

Please consider the two journal articles attached in PDF formats to my email as key components of my submission. I am including Word copies of the final drafts (pre-publication) as part of this Word document.

The first article's focus is entirely upon exposure to violence and the Family Law Act.

Patricia Easteal and Dimian Grey (2013) 'Risk of Harm to Children from Exposure to Family Violence: Looking at How it is Understood and Considered by the Judiciary,' Australian Journal of Family Law 27: 59-77.

The second article examines domestic violence in Australia and the legal responses. On pages 7-9 I look specifically at witnessing.

Easteal, Patricia (2003) 'Violence Against Women in the Home: Kaleidoscopes on a Collision Course?' 3(2) QUT Law & Justice Journal, 250-273 and at <http://www.law.qut.edu.au/about/ljj/editions/v3n2/index.jsp>

I have also written about witnessing in my 2001 book Less Than Equal. Easteal, Patricia 2001 Less than Equal: Women and the Australian Legal System, Butterworths, Sydney. xiii + 254 ISBN 0 409 31666 0.

I do so in chapter 5, which looks at issues for women in prison. The three rules of violent families are described and then I show how those same rules ironically operate in women's prisons.
