimise the significance of the SIWP measure by reference to the breadth of the 2015–16 Budget and the number of other measures that were put forward by the Social Services Portfolio in that Budget (page 429).

The Budget process is designed to safeguard Cabinet decision-making by ensuring the rigorous assessment of new government proposals and the identification of associated risks and impacts (page 430).

In the case of the SIWP measure, it is clear that the Cabinet process did not meet these expectations. There were several failures in the process that meant that Cabinet was not in a position to properly understand the nature of the proposal and the legal, financial and policy risks associated with it (page 430).

With respect to the identification of legal risks associated with the SIWP proposal, the Budget process fell down in two interrelated respects:

1. The SIWP proposal was able to proceed to the ERC without the NPP indicating that legislative change would be required to implement the proposal, despite the existence of legal advice to that effect.
2. The question ‘Is legislation required?’ within the Checklist was relied upon as meaning that legal advice had been obtained and was to the effect that the implementation of the proposal would not require legislative change.

The 2014 DSS legal advice concluded that the proposal to use income averaging to determine and raise debts would not be consistent with the existing legislative scheme (page 430).

Had DSS been required to include the relevant legal advices in the Portfolio Budget Submission alongside the NPP, this may have prompted questions as to whether the advice still applied and if not, what had changed in the mechanics of the proposal. This would have required DSS and DHS to explain the departure from the legal advice, and it may well have become obvious at that time that there had been no material change to what was proposed and legislative change was in fact still required. If DSS had instead procured advice of the quality of the 2017 DSS legal advice and sought to rely on it, it is unlikely that it would have withstood scrutiny by AGS, other agencies and Cabinet (page 431).

Evidence given to the Commission suggests that there were reservations within DSS about circulating the 2014 DSS legal advice outside of the department. It was common practice within DSS not to share legal advice unless it was asked for, which stemmed from a general view about the need to maintain legal professional privilege over the advice.

The legal soundness of this position seems doubtful, as the privilege over advice provided to a department is held by the Commonwealth, and advice can therefore be shared between departments without any waiver of privilege. It follows that there is no reason that legal advice given to a department could not be provided to other departments as part of the Budget process (page 431).

There was considerable focus in the course of the Commission on the questions which appeared under the heading ‘Legislation’ in the Checklist, and in particular, the third of those questions: ‘Is legislation required?’

The ambiguity of the Checklist and seriousness of the matter with which the question is concerned – the legality of a proposal – necessitates that any identifiable uncertainty is resolved. That is particularly so where, as here, subsequent ministers may assume that a high degree of rigor attended the Cabinet process when it otherwise did not (page 431).

The Standard, specific language on legal risks in the NPP Checklist should be sufficiently specific to make it obvious on the face of the document what advice is being provided, in respect of what legal risks and by whom it is being provided (page 432).

There were a number of underlying flaws in Budget assumptions which can be readily identified (pages 432–434).

What has become clear on the evidence before the Commission is that those projected savings to government were a fundamental driver in the inclusion of the measure in the 2015–16 Budget, although the proposal was in an embryonic stage of development and had not been the subject of adequate testing or consultation (page 434).

Mr Pratt said that the selection of which savings proposals to pursue would involve a degree of ‘political consideration’ as to which measures would be likely to pass the Senate and the extent to which the projected savings from the measure would be ‘worth the political pain associated with them,’ (page 435).

The pressure to deliver savings offsets in the 2015–16 Budget dictated the course of the Budget process in respect of the SIWP measure and ultimately resulted in the measure being brought forward when those involved in its design did not consider it to be ready (page 346).

Section 4: Automation and Data Matching

Chapter 16: Data matches and exchanges (pages 445–463)

This chapter is about data matches and exchanges under the Scheme.

The Scheme was underpinned by a data-matching program involving the ATO and DHS. The program was designed to identify former and current income support recipients with alleged discrepancies between their earnings as reported to DHS and their employment income annually reported by employers to the ATO. In this chapter, the Commission considers the data-matching processes which underpinned the Scheme (page 447).

In late 2016, following a spike in media stories and complaints about the Scheme, the ATO started asking for information about how DHS was handling the data that the ATO had disclosed to it under the Scheme (page 455).

Despite these events and the concerns raised by the ATO, the data-matching program continued. Open and transparent communication between Commonwealth entities engaging in data-matching programs is necessary to ensure that each participating entity understands, and undertakes proper scrutiny and evaluation of, the legal and administrative framework in which is operating with respect to data-matching activities. There were, as Services Australia acknowledged, limitations to the inter-agency collaboration in relation to the data-matching under the Scheme; and, as it also accepted, better lines of communication and transparency between DSS, DHS and the ATO would have aided DHS's understanding of its legislative obligations in relation to its processes (page 456).

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

In late 2016 and early 2017, DHS received repeated media requests to disclose or publish the 2004 Protocol. This prompted DHS officers to review the 2004 Protocol, at which point it was realised that it had not been updated to reflect the OCI program and consequently was not compliant with the Information Commissioner's Guidelines.

DHS received internal legal advice to the effect that there was no legal obligation to publish the 2004 or the 2017 protocols, but it would be appropriate to publish both. The ATO was not consulted about or informed of the publication of the 2017 Protocol (page 456).

Dr Elea Wurth, a partner from Deloitte Risk Advisory Pty Ltd, who the Commission engaged to provide expert analysis on the technical structure of the Scheme, found that historical data was migrated by DHS. DHS also used historic data (or at least a subset of the original matched data) which, according to the 2004 Protocol, it should have destroyed, to form the basis of its proposal to 'clean up' 860,000 discrepancies under the Scheme.

The Commission accepts Dr Wurth's findings and infers from this evidence that DHS warehoused the PAYG matched data it collected from the ATO to use under the Scheme instead of destroying it (page 457).

Services Australia told the Commission that with improved technology options, DHS was able to store greater volumes of data and consider how a greater volume of discrepancies could be addressed. Because DHS had made no decision to take action on the available data matches, and as such, it continued to hold the data pending action.

DHS was also not complying with the 2004 Protocol because under the Scheme, it was no longer undertaking manual review of discrepancies resulting from the data-matches (page 458).

The 2017 Protocol amended the document retention clause to read: "All external data received from the ATO that is no longer required is destroyed in line with Guideline 7 of the Information Commissioner's Guidelines on Data-matching in Australian Government Administration."

The Voluntary Data-matching Guidelines do not permit retention and storage of data for undefined periods of time on the basis that no decision has been made to take further action. Guideline 7.5 provides that where a match occurs in the data matching cycle, a decision as to further action should be taken within 90 days of the data matching cycle. That makes it clear that an entity cannot, consistently with that guideline, hold data 'awaiting action'" (page 458).

Dr Wurth reported that there was a lack of proper governance, controls and risk management measures in place under the Scheme. She found the governance, controls and risk management instruments were inadequate to ensure PAYG program compliance with the Framework Documents (page 460).

The Commission was advised that since the Scheme, the ATO has introduced an operational risk management framework for data sharing, including a data ethics framework. The Commission has not received that framework into evidence and makes no findings as to its adequacy. However, given that Services Australia and the ATO continue to engage in a data exchange programs (see below), the Commission considers that it is incumbent on Services Australia and the ATO to ensure that that program has in place adequate governance, risk management and controls (page 460).

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

Section 355-25 of TAA53 provides that it is an offence for an ATO officer to disclose information about a taxpayer's affairs unless that disclosure is permitted by one or more of the exceptions in Division 355 of TAA53. Consequently, an ATO officer responsible for a disclosure is required to assure themselves that a proposed disclosure is lawful (i.e. supported by an exception in Division 355 of TAA53) (page 460).

The ATO has argued that its use of the data collected from DHS, the matching and disclosure of matched data back to DHS under the Scheme were all lawful because of the general exception in section 355-65 of TAA53 (page 461).

In submissions, the Commonwealth's approach in relation to this provision was that:

"The ATO was not obliged to be certain as to the precise manner in which DHS subsequently used data provided by the ATO and whether all the activities conducted by DHS with the data were compliant with social security law (being legislation which DSS administers, not the ATO)." (page 461).

The Commission has doubts as to the correctness of that proposition. Given the protective object of section 355-25 of TAA53, it seems strongly arguable that an ATO officer could not be lawfully satisfied that the use of the information disclosed to DHS was 'for the purposes of administering...the social security law' without being informed by DHS of how the information was to be used. It is open to doubt that the ATO was so informed with respect to the Scheme (page 461).

The Commission considers that there is a serious question as to whether information was lawfully disclosed by the ATO to DHS for the purpose of data matching under the Scheme (page 461).

The evidence before the Commission also suggests that there may have been breaches of the APPs under the Privacy Act, in relation to disclosures/collections by the ATO and DHS for the purpose of data matching in the Scheme (page 461).

PAYG data matching between the ATO and Services Australia no longer occurs as it did under the Scheme. In July 2019, the STP (Single Touch Payroll) Interim Solution commenced (page 462).

The Robodebt Scheme manifested many flaws across the period in which it operated, and the examples outlined above demonstrate that the data-matching process was no exception. Some of those problems were confined to processes that were in place at the time of the operation of the Scheme. Some of those processes still operate today (page 463).

Chapter 17: Automated decision-making (pages 469–488)

Within six months of the Scheme being launched, it was being heralded as a technological triumph (page 471).

Evidence before the Commission shows the degree to which income support recipients found themselves bewildered by, and unable to navigate, DHS processes relating to debt raising. At times it was impenetrable (page 477).

The Commonwealth Ombudsman, in his 2017 Investigation Report into Centrelink's automated debt raising and recovery system, highlighted the principles from the ARC's 2004 Report Automated Assistance in Administrative Decision-Making: 'good public administration requires that administrative decision making is consistent with the administrative law values of lawfulness, fairness, rationality, transparency and efficiency.' He found that, in the context of the Scheme, 'risks could have been mitigated through better planning and risk management arrangements at the outset' and that 'DHS did not clearly communicate aspects of the system to its recipients and staff which led to confusion and misunderstanding,' (page 481).

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

The chapter refers to single touch payroll (STP) and advice from the Australian Government Solicitor (AGS). It states that the Commission has not undertaken a comparative analysis of the STP process as compared to the process that existed under the Scheme and accordingly draws no conclusions as to the extent of the applicability of the findings in the AGS STP advice to that process. However, it notes that there are similarities in the data exchange process that raise the possibility that the issues identified in the AGS STP advice may have been present prior to the introduction of the STP (page 482).

The complexity and incohesiveness of the legislative landscape in respect of automated decision making indicates that oversight is warranted, and the Robodebt experience demonstrates the need beyond argument. This was a massive systemic failure, on which the availability of individual recourse to review could make no impression (page 484).

To date, there has been inconsistency in the legal status of automated decision making in Australian Government agencies. Numerous Commonwealth laws have been amended to establish a basis for automated decision making, but these amendments have been piecemeal, across a wide body of legislation, and without the necessary further amendments establishing standards for which decisions should be automated and which should not; and appropriately designed systems for transparency, review and appeal (page 485).

The Commission considers that transparency regarding the use of automation in decision making, and the ability of affected persons to review such decisions, are vital safeguards in the use of automated decision making (page 486).

The automation used in the Scheme at its outset, removing the human element, was a key factor in the harm it did. The Scheme serves as an example of what can go wrong when adequate care and skill are not employed in the design of a project; where frameworks for design are missing or not followed; where concerns are suppressed; and where the ramifications of the use of the technology are ignored. The current practice of amending individual pieces of legislation when needs arise – when a new program is implemented, for example – is an exercise in patching over problems rather than addressing the fundamental need for a consistent approach. Government is currently considering questions of regulation and governance to mitigate potential risks from AI and automated decision making and enable trust in AI and automation; which is, in turn, ‘needed for our economy and society to reap the full benefits of these productivity-enhancing technologies.’

A strong theme in submissions received by the Commission – more explicitly put by some submitters, and implicit in the submissions of others – is that the rule of law must not be derogated from in the pursuit of efficacy through automation.

In designing and operating systems using automation, government must conform with the legal framework in place at the time. The not very startling proposition is that government programs must be lawful and lawfully administered. While the fallout from the Robodebt scheme was described as a ‘massive failure of public administration’, the prospect of future programs, using increasingly complex and more sophisticated AI and automation, having even more disastrous effects will be magnified by the speed and scale at which AI can be deployed and the increased difficulty of understanding where and how the failures have arisen (page 488).

Section 5: Debts

Chapter 18: Debt recovery and debt collectors (pages 497–509)

This chapter outlines the role of debt collectors in the scheme and the involvement of DHS in these debt collectors carrying out services they were engaged to provide.

It notes that: DHS routinely engaged the services of the external debt collectors to recover debts raised under the Scheme and DHS was closely involved with the external debt collectors that it engaged, and some of the practices that it encouraged were insensitive and ill-considered (for example, mandating that recipients be warned of the severe measures that could be taken against them if they failed to pay), particularly for the cohort of people that it affected (page 499).

The Commission outlines when debts were referred to debt collectors (page 500).

The report notes that DHS engaged each debt collector on a commission basis under the deeds. This meant that they earned more money the more debt they recovered. DHS also afforded the collection agencies additional time to try to recover the balance of a referred debt in circumstances where they managed to secure partial recovery (page 506).

The Commission has found that it was DHS that designed and managed the Scheme's debt recovery process and it was DHS that closely managed every aspect of the collection agencies' engagement with people under the Scheme.

It is now proposed that the same agency conduct that process in house. It would be understandable, given what transpired under the Scheme, if people found it difficult to trust that Services Australia will sensitively and lawfully manage its debt recovery processes. The Commission expects that Services Australia will deliver training to its debt recovery staff, which is appropriately adapted to the circumstances and vulnerabilities of the population it serves, and which will not use training material and call-scripts that place too much emphasis on the consequences for non-compliance (page 508).

Section 6: Checks and balances

Chapter 19: Lawyers and legal services (pages 517–543)

This chapter outlines considerations with respect to government lawyers. It states that it is apparent that the professional independence of both agencies' in-house lawyers was compromised in relation to the Scheme. The Commission agrees with Chris Moraitis' (former Secretary of AGD) observation in the 2016 Secretary's Review of Commonwealth Legal Services that: 'little progress has been made to develop a single unifying professional ethos and this has undermined the efforts that in-house legal areas have taken to support their lawyers.'

This chapter also considers the many failures of DSS and DHS to disclose significant legal advices to each other and to report the question of the legality of income averaging in the Scheme as a 'significant issue' to the Office of Legal Services Coordination (OLSC) in 2017 (page 519).

DHS lawyers gave evidence of their perception that, even where they sought to act independently, they were constrained by the culture of the department which discouraged this behaviour (page 521).

The report notes that the position that income averaging was a long-standing, lawful practice was so entrenched within DHS that lawyers at all levels were unable to question it in accordance with their professional obligations.

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

Ms Musolino demonstrated a tendency to accommodate DHS's policy position in the face of conflicting advice and to advocate for the department's position rather than independently considering it (page 522).

The Commission considers the culture at DSS prevented lawyers from being independent.

The most significant manifestation of this was the provision of the 2017 DSS legal advice. The Commission has found (in 'Chapter 7: 2017, Part B – Inquiries and investigations') that the conduct of the principal legal officer who provided that advice was influenced by pressure to meet 'the departmental business need' for a legal justification for what it was doing, placed upon her by Ms McGuirk (page 523).

The Commission supports the establishment of the AGLS; however, it notes the AGLS General Counsel charter says nothing about professional independence. At Services Australia, the chief counsel is now included as a member of the Executive Committee, thus reinforcing the office holder's role as the legal adviser to the Executive. At DSS, the chief counsel has been upgraded to an SES Band 2, supported by two deputy chief counsels (page 524).

The Commission is concerned that these developments do not guarantee there is sufficient separation between the head of the agency and the chief counsel to ensure there is no expectation of loyalty by the chief counsel to the agency head. It is important that the chief counsel of an agency is appointed by an independent and robust process, to guard against the possibility that the secretary favours the appointment of someone who will be compliant and protect their (the secretary's) position. The Commission supports a specialist panel member from the AGS for the selection of chief counsel (page 525).

In-house lawyers took a remarkably passive approach to the provision of legal advice in relation to the Scheme.

What is truly striking about the advices and legal commentary the Commission has seen is that for all the many DHS and DSS lawyers involved, so little attention was paid to the provisions of the social security legislation which actually governs entitlement, payment, authority to require information, debt recovery and imposition of penalties.

Another alarming feature is the practice of leaving advices in draft form rather than finalising them and ensuring that senior departmental officers saw them. As agencies with a high volume of intersecting work, you would think that advice prepared by DSS and DHS on common topics would be disclosed between the two agencies, at the very least to avoid duplication of work. Indeed, it was required to be disclosed under the Legal Services Directions (page 526).

The Commission recognises that there may be circumstances where it is reasonable to obtain advice in draft to allow further clarification of facts, issues and instructions. However, unless there is very good reason, the advice should always be finalised, and if it is not, that very good reason should be documented (page 527).

The evidence before the Commission demonstrated a number of failures by DSS and DHS to comply with the requirements set out in the Legal Services Directions (Directions), particularly in relation to:

- The requirement for agencies to report as soon as possible significant issues that arise in the provision of legal services, especially in conducting litigation, to the Attorney-General or the OLSC and to regularly update the OLSC on any developments involving that significant issue.
- The requirement for agencies in particular circumstances to consult with each other on advice, and disclose it once received (page 529).

In relation to Direction 10.1 of the Directions, DSS was at all relevant times the agency which administered the Social Security Act 1991 and Social Security (Administration) Act 1999. Under the Directions, if DHS wished to obtain legal advice on the interpretation of that legislation, it was required to consult with DSS (page 530).

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

Direction 10.8 of the Directions requires an agency which receives legal advice that it considers likely to be significant to another agency to take reasonable steps to make that legal advice available to that agency. The purpose of the requirements in the Directions to disclose and consult on advice is to promote consultation between Commonwealth agencies on the interpretation of legislation with the aim of reaching consistency in statutory interpretation across the Commonwealth and to facilitate a whole-of government approach. There is no published guidance on these obligations.

This is not a new problem. The Blunn Kreiger Report also noted that there is evidence of agencies withholding information and advice from other agencies, regardless of any wider Commonwealth interest, where they perceive sharing it may not be in the particular interest of the agency.

This kind of disconnect persisted between DHS and DSS throughout the Scheme. The Commission heard that there had been historic difficulties about which agency had control or ownership of information that was shared between DHS and DSS and that there was frequently tension between the two departments around advice concerning the social security law. This lack of cooperation had significant consequences for the Scheme (page 531).

The 2014 DSS legal advice was clearly significant to DHS. Given the significance of the 2014 DSS legal advice to DHS and to the DHS proposal, it was imperative that DSS took reasonable steps to promptly make the 2014 DSS legal advice available to DHS in accordance with Direction 10.8 of the Directions. It did not do so (page 532).

The controversy about the accuracy of, and legal basis for, the use of averaging to determine social security entitlement under the Scheme constituted a 'significant issue' in the provision of the aforementioned legal services for the purposes of para. 3.1 of the Directions. The Commonwealth agreed in its submissions that DHS and DSS should have collaborated in or about January 2017 to ensure that a significant issue report was submitted to OLSC about the Scheme (page 533).

In the Commission's view, the controversy about the accuracy of, and legal basis for, the use of averaging to determine social security entitlement under the Scheme constituted a 'significant issue' in the provision of the aforementioned legal services for the purposes of para. 3.1 of the Directions.

The Commission's view is that there was a preliminary view formed within the OLSC that the Scheme involved a relevant significant issue. That was despite the fact that the OLSC had not been informed of any specific provision of legal services (page 537).

In light of this, there was cause for alarm within the OLSC that DHS considered there were no legal issues and that there was no legal advice pertaining to the Scheme. This was a major missed opportunity. Both DHS and DSS had taken steps to obtain legal advice about the lawfulness of averaging in January 2017 (page 538).

The Commission acknowledges that had the OLSC pursued the matter further, the answer may have remained the same. In any event, the OLSC is not a regulator with investigative functions or the power to compel the production of a significant issues report. The decision not to pursue DHS for a significant issues report was made following a conversation Ms Samios recalls having with Ms Musolino. This was in keeping with OLSC's facilitative approach to supporting agency compliance. The conversation was not recorded in an email or file note. As Ms Samios agreed when asked, it would have taken two minutes to type an email to confirm what was discussed. Such an email would at least have required Ms Musolino to confirm her view in writing.

The Commission considers a further obligation should be imposed on the chief counsel to ensure the Directions are complied with and to document significant interactions with OLSC about inquiries made, and responses given, concerning reporting obligations under the Directions (page 538).

The OLSC did not seek to ask questions of DSS as the agency responsible for social security policy and legislation. Had DSS been engaged, it would have been difficult for lawyers from that department to assert that ‘there were no legal issues’ and no legal advice, given the existence of the 2014 DSS legal advice and the understanding of some DSS staff that income averaging as it was being used in the Scheme, was unlawful. The Commission appreciates, however, that the OLSC may not have been familiar with the relationship between the agencies and the division of responsibility between them (page 538).

Had the high-level emerging issues associated with the Scheme been reported to the OLSC as a significant issue in early 2017, the Scheme may have ended earlier than it did (page 539).

The Secretary’s Review recommended that the Directions be reviewed and simplified, and noted that there is an opportunity to provide greater certainty of the OLSC’s authority to enforce compliance with the Directions, with clearer consequences for non-compliance.

More significant advices not disclosed included:

- Clayton Utz from 2018 advice (page 541)
- the draft AGS advice on Masterton (page 541)
- the Solicitor-General’s Opinion (page 542).

Both DSS and Services Australia drew the Commission’s attention to changes underway following the recommendations of a review conducted by the Australian Government Solicitor (AGS) into the legal functions of DSS and Services Australia (page 543). That review made 38 recommendations, the implementation of which is continuing. The Commission endorses increased collaboration between the agencies.

Chapter 20: The Administrative Appeals Tribunal (pages 551–566)

The Commission’s terms of reference required it to inquire into how the Australian Government responded to adverse decisions made by the Administrative Appeals Tribunal (the AAT), how the government responded to legal challenges or threatened legal challenges and whether the government sought to prevent, inhibit or discourage scrutiny of the Scheme, whether by moving departmental or other officials or otherwise (page 553).

The report notes there is no obvious reason that AAT1 decisions involving significant points of law or policy in social security matters should not have been published, anonymised to preserve the privacy of applicants. Publishing reasons in such cases would promote uniformity in decision-making, and allow public scrutiny and wider community understanding of how the AAT was applying law and policy (page 554).

Standing Operational Statements – Social Security Litigation (SOS) described a process that was largely aimed at managing individual AAT decisions between the DHS and DSS.

The Commission considers that the SOS process was inadequate to monitor AAT decisions for referral in any effective way and that there was no system or policy in place to allow DHS or DSS to systematically review AAT decisions; monitor statements of legal principle emerging from AAT decisions; consider how any guidance the AAT gave could improve decision-making; raise significant cases with senior officers in DHS or DSS; or generally exchange information about AAT decisions with each other (page 555).

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

On 8 March 2017, Professor Carney handed down his decision, in which he set aside the DHS decision, having reached a reasoned conclusion that income averaging based on PAYG data could not provide a sufficient evidentiary basis to prove an overpayment or give rise in law to a debt. DHS did not appeal the decision. In the AFAR concerning it, a DHS lawyer concluded that there was no error of law that affected the decision and that there were no grounds for appeal and a PGL agreed with it (page 558).

The report (page 559) provides that:

One is entitled to be cynical about the proposition that the failure to appeal sprang from concern for the wellbeing of applicant recipients. It does not, for example, really seem to have been foremost in the mind of the legal officer who prepared the Advice on Further Administrative Review (AFAR) on the 4 May 2018 decision. But assuming it was genuinely a factor in decision making, it could not be a 'paramount' consideration; the Litigation Principles required that it be weighed against the wider concerns identified above. Here the legality of a government program was at stake, but DHS appears to have disregarded that aspect altogether.

Consistent with DHS's obligation to act as model litigant in proceedings before the AAT, officers of the Commonwealth must use their best endeavours to assist the AAT to make its decision in relation to the proceeding. That includes ensuring that the AAT has all relevant information and bringing the AAT's attention to arguments of the other side where it appears the AAT has overlooked them.

The fact that DHS did not pursue appeals of AAT1 decisions was also relevant information for AAT members; it would have provided a strong indication of DHS's level of confidence in the lawfulness of income averaging. It was a fact that would not generally be known to AAT members. DHS's failure to inform the AAT of the decisions, and that it had not pursued appeals of them, deprived AAT members of information relevant to the discharge of their function and undermined consistency in AAT decision-making. It also advantaged DHS by rendering members of the AAT and the public, including social security recipients, less likely to be aware of the reasoning in the decisions and of the fact (from the absence of appeal) that DHS lawyers likely considered that reasoning to be legally correct.

The Commission does not accept the Commonwealth's submission that DHS's failure to inform the AAT of the decisions was not a breach of the model litigant obligation (page 559).

DHS was required to report to OLSC proceedings concerning debts raised under the Scheme and its preparation of legal advice in the form of AFARs following AAT decisions but DHS did not report any of the AAT decisions concerning the Scheme to the OLSC (page 560).

The report provides that 'DHS felt free to reject the reasoning in those decisions because it was not uniformly adopted by all AAT members, and DHS considered itself entitled to continue its practice of income averaging under the Scheme,' (page 561).

The Commission notes: section 43(1)(c)(ii) of the AAT Act empowers the AAT to set aside the decision under review and remit the matter for reconsideration in accordance with any directions or recommendations of the Tribunal. The intent of the provision is plainly that the department or agency concerned will undertake any reconsideration in the way the AAT proposes (page 561).

The 8 March 2017 decision directed DHS not to recalculate the social security recipient's debt with income averaging but to recalculate it using fortnightly salary records obtainable in the exercise of DHS's statutory powers.

The directions of the AAT prohibited the use of averaging. That prohibition was clear and unqualified. Beyond those directions, it was clear from the reasoning of the decision, which found the practice of averaging to be unlawful.

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

The Scheme was launched in circumstances where the DSS legal advice was that income averaging, as it was used in the Scheme, was not in accordance with the legislation, and DHS had not obtained any relevant legal advice. The AAT1 decisions confirming that averaged PAYG data alone did not constitute evidence of fortnightly income earned, derived or received, as the Social Security Act required, should have reinforced that original advice and caused DHS and DSS to reconsider the legality of the Scheme.

Instead, DHS chose not to recommend any challenge to those decisions, explicitly or tacitly accepting them as legally correct, but implementing them only as far as was convenient and disregarding their effect for the purposes of the Scheme as a whole.

DSS took no active role, apart from discontinuing an appeal in the 4 May 2018 decision, which, as the AFAR astutely noted, would have brought the illegality issue into the public arena and undermined the ‘whole approach’ of the OCI phase of the Scheme. Because the adverse decisions were not published, they were not publicly accessible. DHS was able to take advantage of that situation; in the narrower sense, by not bringing them to the attention of applicants or AAT members, and in the wider sense by continuing with a Scheme based on unlawful debt raising. DSS was shielded from the adverse publicity which would certainly have followed a public understanding of what these decisions were saying and how many of them there were. Clearly, to avoid repetition of that situation, publication of significant decisions in an accessible form is desirable (page 563).

Services Australia says its Legal Services Division launched a strategy in March 2022 that entails regular liaison meetings about AAT and court outcomes with ‘internal business areas and external policy clients’ and the circulation of a quarterly newsletter containing updates on topical issues and litigation trends, including recent AAT and Federal Court decisions.

DSS says it has strengthened its litigation management processes to include monthly litigation reports provided to the secretary which cover all merits and judicial review matters managed by Services Australia, significant litigation and secretary-initiated applications for review or appeal and prosecutions. The secretary is, the Commission was told, made aware of adverse comments made by a court or tribunal about the conduct of a matter or decisions made in the secretary’s name and the secretary has meetings with the president of the AAT to discuss improvements in DSS’s general dealings with the AAT. These are encouraging developments (page 564).

The report recommends reinstatement of the Administrative Review Council (ARC) (page 565).

Chapter 21: The Commonwealth Ombudsman (pages 571–599)

This chapter outlines the interaction of the Commonwealth Ombudsman with the Robodebt Scheme, commencing in January 2017. It notes that ‘this was the time when effective scrutiny by the Commonwealth Ombudsman might have made the continuation of the Scheme untenable, or at least thrown it into serious question’ (page 573).

The report discusses how information was sought from DHS for the investigation, and how it should have been sought. In particular, it notes that where palpably incomplete and inconsistent information is provided on important matters, it may be necessary to use the powers available under section 9 to compel answers as to why the obvious inconsistencies and deficiencies in production of information were occurring and to require production of the documents that were so obviously missing.

It also notes that officers at DHS took the view that the process was one of negotiation between DHS and the Ombudsman’s Office as to what should be included in the 2017 Investigation Report. There is no evidence of anyone from the Ombudsman’s Office dispelling that view.

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

The Commission does not propose to make any formal recommendation as to how the Ombudsman's Office should use section 9 in general, given the evidence of Iain Anderson, the current Commonwealth Ombudsman.

In light of the evidence of the readiness to conceal and mislead exhibited by certain departmental staff in relation to the Scheme, the Commission considers that there ought to be a clearly stated statutory duty reposed in departmental secretaries and agency chief executive officers to ensure that their departments or agencies use their best endeavours to assist in Ombudsman investigations and a corresponding duty on the part of Commonwealth public servants to use their best endeavours to assist in Ombudsman investigations. The obligation, which might be imposed in the form of an amendment to the Ombudsman Act or, alternatively, to the Public Service Act 1999 (PS Act), would not be dissimilar to that imposed on decision-makers and parties appearing in the Administrative Appeals Tribunal (AAT), to assist the AAT (page 581).

Section 14 of the Ombudsman Act enables an 'authorised person' of the Ombudsman's Office to enter premises occupied by a department to carry on an investigation in that place. The provision is expressed in similar terms to s 32 of the Auditor-General Act 1997 (Auditor-General Act), but there is no equivalent in the Ombudsman Act to s 33(3) of the Auditor-General Act, which compels the occupier to provide the authorised person with all reasonable facilities for the effective exercise of powers.

A power equivalent to that in s 33(3) of the Auditor-General Act would not, of course, be necessary if one could assume good faith participation in Ombudsman investigations. The departmental responses to the 2017 own-motion investigation make it abundantly clear that good faith cooperation cannot be assumed, although it might reasonably be expected, and that greater power is needed in what one would hope would be the exceptional case where a department or agency sets out to thwart the investigation through non-compliance or deliberate misleading. In the Commission's view, the Ombudsman should be given the additional power (page 582).

The report goes on to discuss a number of failures in conducting these investigations, these being the failure:

- to examine the Scheme's legality in the 2017 investigation report (page 586)
- to obtain legal advice (page 589)
- to refer (page 590)
- to include draft text concerning legality (page 591)
- of the 2017 Investigation Report to deal adequately with debt accuracy (page 582)
- e to correct the public record (page 594)

The report states that what is depressingly clear, however, is that the Ombudsman's Office was not able to fulfil its role in exposing maladministration over the almost three years it investigated Robodebt complaints; it took litigation to do that. Individuals who were the victims of unfair debt raising could not look to the Ombudsman's Office for relief (page 594).

It can be accepted that it is important for the Ombudsman to work cooperatively with the departments it is investigating, but it is also necessary that the Ombudsman be capable of taking a stand. Maladministration is much less likely to occur where there is an Ombudsman who is known to impose limits on the cooperative approach in an appropriate case.

In 2017 the Ombudsman knew, from the information provided pursuant to s 8 notices, that it was affecting tens of thousands of people. There had been an outcry from the public, the media, academia, advocacy groups and some politicians about its unfairness. By mid-2017 there was respectable and publicly-available legal opinion in the form of Mr Hanks' paper that it did not meet the legislative requirements (to say nothing of the less accessible AAT decisions to the same effect (of which the Ombudsman seems not to have been aware). However, successive holders of the Ombudsman's Office were hesitant to use the investigative and reporting powers the Ombudsman Act conferred when the circumstances clearly warranted it. The Scheme demonstrates the importance of a properly resourced and, more importantly, independent and robust Ombudsman. It exemplifies the social importance and economic sense of having such a person in the role. The Ombudsman could have played an important part in stopping a poorly thought-through and, worse, illegal program from proceeding at grave personal cost to thousands of individuals and at enormous public expense (page 599).

Chapter 22: The Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (pages 607–627)

This chapter considers the roles that the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (OAIC) and the former and current Information Commissioners played in overseeing the Scheme's compliance with the Privacy Act 1988 (the Privacy Act), the voluntary Data-matching Guidelines and the Privacy (Tax File Number) Rule 2015 (TFN Rule).

By way of background, the report notes that in the 2015–16 mid-year economic forecast (MYEFO), the OAIC received funding of $4.7 million across the years 2015–16, 2016–17, 2017–18 and 2018–19, to provide oversight of privacy implications arising from DHS's Enhanced Welfare Payment Integrity – non-employment income data matching (NEIDM) Budget measure.

As part of the OAIC's oversight role under the Enhanced Welfare Payment Integrity – non-employment income data matching Budget measure, the OAIC conducted six privacy assessments over three years, three of which were relevant to the Scheme:

- a DHS assessment of Pay-As-You-Go (PAYG) data-matching program under Australian Privacy Principle (APP) 10 and APP
- a Services Australia assessment on its handling of personal information in respect of the PAYG and NEIDM programs under APP 11
- an ATO assessment of its handling of personal information by the PAYG and NEIDM programs under APP 11.

The report outlines the scope of these assessments, the interaction with agencies during these investigations and the findings from these assessments (page 609).

The Commission's terms of reference required it to investigate and report on 'how risks relating to the Robodebt scheme were identified, assessed and managed by the Australian Government.' Both Timothy Pilgrim, the former Information Commissioner and Privacy Commissioner, and Angelene Falk, the current Information Commissioner and Privacy Commissioner, declined to provide witness statements and to attend the Commission and give evidence (page 609).

The Information Commissioner's decision to conduct three limited scope assessments (rather than investigations) of DHS's and the ATO's processes under the Scheme meant that the Information Commissioner did not have the power to:

- compel production of records or information, or
- investigate potential interferences with privacy and if appropriate make enforceable determinations.

It also meant that the Information Commissioner had limited opportunity to consider whether the various collections and disclosures of personal information which attended the data-matches and data exchanges under the Scheme were compliant with:

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

- the APPs in the Privacy Act
- the Guidelines on data matching in Australian Government Administration 2014 and/or
- the TFN Rule (page 609).

The Commission does not propose to make any findings in relation to Ms Falk or Mr Pilgrim personally (page 610).

The Information Commissioner and Privacy Commissioner told the Commission that the OAIC's preferred regulatory approach is to facilitate voluntary compliance with privacy obligations and to work with entities to ensure compliance and better privacy practice and prevent privacy breaches (page 627).

The Commission appreciates the OAIC's preference for educative and preventative action by conducting assessments under the Privacy Act. However, as noted in the ALRC Report, the OAIC needs to be prepared to adopt a more formal regulatory posture where there is a 'reasonable' apprehension of possible interferences with the privacy of an individual.

The Information Commissioner could have decided to undertake an own-motion investigation into either DHS or the ATO or both on the basis of a reasonable apprehension that one or more interferences with the privacy of individuals was suspected, but did not do so. Instead, the Information Commissioner decided to proceed wholly by way of assessment of limited aspects of the Scheme on the assumption that this was the preferable course for achieving its aims in terms of compliance and education about the APPs in the Privacy Act. In conducting the three assessments under the Privacy Act, the Information Commissioner did not have the power to compel DHS to produce documents.

The Commission's findings about the possible breaches of the APPs in the Privacy Act in 'Chapter 16: Data matching and exchanges' are significant and arise in the context of repeated and voluminous exchanges of personal information and data matches conducted by DHS and the ATO under the Scheme (page 627).

With the benefit of hindsight, it is apparent now that the OAIC approach, particularly in light of the substantial media attention and criticism around the Scheme, was too muted to meet the circumstances. Its three assessments, each with a narrow scope, were of little real consequence. What was occurring in the data matching under the Scheme was not given the examination which it needed and which could, with the use of the OAIC's full investigative powers, have occurred (page 627).

Section 7: The Australian Public Service

Chapter 23: improving the APS (pages 635–647)

Chapter 23 discusses the failures of public administration that led to the creation and maintenance of the Scheme.

The current state of public service reform

The report notes that the Thodey review, published on 20 September 2019:

- affirmed the 'basic role' of the APS is to provide robust and evidence-based advice to ministers, frankly and freely
- included the codification of new 'principles' in the Public Service Act to complement the existing APS values, and further training concerning the roles and responsibilities regulating interactions between ministers, their advisers and the APS
- recommended the implementation of a more robust set of processes relating to the appointment, termination and performance management of secretaries.

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

The report outlines the implementation of the recommendations of the Thodey Review thus far, including the proposed amendments to the PS Act through the Public Service Amendment Bill 2023 (Cth).

The report welcomes the establishment of the National Anti-Corruption Commission (NACC) and notes the establishment of the APS Integrity Taskforce on 8 February 2023.

The Thodey Review also recommended that the Public Service Act be amended to give the APS Commissioner own-motion powers to initiate investigations and reviews. It envisaged that the expansion of the responsibilities and functions of the Australian Public Service Commissioner (APSC) would complement the NACC, which will have been established by the time this report is published. The Commission agrees with this recommendation (page 638).

Structural relationships between Social Services and Services Australia

The report outlines the division of responsibilities of DSS and DHS during the life of the Scheme, noting fundamentally that DSS was responsible for policy while DHS was responsible for service delivery. It also discusses the division of portfolio responsibilities from 2004 that led to ‘creative tensions’ between portfolios (page 639).

The Commission expresses the view that a chasm between DSS and DHS, and a lack of clearly identified responsibilities was, in the Commission’s view, a contributing factor to the Scheme’s establishment and continuation. Despite the prescribed division of their responsibilities and how the relationship between agencies was defined, the Scheme and its underlying policy was developed primarily by DHS, with DSS kept on the periphery (page 639).

The report cites evidence from Rebecca Skinner, CEO, Services Australia and Secretary Griggs, DSS, in relation to ‘tension’ between the respective agencies. In particular, that Mr Griggs’ view was that if the NPP (that informed Cabinet’s decision to approve funding for the Scheme) had been led by DSS, ‘the chances of the right advice being provided to government would have been higher.’

The Commission notes that the creation of Services Australia as an executive agency in February 2020 went some way in reversing those circumstances and that the present government has undertaken to implement a number of the recommendations made by the Thodey Review, although it is not clear to what extent any formal organisational review is underway (page 639).

The Commission recommends that the government undertake an immediate and full review of the structure of the social services portfolio and of Services Australia as an entity (page 639).

Public Service employees

The Commission notes that:

- The idea for the Scheme was conceived by employees of DHS who failed to recognise its inconsistency with social security legislation, its incompatibility with an underlying policy rationale of that legislation and the cohort of people it was likely to affect.
- Its continuation was enabled and facilitated by employees who disregarded the considered views of the Administrative Appeals Tribunal, deceived the Commonwealth Ombudsman and failed to give frank and fearless advice to the executive.

The findings in this report evidence a failure of members of the APS to live up to the values and standards of conduct expected of them by the Australian community, which are expectations set out in the Public Service Act, the APS Code of Conduct, the PGPA Act and the PID Act.

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

The Commissioner agrees with Andrew Podger's statement that more needs to be done to ensure APS employees (in particular secretaries, the SES and executive level officers) appreciate their statutory and other responsibilities.

The Commissioner also agrees with the recommendation of the Thodey Review that the APSC should deliver whole-of-service induction on essential knowledge required for public servants, with participation required to pass probation (page 641).

Senior executives and secretaries

The Commission heard evidence about APS leaders (both secretaries and SES leaders) being excessively responsive to government, undermining the concept of impartiality and frank and fearless advice. For example, when the Scheme was developed in 2015, the New Policy Proposal was apt to mislead the Expenditure Review Committee and Kathryn Campbell (Secretary, DHS) did not take any steps to correct that misleading effect.

The Commission notes that the current government has emphasised that the public service must be empowered to be honest and truly independent. It has asked the Public Service Commissioner to ensure that SES performance assessments cover both outcomes and behaviours. In the Commission's view, this does not go far enough.

The Commission endorses a number of recommendations made in the Thodey Review in relation to secretarial appointments that should be revisited. These include that the:

- PM&C Secretary and APS Commissioner agree and publish a policy on processes to support advice to the Prime Minister on appointments of secretaries and the APS Commissioner
- PM&C Secretary and APS Commissioner undertake robust and comprehensive performance management of secretaries
- PM&C Secretary and APS Commissioner publish the framework for managing the performance of secretaries under the Public Service Act
- PM&C Secretary and APS Commissioner ensure that robust processes govern the termination of secretaries' appointments.

The Commission notes that the extent to which these recommendations have been endorsed by the government is unclear (page 643).

Former employees

The report discusses the power of section 41B to empower agencies to determine alleged breaches of the Code by former APS employees.

The report notes, "the Public Service Commissioner may inquire into a former APS employee's conduct, but given that sanctions relating to a breach of the APS Code of Conduct can only be imposed on current APS employees, no meaningful consequence would flow from any found breach." (page 642).

It notes that in Queensland, section 95 of the Public Sector Act 2022 (Qld) provides for a disciplinary declaration if employment as a public sector employee ends, and a disciplinary ground arises in relation to that person. The declaration includes a statement of the action that would have been taken against the former public sector employee had their employment not ended. A similar consequence for APS members would be relevant and appropriate if the individual wished to re-join the APS or seek consulting work from it.

However, the position is less clear in relation to former agency heads. Section 41A of the Public Service Act, which enables inquiry into conduct by agency heads, unlike s 41B, does not use the term 'former'. The

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

Commission notes the uncertainty as to the meaning of s 41A should be resolved by further amendment (page 644).

Record-keeping failures

The report notes the following record-keeping failures (pages 645-646):

- the decision not to proceed with the acting secretary's request
- the DHS chief counsel handover meeting
- the discussion between OLSC and chief counsel, DHS
- the decision that the PwC report should not be finalised and delivered to DHS
- the decision to pay for, but not to finalise, the Clayton Utz advice.

It notes that while there is no specific policy requiring important decisions and conversations to be documented by public servants, the APS values include that the APS is open and accountable to the Australian community under the law and within the framework of ministerial responsibility, which requires being:

- open to scrutiny and being transparent in decision making
- able to demonstrate that actions and decisions have been made with appropriate consideration
- able to explain actions and decisions to the people affected by them.

Ministerial staff Code of Conduct

The role of the APS is properly distinguished from the role of ministerial staff, who provide political and policy advice to ministers and whose employment is governed separately under the Members of Parliament (Staff) Act 1984 (MOP(S) Act).

The inherently political nature of ministerial advisers' roles sets them apart from the APS and their separation is designed to enable and protect the political impartiality of the APS.

Ministerial staff are employed under the MOP(S) Act and are not subject to the APS Code of Conduct. They are employed to assist a parliamentarian to carry out duties as a Member of Parliament and not for party political purposes. In his report to the Commission, Andrew Podger AO pointed to the 'steadily increasing role and number of ministerial staff' which may lead to "excessive responsiveness by APS leaders (both secretaries and the SES who report to them) to the wishes of ministers." Such responsiveness may undermine "public confidence in the non-partisanship of the APS."

The Thodey Review and the Jenkins Review both recommended that the MOP(S) Act be amended to include a legislated code of conduct for ministerial staff and a statement of values that clarifies their distinct role from that of the APS (and the Parliamentary Service); and that the code clarify that such staff do not have authority to direct the APS.

The Commission supports this recommendation, and understands that it will be implemented by the Parliamentary Leadership Taskforce (page 647).

Closing observations (pages 655–660)

The report makes a number of observations. It provides that the Robodebt Scheme was put together on an ill-conceived, embryonic idea and rushed to the Cabinet (page 655).

The report also covers the inability to gain access to Cabinet documents and asks "whether the rationale of public interest immunity – the maintenance of Cabinet solidarity and collective responsibility – really justifies the withholding of information that routinely occurs under that mantle". The report outlines that New Zealand and Queensland publish Cabinet documents (page 656).

FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY

The report acknowledges that there may be reasons why disclosure of Cabinet documents, or parts of those documents, would not be in the public interest, such as in relation to national security, law enforcement or Australia's international relations. The report states however, the Government should end the blanket approach to confidentiality of Cabinet documents. To give effect to this, section 34 of the FOI Act should be repealed and the public interest considered in relation to confidentiality being maintained over material (page 657).

The report discusses the "non-pecuniary impacts" of the Scheme on individuals. It outlines the evidence of witnesses who spoke of the distress and damage they had suffered and the evidence of the mothers of the two young men who took their own lives. The report provides:

"That brings me to a question I have given long and careful consideration to: whether there is any practical way of setting up some sort of compensation scheme. My reluctant conclusion is that there is not."

The report states:

"On the evidence before the Commission, elements of the tort of misfeasance in public office appear to exist. Where litigation is not available, the Commonwealth does have a "Scheme for Compensation for Detriment caused by Defective Administration" (which would be a very euphemistic way of describing what happened in the Robodebt Scheme) where a person has suffered from defective administration and there is no legal requirement to make a payment. It is not appropriate to say any more on that front." (page 659).

From: Leanne Smith
To: Rosalind Croucher; Senior Management
Subject: RE: Resources discussed at Secretaries Board de-brief - Tuesday 11 July [SEC=OFFICIAL:Sensitive]
Date: Monday, 17 July 2023 11:26:42 AM
Attachments: image001.png

On Robodebt report:

An interesting potential opportunity here for us with F&E in terms of educating civil servants on human rights –

Recommendation 23.2: Obligations of public servants

The APSC should, as recommended by the Thodey Review, deliver whole-of-service induction on essential knowledge required for public servants.

From: Rosalind Croucher <rosalind.croucher@humanrights.gov.au>

Sent: Sunday, July 16, 2023 12:21 PM

To: Senior Management <seniorexecutives@humanrights.gov.au>

Subject: FW: Resources discussed at Secretaries Board de-brief - Tuesday 11 July
[SEC=OFFICIAL:Sensitive]

Dear SMG,

The de-brief of Secretaries Board last week was full of information – mainly focused on the Robodebt Royal Commission. The AGD prepared a useful summary of the report and recommendations, which is attachment 5.

I am sharing the full set of information that Katherine provided in following up after the meeting. The SES Performance leadership framework paper is also very interesting.

There's a couple of speeches – Paul Brereton, NACC Commissioner, which mentions Ben (and another one linked in Katherine's message below). It was interesting to note Brereton's reference at the end as to his appointment – fixed term, no renewal, as an aspect of his independence.

There's also a new protocol for acknowledgment of Country in the ACT. I'll give this to Commissioners as well as the Robodebt summary. Darren, perhaps you could get this through to the policy staff please?

Regards

Ros

Emeritus Professor Rosalind Croucher AM FAAL FRSA FACLM(Hon)
President

Australian Human Rights Commission

GPO Box 5218, Sydney NSW 2001

T +61 2 9284 9881 | F +61 2 9284 9611

E rosalind.croucher@humanrights.gov.au | W humanrights.gov.au

Human rights: everyone, everywhere, everyday

of the Eora Nation, and pay our respects to their Elders, past, present and future.

From: Jones, Katherine <Katherine.Jones@ag.gov.au>

Sent: Friday, July 14, 2023 2:14 PM

To: [Portfolio Agency Heads] <PortfolioAgencyHeads.DL@ag.gov.au>

Subject: Resources discussed at Secretaries Board de-brief - Tuesday 11 July
[SEC=OFFICIAL:Sensitive]

CAUTION: This email originated from outside of the organisation. Verify the sender before you click links or open attachments. Email purporting to be from staff may be an impersonation attempt.

OFFICIAL: Sensitive

Colleagues

Further to our discussion at Secretaries Board de-brief on Tuesday 11 July, I have attached the following resources:

1. s22(1) [redacted]
2. s22(1) [redacted]
3. s22(1) [redacted]
4. [redacted] s22(1)
5. Robodebt Royal Commission report and recommendations summary (developed by AGD) (attached)

Regards

Katherine

OFFICIAL: Sensitive

If you have received this transmission in error please notify us immediately by return e-mail and delete all copies. If this e-mail or any attachments have been sent to you in error, that error does not constitute waiver of any confidentiality, privilege or copyright in respect of information in the e-mail or attachments.

From: noreply@streem.com.au on behalf of Australian Human Rights Commission via Streem
To: Julie O'Brien
Subject: Commission President Daily Media Report - Wednesday 12 July 2023
Date: Wednesday, 12 July 2023 8:04:19 AM

View this email online

Commission President Daily Media Report

Wednesday 12th July 2023

48 total items

 Download Media Items in PDF

Jump to: President + Chief Executive \(0\) | AHRC \(6\) | Human Rights Statutory \(12\) | Human Rights CPR \(30\)

President + Chief Executive

0 items

No media coverage found within the selected timeframe for this section.

Back to Top

AHRC

6 items

2SM Sydney

Talk Tonight with Graeme Gilbert 5 times a week, 7:00pm to 11:59pm
11 July 2023, 10:45pm AEST

...similar to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders, It doesn't surprise me, After 94, the Australian South Sea Islander community was recognised as unique minority group following a report by the Australian Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission,
Keywords: Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

“Dear Future, I am ready” – Refugee Vigil and Exhibition Launch.

Westender by Peter Branjerdporn
Tuesday 11 July 2023, 9:29pm AEST

Survivors of Australia’s offshore refugee detention regime feature in “Dear Future, I am ready”, an exhibition of images on 19 July at St John’s Cathedral.

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Senate, Committee 109 Canberra

Senate 55 times a week, 12:00pm to 12:30pm
Tuesday 11 July 2023, 12:07pm AEST

Just finally, the Australian Human Rights Commission has made a recommendation to this inquiry that the government should mandate that all social media platforms publicly disclose the content that they're censoring and make it an offence to censor...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

ABC Radio National Australia

The History Listen Once a week, 11:00am to 11:30am
11 July 2023, 11:25am AEST

...third world power dynamics was there, The level of violence towards Filipino brides was so great that in 195, the Australian Human Rights Commission launched a study into this phenomenon, The resulting book led to a greater public awareness of the power...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Morrison was not alone: robodebt was aided and abetted by the AAT being gutted

Crikey by David Hardaker
Tuesday 11 July 2023, 10:54am AEST

The robodebt royal commission report has shown for the first time how two Coalition government scandals intersected to create an unrelenting attack on the welfare of Australia's most vulnerable. In so doing, it has revealed the true impact of...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW ONLINE

FiveAA Adelaide Adelaide

Mornings with Matthew Pantelis 5 times a week, 9:00am to 12:00pm
11 July 2023, 9:40am ACST

They're supported and they have the opportunity to be great Australians moving forward, Professor, You've put the submission for the AMA to the Australian Human Rights Commission, What now? What is the next step?

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Human Rights Statutory

12 items

ABC Northern Tasmania Launceston

Breakfast with Belinda King 5 times a week, 5:30am to 8:00am

12 July 2023, 7:32am AEST

1% of visits were delivered on time in 20, 21, 22, down from 56,2% the year before, There is a charter of rights for children in out of home care, and that includes that they have a right to speak, you know, privately with their child safety officer who...

Keywords: charter of rights (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

ABC Hobart (Hobart)

Radio 97 Tweed Heads Tweed Heads

Breakfast 5 times a week, 6:00am to 9:00am

12 July 2023, 7:31am AEST

...federal agencies, advocates are calling for more investment in department, technology and systems and for a review of the Migration Act, Ben Roberts-Smith is intending to appeal his defamation case after his historic loss, The disgraced war veteran has...

Keywords: Migration Act (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

2SM (Sydney), Radio 97 Gold Coast (Gold Coast)

2HD Newcastle

Richard and Shanna 5 times a week, 5:30am to 9:00am

12 July 2023, 7:31am AEST

...the federal agencies, Advocates are calling for more investment in department technology and systems and for a review of the Migration Act, Ben robert Smith is intending to appeal his defamation case after his historic loss, The disgraced war veteran...

Keywords: Migration Act (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

U18s denied compulsory super takes toll: ISA

Financial Newswire by Yasmine Masi

Wednesday 12 July 2023, 6:31am AEST

An ISA report found the denial of compulsory super contributions for under-18-year-old workers is costing them $10,000 by retirement.

Keywords: Australia (2), legislation (2), discrimination" (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Donald Trump Junior vs Novak Djokovic: A tale of two visas

John Menadue by Abul Rizvi

Wednesday 12 July 2023, 5:30am AEST

Donald Trump Jr and Novak Djokovic were granted visas to enter Australia. There was stark difference in how the two cases were managed.

Keywords: Australia (8), Australia's (5), Migration Act (1), Australia's (3)

VIEW ONLINE

Indigenous affairs: Barney - native tracker

Law Institute Victoria by Mark Yorston

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 9:31pm AEST

The story of Indigenous man Gary 'Barney' Owens, who came to Victoria as a member of the Queensland Native Mounted Police to help capture members of the Kelly Gang, is one we all need to hear.

Keywords: Australia (2), discrimination (1), legislation (2), Racial Discrimination Act (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Home Affairs unlawfully held 115 people over five years

The Age by Charlotte Grieve

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 7:30pm AEST

Australian citizens, migrants and refugees were illegally detained as the result of administrative and legal errors, internal documents reveal.

Keywords: Australia's Migration Act (1), Migration Act (1)

VIEW ONLINE

<!--[endif]-->SYNDICATION

Brisbane Times, The Age, The Sydney Morning Herald, WA Today

<!--[endif]-->

WE WEREN'T JUST FIGHTING FOR OURSELVES: ROBYN KENNEDY

Star Observer by JUSTIN COOPER

Saturday 1 July 2023, 12:00am AEST - Page 20

Keywords: Australia (4), discrimination legislation (1), legislation (1)

VIEW MAGAZINE ITEM VIEW TEXT

<!--[endif]-->

ALEX GREENWICH TO INTRODUCE EQUALITY BILL

Star Observer by SHIBU THOMAS

Saturday 1 July 2023, 12:00am AEST - Page 6

Keywords: BILL (4), legislation (2), Australia (1), discrimination" (1)

VIEW MAGAZINE ITEM VIEW TEXT

Snap rally denounces transphobia after Trump Jr. visit falls through

Honi Soit by Will Thorpe

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 12:14pm AEST

About thirty protestors gathered beside Tumbalong Park on Sunday night to protest transphobia. Originally billed as a protest against Donald Trump Jr. who was previously scheduled to speak in...

Keywords: Australia (8), discrimination bill (1), "Australia's (1), Bill (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Young people 'locked out' of superannuation: ISA

Financial Standard by ANDREW MCKEAN | TUESDAY

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 11:40am AEST

Industry Super Australia (ISA) is calling for a "discriminatory legal relic" that denies Australian adolescents from receiving superannuation contributions to be overturned.

Keywords: Australia (1), discrimination (1), legislation (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Koori Radio Australia

Blackchat 5 times a week, 9:00am to 12:00pm

11 July 2023, 9:19am AEST

John Kawata, who legal action against the Queensland government provided the Racial Discrimination Act was constitutional, and Dr, Evelyn Scott, a key campaigner for the 1967 referendum, All of these great indigenous heroes that we followed in their...

Keywords: Racial Discrimination Act (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Back to Top

ABC Wimmera Horsham

Breakfast with Rebekah Lowe 5 times a week, 6:30am to 8:00am
12 July 2023, 6:42am AEST

...the top focuses on labor's proposed crackdown, on misinformation and disinformation on the Internet, Now, that crackdown's been described as dangerous and something it could chill the freedom of speech in Australia, A little bit more to say about that,

Keywords: freedom of speech (1), Australia (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Why is Australia so scared?

John Menadue by Alison Broinowski
Wednesday 12 July 2023, 5:30am AEST

Australia is resisting the global trend, clinging fearfully to past assurances, and failing to change with the times.

Keywords: Australia (10), civil liberties (1)

VIEW ONLINE

With the retirement age now 67, HR should be prepared

Human Resources Director
Wednesday 12 July 2023, 5:28am AEST

'There's no legal expiry date that employers can enforce,' says employment lawyer, providing tips

Keywords: employment (3), Australia (3), discrimination (2)

VIEW ONLINE

PoliticsNow: Tech giants, lawyers warn on Labor bill

The Australian by sarah ison
Wednesday 12 July 2023, 4:35am AEST

Welcome to The Australian's rolling coverage of news from Canberra and around the country.

Keywords: freedom of speech (1), Australia (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Wednesday: Treasurer Chalmers hints at further cost-of-living relief, Legislation to combat "fake news" criticised by social media giants and lawyers, Ben Roberts-Smith appealing recent court decision that dismissed his defamation case.

Stream Daily Highlights

Wednesday 12 July 2023, 1:15am AEST

Front PagesThe Australian Financial Review reports that according to Treasurer Jim Chalmers, the federal government's budget surplus reflects responsible economic management and compassion, indicating the possibility of further cost-of-living relief if required. The budget surplus for 2022-23 is expected to...

Keywords: freedom of speech (1), Australia (1), prisoners (1), Australia's (2)

VIEW ONLINE

Closing the Gap targets trending backwards, with just four on track

NT News by Ellen Ransley

Wednesday 12 July 2023, 12:03am ACST

The gap between Indigenous and non-Indigenous Australians is failing to close, with the country tracking backwards in four key areas, a scathing new report has revealed.

Keywords: employment (2), Australia (2), discrimination (1)

VIEW ONLINE

<!--[endif]-->SYNDICATION

Cairns Post, Geelong Advertiser, Gold Coast Bulletin, Herald Sun, Mercury, NT News, News.com.au, The Advertiser, The Australian, The Chronicle \(Toowoomba\), The Courier Mail, The Daily Telegraph, The Weekly Times, Townsville Bulletin

Closing the Gap targets trending backwards, with just four on track

Kalgoorlie Miner by Ellen Ransley

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 10:32pm AWST

A damning new report has laid bare just how far Australia is lagging on its target of trying to improve the lives of hundreds of thousands of citizens.

Keywords: employment (2), Australia (2), discrimination (1)

VIEW ONLINE

<!--[endif]-->SYNDICATION

Albany Advertiser, Broome Advertiser, Countryman, Great Southern Herald, Harvey-Waroona Reporter, Kalgoorlie Miner, Midwest Times, Narrogin Observer, PerthNow, Pilbara News, Sound Telegraph, South Western Times, The Geraldton Guardian, The Kimberly Echo, The West Australian

Shocking reality facing thousands of Aussies

Yahoo! News by NCA NewsWire
Wednesday 12 July 2023, 12:30am AEST

A damning new report has laid bare just how far Australia is lagging on its target of trying to improve the lives of hundreds of thousands of citizens.

Keywords: employment (2), Australia (2), discrimination (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Country not bridging gap

The Advertiser by Ellen Ransley
Wednesday 12 July 2023, 12:00am ACST - Page 17
Keywords: employment (2), Australia (2), discrimination (1)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Failing to Close the Gap

Townsville Bulletin by Ellen Ransley
Wednesday 12 July 2023, 12:25am AEST - Page 10
Keywords: employment (2), Australia (2), discrimination (1)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Gap is still wide on key measures

Cairns Post by Ellen Ransley
Wednesday 12 July 2023, 12:19am AEST - Page 6
Keywords: employment (2), Australia (2), discrimination (1)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Daily Advertiser
Wednesday 12 July 2023, 12:19am AEST - Page 9
Keywords: Civil Liberties Australia (1)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

SYNDICATION

The Border Mail, The Daily Advertiser

'Dangerous and Orwellian': Tech giants, lawyers warn on Labor bill

The Australian by Rhiannon Down Sarah Ison
Wednesday 12 July 2023, 12:05am AEST - Pages 1 and 5
Keywords: freedom of speech (1), Australia (4), Australia" (1)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Tech giant flags fear over fake news law

The Age by Matthew Knott

Wednesday 12 July 2023, 12:01am AEST - Page 11

Keywords: Australia (2), freedom of speech' (1)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

'Closing the gap' still not a reality

The Courier Mail by Ellen Ransley

Wednesday 12 July 2023, 12:01am AEST - Page 13

Keywords: employment (2), Australia (2), discrimination (1)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

FiveAA Adelaide Adelaide

Evenings 5 times a week, 8:00pm to 11:59pm

11 July 2023, 11:03pm ACST

Breached the watchdog's rules, Senior Liberal MP Dan Teen says the legislation could impact on freedom of speech, I do have real concerns, Freedom of speech goes to the heart of who we are as a democracy, as who we are as a people,

...And anything which potentially takes freedom of speech away, I think, has to be done, With utmost caution, All doctors and nurse practitioners will soon be allowed to prescribe the pregnancy termination pill under changes to laws in Australia and Or,

Keywords: freedom of speech (3), Australia (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Sky News Radio Australia

The Front Page 4 times a week, 10:30pm to 11:00pm

11 July 2023, 10:38pm AEST

Freedom of speech in Australia that's what social media Giants and senior lawyers have warned Ollie it was really interesting to see the word shield being bandied about today in that enquiry, That was taking place, which one it Frosty at times, but...

Keywords: Freedom of speech (1), Australia (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Sky News Regional Australia

The Front Page 4 times a week, 10:30pm to 11:00pm

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 10:37pm AEST

So I think we're seeing two different narratives here, but I can definitely see these choices that millennials are making in Australia and the implications that's not unique to Australia right now. Indeed.

Labor's proposed crackdown on misinformation and disinformation on the internet is inherently wrong and a dangerous piece of legislation that could chill freedom of speech in Australia. That's what social media giants and senior lawyers have warned.

Keywords: Australia (3), freedom of speech (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

Sky News (Australia)

Labor's draft misinformation laws could undermine 'legitimate political expression', warns US tech giant Meta

Sky News by Patrick Hannaford

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 9:45pm AEST

The US-based tech giant that owns Facebook, Instagram and WhatsApp has raised concerns about Labor's proposal to combat misinformation and disinformation on social media.

Keywords: Australia (3), freedom of speech (1), Australia's (1)

VIEW ONLINE

'Dangerous and Orwellian': Tech giants and lawyers warn on Labor misinformation bill

The Australian by RHIANNON DOWN, SARAH ISON

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 8:39pm AEST

Labor's proposed crackdown on misinformation and disinformation on the internet is "inherently wrong" and a "dangerous piece of legislation" that could chill freedom of speech in Australia, social media giants and senior lawyers warn.

Keywords: freedom of speech (1), Australia (4), Australia" (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Liberal claims of 'equality' is a smokescreen

The Age

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 8:00pm AEST

Readers respond to a focus on equality during the Voice debate, the robo-debt fallout and Scott Morrison.

Keywords: discrimination (1), "discrimination" (1), employment (1), Australia (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Tech giants warn new 'fake news' rules could limit free speech

Brisbane Times by Matthew Knott

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 6:22pm AEST

The parent company of Facebook and Instagram says it has concerns new legislation designed to limit the spread of online misinformation could be abused.

Keywords: Australia (3), freedom of speech" (1)

VIEW ONLINE

SYNDICATION

Brisbane Times, The Age, The Sydney Morning Herald, WA Today

SYN 90.7 Melbourne

Represent Once a week, 5:00pm to 6:00pm

11 July 2023, 5:44pm AEST

Claire O'Neill's tweets and well, not really, Look, they said Turning Point, Australia is not going to dignify the Minister's tweets with a comment, Suffice to say, she is entitled to her opinion and freedom of speech, no matter how idiotic, That's really funny, There's more of words here, Really funny, I feel like I've never heard of Turning Point, Australia as a promoter or a tourer, There's certainly no Live nation statement, Really? It tells me why, Well, yes,

Keywords: Australia (2), freedom of speech (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

ABC Central Coast Gosford

Drive with Richard Glover 5 times a week, 3:30pm to 6:00pm

11 July 2023, 4:53pm AEST

...extraordinary to pretend that there's a normal bilateral relationship here when Australian citizens engaging in freedom of speech in Australia and political activism in Australia are being pursued for the rest of their lives and all around the world, In...

Keywords: freedom of speech (1), Australia (2)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

ABC Sydney \(Sydney\)

Funding boost for South Australian Aboriginal community initiatives

National Indigenous Times by Callan Morse, Giovanni Torre

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 1:30pm AWST

The South Australian government has announced a more than $1 million investment to support vulnerable members of South Australia's Abo...

Keywords: Australia's (1), Australia (1), discrimination (1), employment (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Wong Dashes Last Hopes of Her Government Saving Assange, as US Continues Pursuit

Sydney Criminal Lawyers

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 1:30pm AEST

The Australian foreign minister told the ABC that whilst Assange supporters may think her government has more power to see him released, it's done all it can.

Keywords: Australia (3), civil liberties (3)

VIEW ONLINE

Transcript | Press Conference, Canberra | 11 July 2023

James Paterson

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 12:31pm AEST

Tuesday 11 July 2023 Press Conference, Canberra Subjects: Australia-China relations, Major tech platforms to account for foreign interference through social media in final round of public hearings, Ukraine assistance, Indo-Pacific security, Robodebt JAMES PATERSON: Good morning. I'd like to...

Keywords: Australia (11), freedom of speech (1), Australia's (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Welfare Not Warfare: NUS Protester Xavier Dupé on Students Rejecting Militarisation Over Society

Sydney Criminal Lawyers

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 11:31am AEST

Members of the national students' union are organising a campaign against the Albanese government's prioritisation of war over social wellbeing.

Keywords: Australia (8), civil liberties (3)

VIEW ONLINE

Senate, Committee 109 Canberra

Senate 55 times a week, 11:00am to 11:30am

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 11:25am AEST

Speaking for myself, I'm equally concerned about the protection of the freedom of speech rights of Australians, and I would not want to see them inadvertently curtailed or restricted in a quest to tackle, disinformation or misinformation.

And I wouldn't want to see, particularly Silicon Valley headquartered tech firms, deciding what is the acceptable terms of public debate with the Australia. That that's a matter for Australians to determine.

Keywords: freedom of speech (1), Australia (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Coalition to resist Labor's 'Ministry of Truth'

James Paterson

Tuesday 11 July 2023, 10:31am AEST

Sarah Ison and Rhiannon Down The Australian Tuesday 11 July 2023
A group of senior Coalition frontbenchers has joined a campaign against Labor's proposed "Orwellian" laws on misinformation, warning the government could be given the powers to censor media...

Keywords: freedom of speech (1), Australia (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Back to Top

This scheduled report is owned and managed by s22(1) . If you would like to unsubscribe, please contact them directly.

Content/work(s) within this Media Report are licensed by Copyright Agency. You must not copy this work without permission. You may only copy or communicate this email and the work(s) within with an appropriate license. Copyright Stroom Pty Ltd, 2023

stroom.com.au 1300 731 370

From: noreply@stroom.com.au on behalf of Australian Human Rights Commission via Stroom
To: Julie O'Brien
Subject: Commission President Daily Media Report - Friday 14 July 2023
Date: Friday, 14 July 2023 8:04:45 AM

View this email online

Commission President Daily Media Report

Friday 14th July 2023

70 total items

 Download Media Items in PDF

Jump to: President + Chief Executive \(1\) | AHRC \(39\) | Human Rights Statutory \(17\) | Human Rights CPR \(13\)

President + Chief Executive

1 item

Human Rights Commission welcomes Anna Cody as new sex discrimination commissioner

Australasian Lawyer

Thursday 13 July 2023, 8:31pm AEST

Human Rights Commission welcomes Anna Cody as new sex discrimination commissioner

Keywords: Rosalind Croucher (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Back to Top

AHRC

39 items

ADF captain's choice to wear female army uniform overhauls gender diverse policy

ABC News by Nicole Curby

Friday 14 July 2023, 7:04am AEST

When Captain Jesse Noble realised they were gender diverse, it felt like being "hit in the face with a truck". A Christian marriage, their faith, and their career in the army were all at stake.

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Sky Sports Radio Sydney

Big Sports Breakfast 5 times a week, 5:30am to 9:00am
14 July 2023, 6:03am AEST

...issues in the country, Housing and the economy are the second and third highest areas of concern for voters, The Australian Human Rights Commission is calling on aged care providers to embrace training on ageism, Your research shows just a single two...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

Coast FM (Burnie), Crow FM Kingaroy (Kingaroy)

Sounds of the Mountains 96.3 Cootamundra

Breakfast with David Eisenhauer 5 times a week, 6:00am to 10:00am
14 July 2023, 6:01am AEST

...selected it as one of three major issues in the country, Housing and the economy are the second and third highest areas of concern for voters, The Australian Human Rights Commission is calling on aged care providers to embrace training on aged,

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Over half of Australian employers hire retirees amid talent shortage

Human Resources Director by Dexter Tilo
Friday 14 July 2023, 3:55am AEST

Are ageist mindsets a thing of the past?

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1), AHRC (2)

VIEW ONLINE

FiveAA Adelaide Adelaide

Australia Overnight 5 times a week, 12:01am to 5:00am
14 July 2023, 12:05am ACST

The Australian Human Rights Commission is calling on aged care providers to embrace training on ageism, New research shows just a single two and a half hour session made 90% of participants rethink the way they communicated with older people, The Body's...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Ageism training call for care workers

The Advertiser

Friday 14 July 2023, 12:00am ACST - Page 27

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

An age-old problem

Geelong Advertiser

Friday 14 July 2023, 12:25am AEST - Page 6

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Age-old problem solving

Cairns Post

Friday 14 July 2023, 12:19am AEST - Page 8

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

A study for the ages

Herald Sun

Friday 14 July 2023, 12:07am AEST - Page 3

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

SYNDICATION

Herald Sun, The Daily Telegraph

2GB Sydney

Overnight with Luke Grant 5 times a week, 12:01am to 3:59am

14 July 2023, 12:02am AEST

...is due to be sentenced later this month over a carjacking and a fiery crash on the Sydney Harbour Bridge, Christopher Walker has pleaded guilty to four charges, while four others have been withdrawn, The Australian Human Rights Commission is calling on,

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Sky News Extra Australia

Sky News Extra 21 times a week, 6:05pm to 11:59pm

Thursday 13 July 2023, 11:09pm AEST

And now even the Australian Human Rights Commission, normally an ally of Labor's, has warned that giving any government body the power to be the sole arbiter of truth has inherent dangers.

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

Sky News (Australia), Sky News Regional (Australia)

Jail no place for children

Australian Medical Association

Thursday 13 July 2023, 10:55pm AEST

The AMA has again called for a nationally consistent minimum age of criminal responsibility to be raised to 14 years of age.

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Sky News Radio Australia

Chris Kenny Tonight 4 times a week, 8:00pm to 9:00pm
13 July 2023, 8:44pm AEST

...builder will be looking at a bit on this program over a number of weeks, I'm gonna see the Australian the Australian Human Rights Commission has got involved in that this now Johannes talk about a mob silent for so long during the pandemic with all...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Sky News Australia

Chris Kenny Tonight 4 times a week, 8:00pm to 9:00pm
Thursday 13 July 2023, 8:43pm AEST

We're going to talk about this misinformation disinformation bill that we've been looking at. On this programme over a number of weeks. I see the Australian Human Rights Commission has got involved in this.

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

Sky News Regional (Australia)

FiveAA Adelaide Adelaide

News Bulletin 7 times a week, 8:00pm to 8:05pm
13 July 2023, 8:03pm ACST

...guilty of breaching work, health and safety laws by exposing Ahmad to a risk of serious harm or death, The Australian Human Rights Commission is calling on aged care providers to embrace training on ageism, Numerous search shows just a single two and a...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Tasmanian Senator Claire Chandler alleges Labor's 'Orwellian' misinformation bill will exempt government's own posts

Sky News by Patrick Hannaford

Thursday 13 July 2023, 8:20pm AEST

Labor's proposed misinformation bill will capture social media posts by Opposition and crossbench MPs, as well as members of the public, but not posts by members of the government.

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Australian Human Rights Commission 'weighs in' to Labor misinformation bill

Sky News

Thursday 13 July 2023, 6:21pm AEST

The Australian Human Rights Commission has weighed in to the debate about Labor's proposed misinformation laws, says Sky News host Sharri Markson. "The laws that will fine social media companies millions if they don't take down content deemed to be..."

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (2)

VIEW ONLINE

Australian Human Rights Commission 'weighs in' to Labor misinformation bill

Geelong Advertiser

Thursday 13 July 2023, 6:18pm AEST

The Australian Human Rights Commission has weighed in to the debate about Labor's proposed misinformation laws, says Sky News host Sharri Markson. "The laws that will fine social media companies millions if they don't take down content deemed to be..."

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (2)

VIEW ONLINE

<!--[endif]-->SYNDICATION

Cairns Post, Geelong Advertiser, Gold Coast Bulletin, Herald Sun, Mercury, NT News, The Advertiser, The Chronicle \(Toowoomba\), The Courier Mail, The Daily Telegraph, Townsville Bulletin

Sky News Radio Australia

Credlin 5 times a week, 6:00pm to 7:00pm
13 July 2023, 6:10pm AEST

...raised by the social media Giants lawyers in the collision about Labor's Misinformation laws are quite valid, and I'll give an Australian Human Rights Commission normally, an ally of Labor's has warned that giving any government body the power,

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

ABC Canberra Canberra

Drive with Anna Vidot 5 times a week, 3:30pm to 6:30pm
13 July 2023, 5:08pm AEST

Actually, it'd be enough to do the trick, Research from the Australian Human Rights Commission suggests, in fact, it probably can, and they're urging organisations that provide services to older people to adopt that lesson, and quickly, too, The...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Sky News Radio Australia

Sharri 4 times a week, 5:00pm to 6:00pm
13 July 2023, 5:01pm AEST

Big Business invest in housing in it and infrastructure tomorrow, and that's coming up but first tonight the Australian Human Rights Commission has weighed into the debate about labour new misinformation laws, the laws that will find social media...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Sky News Regional Australia

Sharri 5 times a week, 5:00pm to 6:00pm
Thursday 13 July 2023, 5:01pm AEST

First tonight, the Australian Human Rights Commission has weighed into the debate about Labor's new misinformation laws, the laws that will fine social media companies millions if they don't take down content deemed to be misinformation or even just...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

Sky News (Australia), Sky News Extra (Australia)

Salt 106.5 Sunshine Coast

Drive with Luke & Susie 5 times a week, 3:00pm to 7:00pm
13 July 2023, 4:33pm AEST

...for local MP Stuart Robert, Mr Robert resigned following a number of issues, including the unlawful Robodebt scheme, The Australian Human Rights Commission is calling on aged care providers to embrace training on ageism, New research shows just a single...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Ignorance is strength?

The Monthly

Thursday 13 July 2023, 4:11pm AEST

With a referendum coming, it's little wonder the Coalition has lost interest in limiting harmful misinformation online

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Changing perspectives: testing an ageism intervention

Australian Policy Online by Australian Human Rights Commission

Thursday 13 July 2023, 3:32pm AEST

This Australian Human Rights Commission's research aimed to contribute to a greater understanding of how negative perceptions of ageing and older adults may be shifted. The research shows that a brief, one-off ageism workshop can be a powerful tool in...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission's (1), Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW ONLINE

ABC Perth

Julia Zemiro's Home Delivery 4 times a week, 1:00pm to 1:29pm

Thursday 13 July 2023, 1:16pm AWST

Let's talk about your time as president of the let's talk about your time as president of the Australian Human Rights Commission. You were appointed in 2012, and so many things were written about you and said about you during that time, and...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

ABC (Adelaide), ABC (Brisbane), ABC (Canberra), ABC (Darwin), ABC

(Hobart), ABC (Melbourne)

ABC Canberra Canberra

Afternoons with Georgia Stynes 5 times a week, 12:30pm to 3:30pm
13 July 2023, 12:51pm AEST

...feel much better when I read a good book or at least read something that challenges me somewhat, Now, we'd like some good news stories, Mix it with the other stories as well, of course, but there's a report from the Australian Human Rights Commission,

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Report on shifting ageist attitudes a welcome sign for moving the needle on ageism broadly

COTA Australia

Thursday 13 July 2023, 12:01pm AEST

A report released today by the Australian Human Rights Commission which shows the effectiveness of education in shifting ageist attitudes provides real hope that moving the needle on Australia's ageist attitudes is possible. The report, Changing perspectives: testing an ageism...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW ONLINE

<!--[endif]-->SYNDICATION

COTA Australia. The National Tribune

ABC NewsRadio Australia

NewsRadio Mornings 5 times a week, 9:00am to 12:00pm
13 July 2023, 11:53am AEST

Down, it would have been dealt properly, The Wilson family have complained to the Australian Human Rights Commission that their community has received inadequate policing because they're indigenous and that police failed to respond to numerous triple...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

ABC [85 Syndications]

ABC Western Plains Dubbo

Mornings with Paul Turton 5 times a week, 10:00am to 11:00am
13 July 2023, 10:16am AEST

Could be at work, could be at home, maybe just down at the shops?

The Australian Human Rights Commission recently surveyed workers in aged and community care and they spoke to them before a training session that looked at the concept of ageism, They...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

ABC Central West NSW (Orange), ABC Coffs Coast (Coffs Harbour), ABC Mid North Coast (Port Macquarie), ABC New England North West (Tamworth), ABC Newcastle (Newcastle), ABC North Coast (Lismore), ABC Riverina (Wagga Wagga), ABC South East NSW (Bega)

Continued Legal Hotel Detention Confirms Australia a Human Rights Abuser in Law

Sydney Criminal Lawyers

Thursday 13 July 2023, 9:36am AEST

The Federal Court has ruled that the use of hotel detention in relation to refugees is lawful under domestic law, despite the great harms it causes individuals.

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission's (1), AHRC (1)

VIEW ONLINE

ABC Radio Australia Australia

AM with Sabra Lane 5 times a week, 9:00am to 9:30am

13 July 2023, 9:14am +10

...Aunt Anastasia Wilson is also angry, I don't think they interviewed witnesses properly, If this was in a town, it would have been dealt properly, Wilson family have complained to the Australian Human Rights Commission that their community has received,

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

ABC [53 Syndications]

ABC Melbourne Melbourne

Mornings 5 times a week, 8:30am to 11:00am

13 July 2023, 8:58am AEST

Well, it'll be on the website, Australian Human Rights Australian Human rights Commission's website and the whole reports there, But the Royal Commission did do some research when it was undertaking its its focus on aged care, And they found that there...

Keywords: Australian Human rights Commission's (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Ageism rife in society, survey finds

6PR

Thursday 13 July 2023, 6:39am AWST

The Australian Human Rights Commission has urged aged care and community workers to keep in mind how prevalent ageism can be when working with older people. An AHRS survey found 90 per cent of aged care workers had rethought the...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Radio 97 Tweed Heads Tweed Heads

Breakfast 5 times a week, 6:00am to 9:00am

13 July 2023, 8:32am AEST

...feared very little has been done or improved across the university sector since the highlighted failures in the 2017 Australian Human Rights Commission, Founder and director of end rape on campus, Australia Shauna Bremner says enough is enough, This is...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

2DU (Dubbo), 2SM (Sydney)

2BS Bathurst

Brekky with Pecky 5 times a week, 6:00am to 9:00am

13 July 2023, 8:32am AEST

...feared very little has been done or improved across the university sector since the highlighted failures in the 2017 Australian Human Rights Commission, Founder and director of End rape on campus Australia, sharna Bremna says enough is enough, This is...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

2HD (Newcastle)

2HD Newcastle

Richard and Shanna 5 times a week, 5:30am to 9:00am

13 July 2023, 8:32am AEST

...feared very little has been done or improved across the university sector since the highlighted failures in the 2017 Australian Human Rights Commission, Founder and director of End Rape on campus, Australia Shauna Bremna says enough is enough, This is...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

New research prompts call for aged care to embrace training on ageism

Australian Human Rights Commission

Thursday 13 July 2023, 8:29am AEST

Australia's Age Discrimination Commissioner has called on organisations providing services to older people to deliver ageism awareness training to their staff, with new research showing it can be highly effective in shifting attitudes. The Australian Human Rights Commission surveyed aged...

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW ONLINE

<!--[endif]-->SYNDICATION

Australian Human Rights Commission, Mirage News, The National Tribune

ABC Ballarat Ballarat

Breakfast with Steve Martin 5 times a week, 6:15am to 8:30am

13 July 2023, 8:14am AEST

...had a crossbow, Mr Jones's, Aunt Anastasia Wilson is also angry, I don't think they interviewed witnesses properly, If this was in town, it would have been dealt properly, The Wilson family have complained to the Australian Human Rights Commission,

Keywords: Australian Human Rights Commission (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Back to Top

Human Rights Statutory

17 items

ABC Central Victoria Bendigo

Breakfast with Fiona Parker 5 times a week, 6:30am to 8:00am

14 July 2023, 7:30am AEST

About the Strath village banning of kids? Wouldn't this be against the Discrimination Act? The centre needs visual centre management and possible security, not a blanket ban, Also, what about the kids that are employed at some of the businesses?

Keywords: Discrimination Act (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Tributes to Darren Bark

The Australian Jewish News Sydney

Friday 14 July 2023, 6:19am AEST - Pages 4 and 5

Keywords: discrimination (1), legislation (1), Australia (2), Australia's (1)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Why the Yes vote will fail (and what the government should do)

Australian Financial Review by Bain Attwood

Friday 14 July 2023, 5:00am AEST

The campaign to embed an Indigenous Voice to Parliament in the constitution is in trouble because of profound changes in society.

Keywords: legislation (3), Australia (7), discrimination (2), Australia's (4)

VIEW ONLINE

Attack on Hanson is an attack on free speech

The NT News by Rocco Loiacono

Friday 14 July 2023, 12:00am ACST - Page 39

Keywords: Racial Discrimination Act (1), Bill (1), Australia's (1), legislation (1)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

SYNDICATION

Cairns Post, Gold Coast Bulletin, The NT News, Townsville Bulletin

Why the Yes vote will fail and what should be done

Australian Financial Review

Friday 14 July 2023, 12:26am AEST - Pages 1, 6, and 7

Keywords: legislation (3), Australia (7), discrimination (2), Australia's (4)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Disadvantage won't be cured by unequal rights

The Australian by Henry Ergas

Friday 14 July 2023, 12:05am AEST - Page 11

Keywords: Australia (5), Bill of Rights (1), discrimination (2)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

An Indigenous voice to parliament will entrench unequal rights into our Constitution | The Australian

The Australian by Henry Ergas

Friday 14 July 2023, 12:03am AEST

Like many supporters of the Yes case, Judith Brett, writing on these pages earlier in the week, has tried to justify the differential status the voice would grant Indigenous Australians by claiming the Constitution's "special treatment" of Tasmania, in terms of...

Keywords: Australia (5), Bill of Rights (1), discrimination (2)

VIEW ONLINE

Walkley Awards come under fire after banning men from major journalism prize in a bid to 'redress the gender balance'

Sky News by Tyrone Clarke

Thursday 13 July 2023, 4:10pm AEST

Australia's most prestigious journalism awards night The Walkleys has banned men from entering a major category in a bid to artificially "redress the gender balance in recipients".

Keywords: Australia's (1), Australia (2), Sex Discrimination Act (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Katina Curtis: Politicians must change tack for lives of Indigenous people

Midwest Times

Thursday 13 July 2023, 12:32pm AWST

The debate around the Voice has highlighted that no matter whether the referendum is won or lost, governments and bureaucrats cannot keep doing the same thing in Indigenous affairs.

Keywords: discrimination (1), Australia (1), Bill (2)

VIEW ONLINE

<!--[endif]-->SYNDICATION

Albany Advertiser, Albany Advertiser, Bunbury Herald, Countryman, Countryman, Great Southern Herald, Great Southern Herald, Midwest Times, Midwest Times, Narrogin Observer, Narrogin Observer, North West Telegraph, Pilbara News, Pilbara News, South Western Times, South Western Times, The Kimberly Echo

LGBTQAI+ people are facing increasing persecution globally, but refugee status is still extremely hard to get

Monash University - Lens

Thursday 13 July 2023, 12:33pm AEST

Gay and gender-diverse people have historically faced enormous obstacles finding refuge abroad.

Keywords: bill (1), discrimination (2), Australia (6), Human Rights (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Aboriginal elder loses legal bid to access pension early

Super Review by Rhea Nath

Thursday 13 July 2023, 12:32pm AEST

Uncle Dennis' bid to access the age pension three years early, on the grounds that Indigenous Australians have shorter life expectancies, has been rejected by the Federal Court.

Keywords: Australia's (1), Human Rights (1), Racial Discrimination Act (1), legislation (1), Australia (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Religious freedom debate yet to strike the right balance: Brennan

Catholic Weekly by Adam Wesselinoff

Thursday 13 July 2023, 12:00pm AEST

Australia has struggled to strike the right balance between freedom of religion and the right to non-discrimination in the wake of the ...

Keywords: Australia (1), discrimination (4), discrimination legislation (1), Sex Discrimination Act (2), Discrimination Act (2), religious discrimination bill (1), Australia's (1)

VIEW ONLINE

ABC Western Plains Dubbo

Mornings with Paul Turton 5 times a week, 10:00am to 11:00am

13 July 2023, 10:15am AEST

Um, it's a bill like you, Edwin Collins here on ABC, NSW, Thanks, Tod, Who says in 1969 it was a conspiracy theory that caused the menson tragedy, Little has changed in where the origin of tragic events often reside, says Todd, That's his analysis with a contemporary field, Of course, it's a 10:15 here on ABC, NSW, Well, Australia's age discrimination commissioner wants an overhaul,

Keywords: bill (1), Australia's (1), discrimination (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

ABC Coffs Coast (Coffs Harbour), ABC Mid North Coast (Port Macquarie), ABC New England North West (Tamworth), ABC North Coast (Lismore), ABC Riverina (Wagga Wagga), ABC South East NSW (Bega)

Indigenous elder loses fight for early pension

Australian Financial Review by Michael Pelly

Thursday 13 July 2023, 9:48am AEST - Page 9

Keywords: Racial Discrimination Act (1), Australia (1)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

4BC Brisbane

The Ray Hadley Morning Show 5 times a week, 9:00am to 12:00pm

13 July 2023, 9:23am AEST

Jeffrey Kennedy yesterday found the current system did not breach the Racial Discrimination Act, The court said the Social Security system should not discriminate in favour of one race or another, So there you go, Now, there's a very interesting story...

Keywords: Racial Discrimination Act (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

SYNDICATION

2GB (Sydney)

Koori Radio Australia

Blackchat 5 times a week, 9:00am to 12:00pm

13 July 2023, 9:22am AEST

...launched a legal action in 2021, Today, a full bench of the federal court ruled the current system did not breach the racial discrimination act, and the judge said the Age pension was not designed to provide support for specific numbers of years or to...

Keywords: racial discrimination act (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

3CR Melbourne

Breakfast Show 4 times a week, 7:00am to 8:30am

13 July 2023, 8:19am AEST

Human rights legislation right across this country, That is robust, Yes, That can compel change, enforceable and enforceable because it's not there,

They've been able to get away with this stuff, see? Well, that's exactly right, People say, well, we've got Human Rights Act in all these different states and so forth, I think it's two or three states, Are they actually human rights laws or charters?

Keywords: Human rights legislation (1), Human Rights Act (1), human rights (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Human Rights CPR

13 items

ABC Radio National Australia

RN Breakfast with Patricia Karvelas 5 times a week, 6:00am to 9:00am
14 July 2023, 7:16am AEST

...The most pervasive and tolerated form of prejudice in Australia is not racism, sexism, homophobia or bias towards those with religious beliefs, It's ageism, According to the nation's age discrimination commissioner, Dr K Patterson, After seven years in...

Keywords: Australia (1), religious beliefs (1), discrimination (1)

VIEW IN PLATFORM | PLAY NOW

Man appears in court over MP death threat

Sunraysia Daily

Friday 14 July 2023, 6:06am AEST - Page 3

Keywords: Australia (1), freedom of speech (1)

VIEW PDF VIEW TEXT

Protecting children takes courage

Spectator Australia by Mark Lawson

Friday 14 July 2023, 5:08am AEST

The announcement of the Labor Government's proposed 'misinformation' Bill, while alarming, is not surprising. Anyone paying attention in recent years, especially the last three, will have noticed that...

Keywords: 'freedom of speech' (1), employment (3), Australia (1)

VIEW ONLINE

India's Voice warns against affirmative action

Spectator Australia by Mark Lawson

Friday 14 July 2023, 4:36am AEST

As Australia debates the proposal for an Indigenous Voice to Parliament, its policymakers would do well to look beyond their shores for lessons in implementing social change. The case of India...

Keywords: Australia (13), employment (1), discrimination' (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Australia news as it happened: PM offers 30 more Bushmasters to Ukraine at NATO; Voice to parliament debate continues

The Age by Caroline Schelle, Anthony Segaeert

Thursday 13 July 2023, 7:00pm AEST

Prime Minister Anthony Albanese offered Ukraine 30 more Bushmasters, former judge slams sealed robo-debt section and the Voice to parliament debate continues.

Keywords: Australia (63), Australia's (26), employment (8), "Australia's (1), freedom of speech (2)

VIEW ONLINE

<!--[endif]-->SYNDICATION

Brisbane Times, The Age, The Sydney Morning Herald, WA Today

NSW Should Regulate Adult Cannabis Use Immediately, Then Enact a Legalised Market

Sydney Criminal Lawyers

Thursday 13 July 2023, 4:33pm AEST

NSW parliament has two cannabis proposals before it. And it would seem that rather than act on one, both are warranted, especially the immediate revoking of penalties for personal use.

Keywords: Australia (2), civil liberties (3)

VIEW ONLINE

New findings show a direct causal relationship between unemployment and suicide

Medicine Today by Yun Ju Christine Song

Thursday 13 July 2023, 3:32pm AEST

Studies using traditional statistical methods have long indicated a link between unemployment and suicide. But until now it has been unclear if this relationship is causal. That is, even though the suicide rate is higher among the unemployed, can we...

Keywords: Australia's (1), Australia's (1), employment" (1), Australia (1), employment (4), discrimination (1)

VIEW ONLINE

<!--[endif]-->SYNDICATION

Business Daily Media, Medicine Today, Phys.org

Federal MP Anne Webster allegedly received death threat from homeless man in Darwin

The Guardian by Andrew Messenger

Thursday 13 July 2023, 1:55pm AEST

The Victorian Nationals MP was allegedly threatened in phone calls and emails with the accused, 39, due to face a Brisbane court on Friday

Keywords: Australia (2), freedom of speech (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Man, 39, charged for allegedly sending 'threatening and harassing' emails to federal MP

Sky News by Yashee Sharma

Thursday 13 July 2023, 12:45pm AEST

A man with no fixed address has been charged for allegedly sending threatening and harassing emails to a federal member of parliament.

Keywords: Australia (1), freedom of speech (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Nationals MP Dr Anne Webster targeted in alleged kill threat

NT News by Patrick Billings

Thursday 13 July 2023, 10:46am ACST

A Queensland man has been charged after allegedly making a threat to kill a federal MP.

Keywords: Australia (1), freedom of speech (1)

VIEW ONLINE

<!--[endif]-->SYNDICATION

Cairns Post, Geelong Advertiser, Gold Coast Bulletin, Herald Sun, Mercury, NT News, The Advertiser, The Chronicle \(Toowoomba\), The Courier Mail, The Daily Telegraph, Townsville Bulletin

Councils pave the way for dementia inclusivity

Council by Tess Macallan

Thursday 13 July 2023, 10:35am AEST

Local governments have a responsibility to ensure public facilities and communities are safe for people living with dementia. Here Council Magazine unpacks why these initiatives are so important, highlighting the efforts of two Australian Councils in creating dementia-friendly communities.

Keywords: Australia's (2), discrimination (2), Australia (5), employment (1)

VIEW ONLINE

Man arrested after allegedly sending death threats to MP

The Geraldton Guardian by Nathan Schmidt

Thursday 13 July 2023, 7:56am AWST

A man with no fixed address allegedly sent death threats to a member of federal parliament and another person.

Keywords: Australia (1), freedom of speech (1)

VIEW ONLINE

<!--[endif]-->SYNDICATION

Seven West Media [17 Syndications]

Man charged for threats to Federal MP

Australian Federal Police

Thursday 13 July 2023, 9:32am AEST

A man of no fixed address has been charged with allegedly sending threatening and harassing emails to a Federal Member of Parliament.

Keywords: freedom of speech (1), Australia (1)

VIEW ONLINE

<!--[endif]-->SYNDICATION

Australian Federal Police, Mirage News, The National Tribune

Back to Top

This scheduled report is owned and managed by s22(1) . If you would like to unsubscribe, please contact them directly.

Content/work(s) within this Media Report are licensed by Copyright Agency. You must not copy this work without permission. You may only copy or communicate this email and the work(s) within with an appropriate license. Copyright Stroom Pty Ltd, 2023

stroom.com.au 1300 731 370

From: Australian Human Rights Commission
To: Julie O'Brien
Subject: Latest Commission news: August 2023
Date: Thursday, 10 August 2023 6:50:04 AM

CAUTION: This email originated from outside of the organisation. Verify the sender before you click links or open attachments. Email purporting to be from staff may be an impersonation attempt.

View this email in your browser

Dear friends,

The findings of the Royal Commission into Robodebt, handed down last month, were a stark reminder of the harm that can be caused when government policy doesn't respect people's human rights and dignity.

How can we prevent Robodebt from happening again?

The first step lies in establishing a federal Human Rights Act – legislation that would compel parliamentarians and public officials to consider the human rights impacts of their actions, and favour options that protect people's rights.

This month we made our second submission to the Parliamentary Joint Committee on Human Rights inquiry into Australia's human rights framework. We looked at how human rights Acts in other jurisdictions – including Victoria, Queensland and ACT – have made a difference, and how federal legislation could better protect our rights on a national level.

Wishing you a happy month ahead.

Emeritus Professor Rosalind Croucher AM FAAL FRSA FACLM(Hon)
President

New resources to help workplaces meet Respect@Work obligations

A group of five people sitting around a desk in an office, holding a meeting.

On Wednesday, the Commission released resources to guide and support Australian workplaces to comply with the positive duty under the Respect at Work Act.

The first federal legislation of its kind in Australia, the positive duty will require employers to re-examine their frameworks for the prevention of sexual harassment, sex discrimination, sex-based harassment and victimisation and take proactive action to address these forms of unlawful conduct in the workplace.

Read the resources

New study shows ageism training can shift attitudes

Three older women wearing pink swimming caps and goggles, swimming in a pool.

Our new report has found that even a brief, one-off training session on ageism can be a powerful tool in creating positive changes in attitudes and behaviours towards older people. After completing an ageism awareness session, 90% of aged care and community workers said they rethought the way they communicate with older people.

Former Age Discrimination Commissioner the Hon Dr Kay Patterson AO says the study provides evidence that governments and industry could, and should, take action to tackle ageist attitudes.

Read the report

New Sex Discrimination Commissioner to start in September

A professional headshot of Dr Anna Cody, a woman with dark brown hair.

Commissioner and staff welcome the appointment of Professor Anna Cody to the role of Sex Discrimination Commissioner. Dr Cody is currently serving as Dean of the School of Law at Western Sydney University, and was previously an Associate Professor and Director of the Kingsford Legal Centre (KLC) at the University of New South Wales.

The incoming Commissioner will advance the work of gender equality, defend LGBTQIA+ rights, and play a pivotal role in implementing the significant Respect @ Work reforms to prevent workplace sexual harassment.

Read more

More from the Commission

New guidelines for Commission appointments

The Attorney-General has published new guidelines to ensure Commission appointments are merit-based and transparent, in support of recent changes to our legislation. Public feedback is now invited on the guidelines, especially from civil society. The consultation closes on 22 August 2023.

Wiyi Yani U Thangani website launches

We're thrilled to announce the launch of a dedicated Wiyi Yani U Thangani website.

Visit it to learn about National Summit outcomes and stay up to date with progress on the National Framework for Action and Institute for First Nations gender justice and equality.

A woman wearing a blue headscarf

Nominate by 4 September

Nominate now for this year's Australian Human Rights Awards - celebrating 75 years of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. We hope to see nominations from across the country. The Awards will be hosted in Sydney and live-streamed on Friday 8 December. Our new Awards emblem has been designed by First Nations artist Kambarni and reinterprets the official UN human rights icon.

New anti-racism framework resources

We're building a National Anti-Racism Framework – a central reference point for anti-racism action across sectors. So far we've released a Scoping Report and a community guide, with key themes and early recommendations. Now, we're pleased to launch an easy read guide and translated versions of the community guide.

Text reads 'A framework to end racism'

Protecting people with disability from cruel treatment in detention

Nearly 100 lived experience experts, advocates, academics and policymakers met to plan the way to end mistreatment at the National Forum on Cruel, Degrading and Inhumane Treatment of People with Disability and Mental Health Disorders in Australia's Places of Detention. The Commission partnered with UNSW to support this important initiative.

Celebration of pilot's success

The IncludeAbility team and Ambassadors attended a celebration last month of the employment pilot with Woolworths and Good Sammy, which provides young people with intellectual disability an opportunity to work in customised roles at Woolworths at Award wages.

Job vacancies

Publishing manager: In this role, you could oversee all the Commission's creative services to support our communication and public engagement. The role manages the Commission's brand and visual identity, and contributes to informing and influencing a broader community of stakeholders about human rights. Apply by 10 August.

Watch, read, listen

Commission President Emeritus Professor Ros Croucher AM spoke about the need for a new national human rights framework at The Annual Castan Centre for Human Rights Law Conference.

The Federal Court upheld the legality of hotels being used as Alternative Places of Detention (APODs). But as Human Rights Commissioner Lorraine Finlay argued in an opinion piece for The Mandarin, that doesn't mean people should be held in hotel detention.

Australia's National Children's Commissioner Anne Hollonds is currently investigating opportunities for reform of youth justice and related systems across Australia, based on evidence and the protection of human rights. ABC's Background Briefing recently published a series that gives voice to the young people navigating Queensland's youth justice system.

In her final week in the role as Age Discrimination Commissioner, the Hon Dr Kay Patterson AO penned an article for Guardian Australia about how we can fight ageism.

Get involved

For the latest media releases, speeches and opinion pieces visit our media centre on the Commission's website at: www.humanrights.gov.au/news. For all other enquiries you can contact the Commission here.

Australian Human Rights Commission

GPO Box 5218, Sydney NSW 2001

T +61 2 9284 9600 F +61 2 9284 9794

W www.humanrights.gov.au

Human rights: everyone, everywhere, everyday

Unsubscribe

From: Rosalind Croucher
To: s 22(1)
Subject: FW: Release of the Government Response to the Robodebt Royal Commission Report – arrangements for directly impacted individuals and broader support for staff [SEC=OFFICIAL:Sensitive]
Date: Thursday, 1 February 2024 9:40:40 AM
Attachments: SES Talking points - Robodebt Royal Commission Government Response.docx

From: de Brouwer, Gordon <Gordon.deBrouwer@apsc.gov.au>
Sent: Thursday, November 9, 2023 4:03 PM
Cc: Davis, Glyn <Glyn.Davis@pmc.gov.au>
Subject: Release of the Government Response to the Robodebt Royal Commission Report – arrangements for directly impacted individuals and broader support for staff [SEC=OFFICIAL:Sensitive]

CAUTION: This email originated from outside of the organisation. Verify the sender before you click links or open attachments. Email purporting to be from staff may be an impersonation attempt.

OFFICIAL: Sensitive

Colleagues

The Government is finalising its response to the Robodebt Royal Commission Report and it will possibly be released next week.

The response addresses the 56 recommendations and the closing observations made by the Commissioner, Ms Catherine Holmes AC SC. It reiterates the Government's commitment to restoring public trust and embedding reforms that put people at the centre and strengthen integrity.

The response is forward looking and heralds work that is being done to reform social security policy, government service delivery and the APS.

The response will bring renewed attention to the failings of public administration that enabled the Robodebt scheme and the damage caused to so many Australians.

Support for affected staff

This may cause distress for current and former staff members within your agency who were directly affected by the scheme. This includes staff who bravely appeared before the Royal Commission to tell their stories, gave evidence or made written submissions.

The wellbeing of staff is a priority.

Please put arrangements in place to support staff in your agency who may be directly affected. This includes, as appropriate, notifying them that the Government is finalising its response to the report, that the response may be released next week, and that wellbeing supports are available to them.

Support for staff undergoing investigations

Prior to the release, APSC wellbeing officers will contact all individuals, including former employees, who were referred to the centralised code of conduct mechanism by the Royal Commission, to ensure they are aware the response will be released, and are well supported. It is recommended that if you have current employees who have been referred to the Code of Conduct mechanism, your wellbeing officers make contact following the release of the Government response.

Support for staff more broadly

On the day of release, we will write to all APS staff to make them aware of the response, what it means for the APS and remind them where to go if they need support.

It's timely to remember that many other staff will find the release of the response challenging and upsetting. Please ensure suitable wellbeing services are available and staff know where to turn for support in your agency.

A set of talking points is attached to support SES and team leaders to initiative discussions with staff. Please share these with your leadership teams following the release of the report.

If you need further information or support in your agency, please get in touch.

Regards

Professor Glyn Davis AC

Secretary

Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet

Dr Gordon de Brouwer

Commissioner

Australian Public Service Commission

IMPORTANT: This message, and any attachments to it, contains information that is confidential and may also be the subject of legal professional or other privilege. If you are not the intended recipient of this message, you must not review, copy, disseminate or disclose its contents to any other party or take action in reliance of any material contained within it. If you have received this message in error, please notify the sender immediately by return email informing them of the mistake and delete all copies of the message from your computer system.

SES TALKING POINTS

GOVERNMENT RESPONSE TO THE ROYAL COMMISSION INTO THE ROBODEBT SCHEME

Background

- The Royal Commission into the Robodebt Scheme was established on 18 August 2022. Ms Catherine Holmes AC SC was appointed as the Commissioner.
- Over the course of its inquiry, the Royal Commission published over 8,000 exhibits, and heard from over 100 witnesses across nine weeks of public hearings. It brought to light the harm caused to affected members of the Australian community.
- The Royal Commission delivered a report with its findings to the Governor-General on 7 July 2023.
- The final report is published on the Royal Commission's website.
- In response to the Royal Commission's recommendations, the Government formed a taskforce with the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet, Attorney General's Department and the Australian Public Service Commission.
- The Government Response has now been released.
- The talking points below are to support SES officers and other leaders in talking to staff about the Robodebt Royal Commission and the Government response.

Talking points

Release of the Government's Robodebt Royal Commission Response

- The Australian Government has carefully considered the Royal Commission into the Robodebt Scheme report and has released its response, available at www.pmc.gov.au.
- The Government accepts or accepts in-principle, all 56 recommendations made by the Royal Commission.
- The Royal Commission heard from over 100 witnesses across nine weeks of public hearings. It brought to light the harm caused to affected members of the Australian community.
- It exposed failures in the APS and it was a hard lesson for us, one we aren't shying away from.
- We know there were failures of leadership and judgement and that people felt they couldn't speak up, or weren't listened to.
- It's important to remember, at the same time many good people were trying to do the right thing.
- You matter, your work matters, and your integrity matters.
- The response will likely bring renewed attention to the Robodebt scheme and the harm it caused to many Australians.
- Many people in the community and APS staff were affected by the Robodebt Scheme and many bravely gave evidence to the Royal Commission.

EMBARGOED UNTIL ROBODEBT RESPONSE IS RELEASED

The wellbeing of our staff

- You may be experiencing a range of emotions in response to the renewed attention on Robodebt.
- The wellbeing of our people is our top priority.
- APS staff can be proud of the work they do to support the community and serve the Government.
- The events surrounding the Robodebt Scheme affected many APS staff.
- Some may have had close involvement with the Royal Commission.
- Some may have been personally affected by the Robodebt Scheme.
- Some may feel a direct impact as a public servant because we take pride in delivering for the community and upholding the APS Values each day.
- Speak to your manager, a friend or family member if you are feeling upset or distressed.
- Ask for help if you need it. Support is available for you through agency wellbeing support services like the Employee Assistance Program.
- Other support is also available for staff who are experiencing distress.
 - Beyond Blue Support Service – Provides immediate, short-term counselling, advice and referral services. Phone 1300 224 636, webchat, or search their forum for free.
 - Lifeline Crisis Support – This is a confidential service providing you with support for when you feel overwhelmed, for when you have difficulty coping, or are thinking about suicide. Phone 13 11 14 or chat to a crisis supporter online.
 - 13YARN – Provides crisis support for First Nations people. Phone 13 92 76 or view their services online at www.13yarn.org.au.
- I encourage you to read the Response and discuss it in your teams.
- It's important we are all part of leading the change we want to see and building a stronger APS.

Where to next

- Confidential processes are underway to ensure that public servants are appropriately held to account if they have not met their obligations as professional public servants.
- Work is also underway to implement the report's recommendations.
- Achieving real change will mean a commitment from all of us about how we go about our work.
- There will be a focus on integrity and accountability, and how we can bring empathy and understanding to the way we engage with people and communities.
- There will also be changes to process and a bigger focus on proper decision-making and record keeping, and enhanced statutory powers for oversight bodies.
- This complements other reform work underway, like the APS Reform program and other reforms that focus on building a strong public service that puts people at the centre.
- Across the APS, there is a strong push to elevate the importance of integrity in everything the APS does – both at the systemic and individual levels.
- There will be many opportunities ahead to boost capability and integrity through the recommendations and the APS Reform program.
- Through the response the Government has committed to ensuring that the APS works in partnership with the community to improve the lives of Australians and deliver better services.

EMBARGOED UNTIL ROBODEBT RESPONSE IS RELEASED

From: Rosalind Croucher
To: s 22(1)
Subject: FW: Release of the Government Response to the Robodebt Royal Commission Report – arrangements for directly impacted individuals and broader support for staff [SEC=OFFICIAL]
Date: Thursday, 1 February 2024 9:36:19 AM
Attachments: SES Talking points - Robodebt Royal Commission Government Response.docx
image001.png

From: Rosalind Croucher
Sent: Thursday, November 9, 2023 5:13 PM
To: Darren Dick <darren.dick@humanrights.gov.au>; Diana Baker <diana.baker@humanrights.gov.au>; Leanne Smith <leanne.smith@humanrights.gov.au>; Julie O'Brien <julie.obrien@humanrights.gov.au>; Tracey Young <tracey.young@humanrights.gov.au>
Subject: FW: Release of the Government Response to the Robodebt Royal Commission Report – arrangements for directly impacted individuals and broader support for staff [SEC=UNCLASSIFIED]

FYI

Emeritus Professor Rosalind Croucher AM FAAL FRSA FACLM(Hon) President

Australian Human Rights Commission

GPO Box 5218, Sydney NSW 2001

T +61 2 9284 9881 | F +61 2 9284 9611

E rosalind.croucher@humanrights.gov.au | W humanrights.gov.au

Human rights: everyone, everywhere, everyday

Join us for the 2023 Australian Human Rights Awards. Tickets now on sale.

We acknowledge the traditional custodians of this land, the Gadigal peoples of the Eora Nation, and pay our respects to their Elders, past, present and future.

From: de Brouwer, Gordon <Gordon.deBrouwer@apsc.gov.au>
Sent: Thursday, November 9, 2023 4:03 PM
Cc: Davis, Glyn <Glyn.Davis@pmc.gov.au>
Subject: Release of the Government Response to the Robodebt Royal Commission Report – arrangements for directly impacted individuals and broader support for staff [SEC=OFFICIAL:Sensitive]

CAUTION: This email originated from outside of the organisation. Verify the sender before you click links or open attachments. Email purporting to be from staff may be an impersonation attempt.

OFFICIAL: Sensitive

Colleagues

The Government is finalising its response to the Robodebt Royal Commission Report and it will possibly be released next week.

The response addresses the 56 recommendations and the closing observations made by the Commissioner, Ms Catherine Holmes AC SC. It reiterates the Government's commitment to restoring public trust and embedding reforms that put people at the centre and strengthen integrity.

The response is forward looking and heralds work that is being done to reform social security policy, government service delivery and the APS.

The response will bring renewed attention to the failings of public administration that enabled the Robodebt scheme and the damage caused to so many Australians.

Support for affected staff

This may cause distress for current and former staff members within your agency who were directly affected by the scheme. This includes staff who bravely appeared before the Royal Commission to tell their stories, gave evidence or made written submissions.

The wellbeing of staff is a priority.

Please put arrangements in place to support staff in your agency who may be directly affected. This includes, as appropriate, notifying them that the Government is finalising its response to the report, that the response may be released next week, and that wellbeing supports are available to them.

Support for staff undergoing investigations

Prior to the release, APSC wellbeing officers will contact all individuals, including former employees, who were referred to the centralised code of conduct mechanism by the Royal Commission, to ensure they are aware the response will be released, and are well supported. It is recommended that if you have current employees who have been referred to the Code of Conduct mechanism, your wellbeing officers make contact following the release of the Government response.

Support for staff more broadly

On the day of release, we will write to all APS staff to make them aware of the response, what it means for the APS and remind them where to go if they need support.

It's timely to remember that many other staff will find the release of the response challenging and upsetting. Please ensure suitable wellbeing services are available and staff know where to turn for support in your agency.

A set of talking points is attached to support SES and team leaders to initiative discussions with staff. Please share these with your leadership teams following the release of the report.

If you need further information or support in your agency, please get in touch.

Regards

Professor Glyn Davis AC
Secretary
Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet

Dr Gordon de Brouwer
Commissioner
Australian Public Service Commission

IMPORTANT: This message, and any attachments to it, contains information that is confidential and may also be the subject of legal professional or other privilege. If you are not the intended recipient of this message, you must not review, copy, disseminate or disclose its contents to any other party or take action in reliance of any material contained within it. If you have received this message in error, please notify the sender immediately by return email informing them of the mistake and delete all copies of the message from your computer system.

From: President AHRC
To: s 22(1)
Subject: FW: Inviting submissions to inquiry into Administrative Review Tribunal bills [SEC=OFFICIAL]
Date: Thursday, 1 February 2024 9:19:32 AM

From: President AHRC
Sent: Tuesday, December 19, 2023 1:31 PM
To: Darren Dick <darren.dick@humanrights.gov.au>; Diana Baker <diana.baker@humanrights.gov.au>
Subject: FW: Inviting submissions to inquiry into Administrative Review Tribunal bills [SEC=OFFICIAL]

From: s 22(1) <[REDACTED]@aph.gov.au> On Behalf Of Committee, SPLA (REPS)
Sent: Monday, December 18, 2023 4:12 PM
Cc: Committee, SPLA (REPS) <spla.reps@aph.gov.au>
Subject: [SEC=OFFICIAL] Inviting submissions to inquiry into Administrative Review Tribunal bills

You don't often get email from spla.reps@aph.gov.au. Learn why this is important

CAUTION: This email originated from outside of the organisation. Verify the sender before you click links or open attachments. Email purporting to be from staff may be an impersonation attempt.

OFFICIAL

Good afternoon,

The House of Representatives Standing Committee on Social Policy and Legal Affairs has commenced an inquiry into the Administrative Review Tribunal Bill 2023 (ART Bill) and the Administrative Review Tribunal (Consequential and Transitional Provisions No.1) Bill 2023 (Consequential and Transitional Bill).

The Committee is seeking written submissions by 18 January 2024 to assist in its scrutiny of the ART Bill and Consequential and Transitional Bill to ensure the bills achieve the Government's policy objectives and do not have unintended consequences. The Committee appreciates that it may be difficult to meet this timeframe. If you need more time to prepare a submission, please contact the secretariat via return email. Extensions to 2 February 2023 will be considered. The Attorney General has asked the Committee to report in February and it may not be possible to include evidence in the report that is received late.

The ART Bill would establish the Administrative Review Tribunal (Tribunal) and set out its key features, processes and procedures. The Consequential and Transitional Bill repeals the Administrative Appeals Tribunal Act 1975, makes consequential amendments to a number of Commonwealth Acts and provides for the transition of the Administrative Appeals Tribunal's (AAT) operations, caseload and staff to the Tribunal. The Bills are intended to, among other things:

- provide for a mechanism of review that is fair and just; timely, informal and inexpensive; accessible and responsive; improve the transparency and quality of government decision-making and improve public trust and confidence in the Tribunal
- re-establish the Administrative Review Council
- retain the jurisdiction of the AAT within the Tribunal and essential modifications to the operation of the merits review framework
- promote consistency and simplicity by repealing special arrangements that overlap, duplicate or unnecessarily displace core provisions of the ART Bill.

The Bills would implement all three recommendations of the Senate Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee's inquiry into the performance and integrity of Australia's administrative review system, four recommendations of the Royal Commission into the Robodebt Scheme and two recommendations of the Rapid Review into the Exploitation of Australia's Visa System.

Further information about making a submission to a parliamentary committee is available here.

If you have any questions about the inquiry or the process of making a submission, please contact the secretariat at spla.reps@aph.gov.au.

Kind regards,

s 22(1)

s 22(1)

Inquiry secretary

Standing Committee on Social Policy and Legal Affairs

Department of the House of Representatives

PO Box 6021 | R1.121 Parliament House | Canberra ACT 2600

Ph. s 22(1) | www.aph.gov.au

Facebook: @AusHouseofRepresentatives | Twitter: @AboutTheHouse

We recognise and pay our respects to the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people of Australia.

OFFICIAL