- Fosters public discussion, and undertakes and coordinates research and educational programs to promote human rights and eliminate discrimination in relation to all Acts.
- Investigates complaints of alleged unlawful discrimination pursuant to the Racial Discrimination Act, the Sex Discrimination Act, Disability Discrimination Act and the Age Discrimination Act, and attempts to resolve these matters through conciliation where appropriate. The President may terminate a complaint of alleged unlawful race, sex, age or disability discrimination if, for example there is no reasonable prospect of settling the complaint by conciliation or the complaint is lacking in substance. If a complainant, whose complaint has been terminated, wants the complaint heard and determined by the Courts they must lodge an application to the Federal Court of Australia or the Federal Magistrates Court within 28 days of a Notice of Termination issued by the President.
- Investigates acts or practices that may be contrary to a human right or that may be discriminatory pursuant to the Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission Act. If the complaint is unable to be resolved through conciliation and is not discontinued for other reasons the President may report on the case and make particular recommendations. The Report is tabled in Federal Parliament.
- May advise on legislation relating to human rights and monitor its implementation; may review existing and proposed legislation for any inconsistency with human rights or for any discriminatory provision which impairs equality of opportunity or treatment in employment or occupation; may examine any new international instruments relevant to human rights and advise the federal government on their consistency with other international treaties or existing Australian law; and may propose laws or suggest actions the government may take on matters relating to human rights and discrimination.

In order to carry out these functions the Commission is empowered under all Acts (unless otherwise specified) to:

1. Refer individual complaints to the President for investigation and conciliation.

2. Report to the government on any matters arising in the course of its functions.
3. Establish advisory committees.
4. Formulate guidelines to assist in the compliance by organisations and individuals of the requirements of human rights and anti-discrimination legislation and conventions.
5. Intervene in court proceedings involving human rights matters with the permission of the Court.
6. Act as amicus curiae (friend of the court) in alleged unlawful discrimination cases that are before the Courts
7. Grant exemptions under certain conditions (Age, Sex and Disability Discrimination Acts).
8. Conduct inquiries into issues of major importance, either on its own initiative, or at the request of the Attorney-General.
9. Examine enactments.
