

In the 2023-24 financial year, the Australian Human Rights Commission's total training revenue for providing fee for service training to third parties was $0.658m. This information was extracted from the Commission's financial system.